分册说明 这本分册是什么

这是《从零到母语：英语听说读写系统教程》的配套阅读分册。主书 970 页把语音、词汇、语法、听说读写逐课教完，但正文课文只有 19 篇——教得透，读得少。本分册补上这一块：52 篇原创分级阅读，与主书 68 课逐级对应，从 A1 的 80 词小文一路读到 C2 的 600 词文学选段，总阅读量约 18,000 词。

设计洞察 · 本分册四条规矩

1. 全部文本为原创（致敬经典风格但不抄任何出版物），情节人物均为虚构。2. 每篇六件套：导读（标注配合主书课号）→ 正文 → 生词表 → 参考译文 → 理解题+答案 → 语言点 → 读后任务（含参考回答）。3. 语法严格限于对应级别主书所学，读不懂不是你的问题，是顺序问题——回主书补课，不要硬读。4. 读后任务必须动笔，参考回答是拿来对照的，不是拿来抄的。

图 1 配套阅读分册路线图：52 篇 · 6 个级别带 · 与主书逐级对应

使用说明 怎么用这本分册

与主书同步使用：学完主书某一级别，就读本分册对应级别带，每天 1 篇，做完读后任务再读下一篇。顺序建议从第 1 篇按序读到第 52 篇——篇与篇之间有词汇复现设计，跳读会损失衔接。

设计洞察 · 三个使用要点

1. 第一遍裸读：不查词读完，标出生词；第二遍对照生词表与译文精读；第三遍只看理解题回文定位。2. 理解题答案带"定位依据"，错题要回到原文找到那句话。3. 读后任务的参考回答是同一任务的及格线样板，比较结构不比较词汇量。

A1 级别带 · 配合主书第 7-15 课

本带 12 篇短文全部原创，写的就是你身边的世界：房间、家人、学校、市场、公园与朋友，语法只用主书第 7-15 课教过的句型。读完这一带，你能用简单句描述位置、作息、人物和喜好，也能读懂同难度的对话与书信；学到哪一课，就读对应篇目检验自己。

> 设计洞察 · 本级阅读锚点
> 12 篇 · 每篇 80-100 词 · 语法限于主书第 7-15 课所学（be 动词/一般现在时/there be/疑问句/方位介词）；每篇生词 8-12 个（标注的生词是主书 A1 词表的巩固与少量扩展）。

第1篇 我的房间（My Room）

本篇用"be + 方位介词"句型描写一间小房间，从床、书桌到衣柜，把常用位置词一次看全，读完就能照着介绍你自己的房间。

配合主书第 12 课（there be 与方位介词）

This is my room. It is small but nice. My bed is next to the wall. A blue lamp is on the table beside it. Under the bed, there is a big box with my old toys.
The desk is near the window. My books are on the desk. My schoolbag is under the chair. Behind the door, there is a brown wardrobe. My clothes are in it.
I love my room very much. I tidy it every Sunday. Welcome to my home!

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
room	/ruːm/	n.	房间
wall	/wɔːl/	n.	墙
lamp	/læmp/	n.	台灯
toy	/tɔɪ/	n.	玩具
desk	/desk/	n.	书桌

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
window	/'wɪndəʊ/	n.	窗户
schoolbag	/'sku:lbæg/	n.	书包
wardrobe	/'wɔ:drəʊb/	n.	衣柜 clothes	/kləʊðz/	n.	衣服
tidy	/'taɪdi/	v.	收拾，整理
welcome	/'welkəm/	v.	欢迎

参考译文

这是我的房间。它不大，却很舒适。我的床靠墙放，床边的小桌上放着一盏蓝色的台灯。床底下有一个大箱子，装着我的旧玩具。

书桌靠近窗户，书都在桌上。我的书包在椅子下面。门后面是一个棕色的衣柜，衣服都收在里面。

我非常喜欢我的房间。每个周日我都把它收拾整齐。欢迎来我家做客！

理解题

1. "我"的床在什么地方？

2. 床底下有什么？

3. 从哪些句子能看出作者很喜欢自己的房间？请推断作者对房间的感情。

4. "wardrobe" 在文中的意思是什么？从哪句能看出来？

参考答案

1. 靠着墙。依据：第 1 段 "My bed is next to the wall."

2. 一个装旧玩具的大箱子。依据：第 1 段 "Under the bed, there is a big box with my old toys."

3. 作者非常喜欢这个房间。依据：第 3 段 "I love my room very much."，加上全文把房间写得整洁有序。

4. 衣柜。依据：第 2 段 "Behind the door, there is a brown wardrobe. My clothes are in it."（衣服收在里面）

语言点

1. My bed is next to the wall.（我的床靠着墙。）—— "be + 方位介词" 表示"某物在某处"，是本篇的核心句型。

2. Under the bed, there is a big box with my old toys.（床底下有一个装旧玩具的大箱子。）—— there is 引入新事物，"with + 名词" 说明箱子里的东西。

3. I tidy it every Sunday.（我每个周日把它收拾整齐。）—— tidy 作动词表示"收拾整齐"，和方位词一起构成描述房间的常用句。

读后任务

用本篇的三个方位介词（next to, under, behind）各写一句话，介绍你的房间。

参考回答：My bed is next to the window. My shoes are under the bed. My schoolbag is behind the door.

第2篇 一家人的早晨（Our Morning）

本篇按时间顺序写一家人从起床到出门的半小时，通篇是一般现在时的习惯性动作，是"讲日常作息"的样板短文。

配合主书第 10 课（一般现在时）

We get up at six thirty every day. My father makes breakfast for us. He is a very good cook. My mother calls my little sister. She is slow in the morning.
At seven o'clock, we have breakfast together. We eat eggs, bread and fruit. I drink a glass of milk. My sister likes orange juice. We talk about our day at the table.
At seven twenty, we leave home. My father walks with us to the bus stop. He says goodbye at the corner. Our morning is busy but happy.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
get up	/get ʌp/	v.	起床
breakfast	/'brekfəst/	n.	早餐
cook	/kʊk/	n.	厨师
together	/tə'geðə/	adv.	一起
drink	/drɪŋk/	v.	喝
juice	/dʒu:s/	n.	果汁
leave	/li:v/	v.	离开

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
corner	/ˈkɔːnə/	n.	拐角
slow	/sləʊ/	adj.	慢的
busy	/ˈbɪzi/	adj.	忙碌的

参考译文

我们每天六点半起床。爸爸为我们做早餐，他是很棒的厨师。妈妈去喊我的小妹妹，她早上总是慢吞吞的。

七点整，我们一起吃早餐。我们吃鸡蛋、面包和水果。我喝一杯牛奶，妹妹喜欢橙汁。我们在餐桌边聊聊各自的一天。

七点二十，我们出门。爸爸和我们一起走到公交车站，在拐角处跟我们道别。我们家的早晨忙碌却快乐。

理解题

1. 一家人每天几点起床？

2. 吃早饭时"我"喝什么？

3. 从三个时间点看，这个早晨的节奏怎样？结尾一句话说明了什么？

4. "leave home" 中 leave 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 六点半。依据：第 1 段 "We get up at six thirty every day."

2. 一杯牛奶。依据：第 2 段 "I drink a glass of milk."

3. 六点半起床、七点吃早饭、七点二十就出门，节奏很紧；结尾 "Our morning is busy but happy" 说明一家人忙得开心、喜欢这种节奏。

4. 离开。依据：第 3 段 "At seven twenty, we leave home."（七点二十出门上班上学）

语言点

1. We get up at six thirty every day.（我们每天六点半起床。）—— 一般现在时加 every day，表示天天重复的习惯。

2. My father makes breakfast for us.（爸爸为我们做早餐。）—— "make breakfast for sb" 是固定搭配，for 引出"为谁"。

3. At seven twenty, we leave home.（七点二十，我们出门。）—— "at + 钟点" 放在句首点明时间，一段一个时间点，文章条理就清楚了。

读后任务

用一般现在时写三句话，介绍你早上出门前做的两三件事。

参考回答：I get up at six forty. I wash my face and put on my school clothes. Then I drink a glass of water.

第3篇 学校的一天（A Day at School）

从八点上课写到四点半放学后打篮球，本篇集中练一般现在时第三人称单数，顺带学会一批学校场景词。

配合主书第 10 课（一般现在时与高频动词）

My school is near my home. I walk there with my friend Amy. Classes start at eight. The first class is Chinese, and the second one is English.
Miss Li teaches us English. She speaks slowly and clearly. She is very kind to us. At noon, we have lunch in the school canteen. The food there is cheap and good.
My favourite subject is science. The teacher shows us many interesting things. School ends at four thirty. Then I play basketball with my classmates. It is a happy day.
```

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
canteen	/kæn'ti:n/	n.	食堂
subject	/'sʌbdʒɪkt/	n.	科目
teach	/ti:tʃ/	v.	教
speak	/spi:k/	v.	说，讲
clearly	/'klɪəli/	adv.	清楚地
kind	/kaɪnd/	adj.	友善的
noon	/nu:n/	n.	中午
favourite	/'feɪvərɪt/	adj.	最喜欢的

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
end	/end/	v.	结束
classmate	/ˈklɑːsmeɪt/	n.	同学

参考译文

我的学校离我家很近。我和朋友艾米一起走路去。八点开始上课，第一节是语文，第二节是英语。

李老师教我们英语。她讲课又慢又清楚，对我们非常好。中午，我们在学校食堂吃午饭，那里的饭菜便宜又好吃。

我最喜欢的科目是科学，老师在课上给我们看许多有意思的东西。四点半放学，然后我和同学打篮球。这是快乐的一天。

理解题

1. "我"怎么去学校？

2. 午饭在哪里吃？

3. 李老师 "speaks slowly and clearly"，又 "very kind"，由此推断她是一位怎样的老师？

4. "subject" 在文中的意思是什么？

参考答案

1. 走路去，和朋友艾米一起。依据：第 1 段 "I walk there with my friend Amy."

2. 在学校食堂。依据：第 2 段 "At noon, we have lunch in the school canteen."

3. 一位讲得慢、有耐心、对学生友善的好老师。依据：第 2 段 "She speaks slowly and clearly. She is very kind to us."

4. 科目。依据：第 3 段 "My favourite subject is science."（science 是一门课）

语言点

1. Miss Li teaches us English.（李老师教我们英语。）—— "teach + 人 + 科目" 是双宾语结构，中间不加介词。

2. She speaks slowly and clearly.（她说话又慢又清楚。）—— 动词后面用副词修饰方式，两个副词用 and 并列。

3. Then I play basketball with my classmates.（然后我和同学打篮球。）—— "play + 球类运动" 中间不加冠词，是固定用法。

读后任务

写三句话介绍你学校的一天：几点上课、午饭在哪吃、放学后做什么。

参考回答：My classes start at eight. I have lunch in the canteen with my friends. After school, I read books in the library.

第4篇 菜市场对话（At the Market）

本篇是一段市场买卖对话，集中练习 how much 与一般疑问句，还有"再来点""就这些"这类购物礼貌用语。

配合主书第 11 课（疑问句系统）

阅读

阅读

```
Mom and I go to the market on Saturday morning.
"Mom, where are the tomatoes?" I ask.
"They are over there, next to the potatoes," Mom says.
A man at the stall says, "Good morning! Do you want some tomatoes? They are three yuan a kilo."
"Are they fresh?" I ask.
"Yes, very fresh. They come from a farm near the city."
"How much are these potatoes?" Mom asks.
"They are two yuan a kilo."
"OK. One kilo of tomatoes and two kilos of potatoes, please."
"Here you are. Anything else?"
"No, thanks. That's all."
```

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
market	/ˈmɑːkɪt/	n.	市场
tomato	/təˈmɑːtəʊ/	n.	西红柿
potato	/pəˈteɪtəʊ/	n.	土豆
fresh	/freʃ/	adj.	新鲜的
kilo	/ˈkiːləʊ/	n.	千克，公斤
stall	/stɔːl/	n.	摊位
farm	/fɑːm/	n.	农场
yuan	/juˈɑːn/	n.	元
else	/els/	adv.	别的，其他的

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
ask	/ɑːsk/	v.	问

参考译文

周六早上，我和妈妈去菜市场。

"妈妈，西红柿在哪儿？"我问。

"在那边，土豆旁边。"妈妈说。

摊位前的一位男子说："早上好！要西红柿吗？三块钱一公斤。"

"新鲜吗？"我问。

"很新鲜。是城市附近一个农场送来的。"

"这些土豆多少钱？"妈妈问。

"两块钱一公斤。"

"好。一公斤西红柿，两公斤土豆。"

"给您。还要别的吗？"

"不用了，谢谢。就这些。"

理解题

1. 西红柿多少钱一公斤？

2. 摊主说西红柿从哪里来？

3. 客人说完 "No, thanks. That's all." 之后会发生什么？请推断。

4. "fresh" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 三元一公斤。依据：摊主的话 "They are three yuan a kilo."

2. 城市附近的一个农场。依据："They come from a farm near the city."

3. 妈妈付钱，然后带着西红柿和土豆离开摊位。依据：她已说好要买 "One kilo of tomatoes and two kilos of potatoes, please."，而 "That's all." 表示不再买别的。

4. 新鲜的。依据："Are they fresh? Yes, very fresh."

语言点

1. How much are these potatoes?（这些土豆多少钱？）—— how much 问价格；名词是复数，be 动词用 are。

2. One kilo of tomatoes and two kilos of potatoes, please.（请给我一公斤西红柿、两公斤土豆。）—— "计量词 + of + 名词" 表示数量，句尾加 please 显得客气。

3. Anything else?（还要别的吗？）—— 摊主收尾的常用问句，完整说法是 "Do you want anything else?"

读后任务

和同伴编一段三轮问答的买卖对话，用上 how much 和一种水果的复数形式。

参考回答：A: How much are the apples? B: Five yuan a kilo. A: Two kilos, please. B: Here you are. Anything else? A: No, thanks.

第5篇 我最喜欢的食物（My Favourite Food）

本篇写妈妈做牛肉面的过程，用一般现在时叙述"每周都发生的事"，并给出 cut into、be ready 等高频搭配。

配合主书第 10 课（一般现在时与高频动词）

阅读

My favourite food is noodles. In my city, many people eat noodles for breakfast. My mother makes beef noodles on Friday evening. The smell fills the whole house.
I often help her in the kitchen. She cuts the beef into small pieces and washes the vegetables.
Then the noodles go into the hot water. Ten minutes later, dinner is ready.
My little brother loves noodles too. He always says, "More, please!" Sometimes I eat two big bowls.
Noodles are simple, but they make me happy.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
noodle	/'nu:dl/	n.	面条
beef	/bi:f/	n.	牛肉
smell	/smel/	n.	气味，香味

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
fill	/fɪl/	v.	充满
kitchen	/ˈkɪtʃɪn/	n.	厨房
piece	/piːs/	n.	块，片
vegetable	/ˈvedʒtəbl/	n.	蔬菜 bowl	/bəʊl/	n.	碗
simple	/ˈsɪmpl/	adj.	简单的
ready	/ˈredi/	adj.	准备好的

参考译文

我最喜欢的食物是面条。在我住的城市，很多人早餐吃面条。每周五晚上，妈妈做牛肉面，香味充满整个房子。

我常在厨房帮她忙。她把牛肉切成小块，把蔬菜洗干净，然后面条下进热水里。十分钟后，晚饭就准备好了。

弟弟也爱面条，他总说："再来一碗！"我有时能吃两大碗。面条很简单，却让我很开心。

理解题

1. 妈妈什么时候做牛肉面？

2. 做面之前，她把牛肉切成什么样、洗什么？

3. 弟弟总说 "More, please!"，由此推断他吃得怎么样？

4. "fills" 在 "The smell fills the whole house." 中是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 每周五晚上。依据：第 1 段 "My mother makes beef noodles on Friday evening."

2. 把牛肉切成小块，洗蔬菜。依据：第 2 段 "She cuts the beef into small pieces and washes the vegetables."

3. 他非常爱吃，还想再添一碗。依据：第 3 段 "He always says, 'More, please!'"

4. 充满、弥漫。依据：香味大到整个房子都闻得到，说明面快做好了。

语言点

1. My mother makes beef noodles on Friday evening.（妈妈每周五晚上做牛肉面。）—— on + 星期几表示"每周……"，习惯动作用一般现在时。

2. She cuts the beef into small pieces.（她把牛肉切成小块。）—— "cut … into …" 表示"把……切成……"。

3. Noodles are simple, but they make me happy.（面条很简单，却让我开心。）—— "make + 人 + 形容词" 表示"让某人感觉如何"。

读后任务

以 "My favourite food is …" 开头写三句话：是什么、谁常做、你怎么吃。

参考回答：My favourite food is dumplings. My grandma makes them on Sunday. I eat them with a little vinegar.

第6篇 公园里（In the Park）

本篇通篇围绕 there is 与 there are 的陈述句和疑问句展开，带你"参观"一个有湖、有鸭子、有游乐场的公园。

配合主书第 12 课（there be 与方位介词）

There is a big park near my home. There are many green trees and flowers in it. In the middle of the park, there is a small lake. There are some ducks on the water.
Is there a playground? Yes, there is. It is next to the lake. There are always many children there.
Some of them fly kites. Others play on the swings.
Are there any shops in the park? Yes, there are two. They sell drinks and ice cream. I like this park very much.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
middle	/'mɪdl/	n.	中间
lake	/leɪk/	n.	湖
duck	/dʌk/	n.	鸭子
playground	/'pleɪgraʊnd/	n.	游乐场
kite	/kaɪt/	n.	风筝
swing	/swɪŋ/	n.	秋千

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
flower	/'flaʊə/	n.	花
drink	/drɪŋk/	n.	饮料
sell	/sel/	v.	卖
ice cream	/aɪs 'kri:m/	n.	冰淇淋

参考译文

我家附近有一个大公园，里面有绿树和花。公园中间有一个小湖，水面上有几只鸭子。

公园里有游乐场吗？有，就在湖边，那里总是有很多孩子。有的放风筝，有的荡秋千。

公园里有商店吗？有两家，卖饮料和冰淇淋。我非常喜欢这个公园。

理解题

1. 公园中间有什么？

2. 公园里有几家店？卖什么？

3. "There are always many children there." 中的 always 说明这个地方怎么样？请推断。

4. "ducks" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 一个小湖。依据：第 1 段 "In the middle of the park, there is a small lake."

2. 两家，卖饮料和冰淇淋。依据：第 3 段 "Yes, there are two. They sell drinks and ice cream."

3. 孩子们都爱去，那里很受欢迎、很热闹。依据："always"（总是）说明孩子们经常在那里玩。

4. 鸭子。依据：第 1 段 "There are some ducks on the water."（在水面上）

语言点

1. There is a big park near my home.（我家附近有一个大公园。）—— there is + 单数名词，第一次介绍某地"有"什么。

2. There are some ducks on the water.（水面上有几只鸭子。）—— there are + 复数名词；肯定句用 some。

3. Are there any shops in the park?（公园里有商店吗？）—— 疑问句把 are 提到 there 前面，some 相应变成 any。

读后任务

用 there is / there are 写三句话，描述你的小区或校园。

参考回答：There is a small garden in my neighbourhood. There are two tall buildings. There are some benches under the trees.

第7篇 我的狗（My Dog）

本篇介绍小狗豆豆的样子和每天的日程，练动物描写词与 wait for、run after 等动词搭配。

配合主书第 10 课（一般现在时与高频动词）

阅读

I have a little dog. His name is Dudu. He is two years old. He is white, but his ears are black.
Dudu is clever and friendly. He knows the sound of our door. Every afternoon, he waits for me at the gate. He jumps up and down with joy. Then he follows me into the house.
Dudu eats rice and meat. He sleeps in a small basket in my room. On Sunday, I take him to the grass field. He runs fast and I run after him. He is my best friend.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
sound	/saʊnd/	n.	声音
wait	/weɪt/	v.	等待
gate	/geɪt/	n.	大门
jump	/dʒʌmp/	v.	跳
joy	/dʒɔɪ/	n.	高兴，欢喜
follow	/'fɒləʊ/	v.	跟随
basket	/'bɑːskɪt/	n.	篮子
grass	/grɑːs/	n.	草，草地
clever	/'klevə/	adj.	聪明的
friendly	/'frendli/	adj.	友好的

参考译文

我养了一只小狗，名字叫豆豆，两岁。它是白色的，耳朵却是黑色的。

豆豆又聪明又友好。它听得出门响。每天下午，它都在大门口等我，高兴得又蹦又跳，然后跟着我进屋。

豆豆吃米饭和肉，睡在我房间里的小篮子里。周日我带它去草地，它跑得飞快，我在后面追。它是我最好的朋友。

理解题

1. 豆豆是什么颜色？耳朵呢？

2. 豆豆晚上睡在哪里？

3. "He knows the sound of our door." 由此推断豆豆和这家人的关系如何？

4. "follows" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 白色，耳朵是黑色。依据：第 1 段 "He is white, but his ears are black."

2. 在"我"房间里的小篮子里。依据：第 3 段 "He sleeps in a small basket in my room."

3. 它非常熟悉这个家、依恋家人，一听到门响就来迎接。依据：第 2 段它每天在门口等"我"回家。

4. 跟随。依据：第 2 段 "Then he follows me into the house."

语言点

1. Every afternoon, he waits for me at the gate.（每天下午，它都在大门口等我。）—— "wait for sb" 是固定搭配；主语是第三人称单数，动词加 -s。

2. He jumps up and down with joy.（它高兴得又蹦又跳。）—— "up and down" 表示"上上下下"，动作一下子就活了。

3. He runs fast and I run after him.（它跑得快，我在后面追。）—— "run after sb" 表示"追赶某人"。

读后任务

仿照本篇写三句话介绍一只动物：名字、样子、它常做什么。

参考回答：My cat is Mimi. She is grey and very quiet. She sleeps on my bed all afternoon.

第8篇 星期天购物（Sunday Shopping）

本篇写周日和妈妈逛超市，重点练名词单复数与 how many 疑问句，还学会"两瓶牛奶""一公斤"这类计量说法。

配合主书第 8 课（名词与单复数）

阅读

阅读

On Sunday, my mother and I go to the big supermarket. There are many people in it.
We need three things: bananas, milk and notebooks. The bananas are on the fruit shelf. Mom chooses six bananas. I get two bottles of milk from the fridge.
"How many notebooks do you need?" Mom asks.
"Two, please. My old ones are full," I say.
At the checkout, the total is forty-two yuan. Mom pays with her phone. I carry the heavy bags.
Shopping with Mom is fun.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
supermarket	/ˈsuːpəmɑːkɪt/	n.	超市
shelf	/ʃelf/	n.	货架
choose	/tʃuːz/	v.	挑选
bottle	/ˈbɒtl/	n.	瓶
fridge	/frɪdʒ/	n.	冰箱
checkout	/ˈtʃekaʊt/	n.	收银台
total	/ˈtəʊtl/	n.	总额
carry	/ˈkæri/	v.	提，搬
heavy	/ˈhevi/	adj.	重的
need	/niːd/	v.	需要

参考译文

周日，我和妈妈去大超市，里面人很多。

我们需要三样东西：香蕉、牛奶和笔记本。香蕉在水果货架上，妈妈挑了六根。我从冰箱里拿了两瓶牛奶。

"你要几本笔记本？"妈妈问。

"两本。旧的写满了。"我说。

在收银台，一共四十二元。妈妈用手机付款，我提着重重的袋子。和妈妈一起购物真开心。

理解题

1. 他们要买的三样东西是什么？

2. "我"从冰箱里拿了几瓶牛奶？

3. "我"提着重袋子，结尾却说 fun，由此推断"我"对和妈妈购物是什么感受？

4. "total" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 香蕉、牛奶和笔记本。依据：第 2 段 "We need three things: bananas, milk and notebooks."

2. 两瓶。依据：第 2 段 "I get two bottles of milk from the fridge."

3. 虽然累但很开心，享受和妈妈在一起的时间。依据：结尾 "Shopping with Mom is fun."

4. 总额、总共的钱。依据：第 3 段 "At the checkout, the total is forty-two yuan."（结账时的总价）

语言点

1. How many notebooks do you need?（你需要几本笔记本？）—— how many + 复数名词问可数数量，do 提前构成疑问句。

2. I get two bottles of milk from the fridge.（我从冰箱里拿两瓶牛奶。）—— 不可数名词 milk 用 "bottles of" 来计量。

3. Mom pays with her phone.（妈妈用手机付款。）—— "pay with + 工具" 表示"用……支付"。

读后任务

写出你的五样购物清单，再用两句话说明去哪买、大约花多少钱。

参考回答：My list: apples, bread, eggs, water and pens. I buy them at the supermarket. The total is about thirty yuan.

第9篇 我的好朋友（My Good Friend）

My best friend is Lin Yue. She sits next to me in class. She is tall and thin. Her hair is long and black. Her eyes are big and bright.
Lin Yue is quiet, but she is not shy. She always helps me with maths. I am sad sometimes, and then she tells me funny stories. She also shares her books with me.
We are like sisters. She likes music, and I like drawing. We walk home together every day. Good friends are like stars in the sky.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
quiet	/ˈkwaɪət/	adj.	安静的
shy	/ʃaɪ/	adj.	害羞的
bright	/braɪt/	adj.	明亮的
maths	/mæθs/	n.	数学
funny	/ˈfʌni/	adj.	有趣的
story	/ˈstɔːri/	n.	故事
share	/ʃeə/	v.	分享
drawing	/ˈdrɔːɪŋ/	n.	画画
sky	/skaɪ/	n.	天空
star	/stɑː/	n.	星星

参考译文

我最好的朋友是林悦。她上课坐在我旁边。她又高又瘦，头发又黑又长，眼睛又大又亮。

林悦很安静，却一点儿不害羞。她总是在数学上帮助我。我有时难过，她就给我讲好玩的故事。她还和我分享她的书。

我们亲如姐妹。她喜欢音乐，我喜欢画画。我们每天一起走路回家。好朋友就像天上的星星。

理解题

1. 林悦长什么样子？至少写出两点。

2. 她在学习上怎样帮助"我"？

3. "quiet, but she is not shy"，由此推断她对待朋友是怎样的？

4. "shares" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 又高又瘦，黑长头发，眼睛又大又亮。依据：第 1 段 "She is tall and thin. Her hair is long and black. Her eyes are big and bright."

2. 帮"我"学数学，还把书给"我"看。依据：第 2 段 "She always helps me with maths." 和 "She also shares her books with me."

3. 虽然话不多，但对朋友主动、热心，不胆怯。依据："quiet, but she is not shy" 与她讲故事、分享书的举动一致。

4. 分享。依据：第 2 段 "She also shares her books with me."

语言点

1. Her hair is long and black.（她的头发又长又黑。）—— 描写外貌常用"部位 + be + 形容词"，结构清楚不易错。

2. She always helps me with maths.（她总是在数学上帮助我。）—— "help sb with sth" 固定搭配，with 后接学科或事情。

3. Good friends are like stars in the sky.（好朋友就像天上的星星。）—— "be like ..." 表示"像……"，这里的 like 是介词。

读后任务

写三句话介绍你的一位朋友：一句外貌、一句性格、一句你们常一起做的事。

参考回答：My friend Wang Tao is short and strong. He is funny and kind. We play football together after school.

第10篇 我的生日礼物（My Birthday Present）

My birthday is on May 10th. In the morning, there are three boxes on my desk. They are presents from my family. A red ribbon is on every box.
The first box is from my parents. I open it. It is a new bike! The wheels are blue, and the bell is silver. The second box has a model plane in it. The third one has a photo album. Grandma says, "Put your pictures in it."
I thank them with a big hug. What a happy day!

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
present	/'preznt/	n.	礼物
box	/bɒks/	n.	盒子
ribbon	/'rɪbən/	n.	丝带
open	/'əʊpən/	v.	打开
wheel	/wi:l/	n.	轮子
bell	/bel/	n.	车铃
silver	/'sɪlvə/	adj.	银色的
album	/'ælbəm/	n.	相册
hug	/hʌg/	n.	拥抱
tenth	/tenθ/	num.	第十

参考译文

我的生日在 5 月 10 日。早上，书桌上有三个盒子，都是家人送我的礼物，每个盒子上都系着红丝带。

第一个盒子是爸爸妈妈送的。我打开一看，是一辆新自行车！轮子是蓝色的，车铃是银色的。第二个盒子里是一架模型飞机。第三个盒子里是一本相册，奶奶说："把你的照片放进去吧。"

我用一个大大的拥抱谢谢他们。多么开心的一天！

理解题

1. 生日是哪一天？

2. 三个盒子里分别是什么礼物？

3. 礼物都来自谁？由此推断这是一个怎样的家庭？

4. "ribbon" 是什么意思?

参考答案

1. 5 月 10 日。依据：第 1 段 "My birthday is on May 10th."

2. 一辆新自行车、一架模型飞机、一本相册。依据：第 2 段对三个盒子的描写。

3. 来自父母和奶奶等家人；家人互相关爱、记得孩子的生日，是个温暖的家庭。依据：第 1 段 "They are presents from my family."

4. 丝带。依据：第 1 段 "A red ribbon is on every box."（系在礼盒上的红色饰带）

语言点

1. The second box has a model plane in it.（第二个盒子里有一架模型飞机。）—— "A has B in it" 表示"A 里面有 B"，强调"装着"。

2. I thank them with a big hug.（我用一个大大的拥抱谢谢他们。）—— "with + 名词" 表示方式，即"用……（的方式）"。

3. What a happy day!（多么开心的一天！）—— "What a + 形容词 + 名词" 构成感叹句。

读后任务

写三句话介绍你收到的一样礼物：谁送的、什么样、你放在哪或怎么用。

参考回答：My uncle gives me a watch for my birthday. It is black and small. I wear it to school every day.

第11篇 公交车站（At the Bus Stop）

本篇写清晨在公交站等车的见闻，方位介词和钟点时间同框出现，是问路、指路表达的基本素材。

配合主书第 12 课（there be 与方位介词）

阅读

Every morning, I wait for the No. 3 bus at the stop near the bank. The stop is between a bakery and a bookshop. There is a sign above our heads.

The bus comes at seven fifteen. Sometimes it is late, and then the line is long. I stand behind an old lady with a red bag. Her granddaughter stands in front of her.

On the bus, I sit by the window. At seven thirty, I get off in front of my school. A new day starts.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
stop	/stɒp/	n.	车站
bank	/bæŋk/	n.	银行
bakery	/'beɪkəri/	n.	面包店
sign	/saɪn/	n.	标牌
line	/laɪn/	n.	队伍
lady	/'leɪdi/	n.	女士
granddaughter	/'grændɔ:tə/	n.	孙女
stand	/stænd/	v.	站
get off	/get ɒf/	v.	下车
head	/hed/	n.	头

参考译文

每天早上，我在银行旁边的车站等 3 路公交车。车站夹在一家面包店和一家书店之间，头顶上方有一块站牌。

公交车七点一刻来。有时来得晚，队伍就排得很长。我站在一位拎红色包的老奶奶身后，她的孙女站在她前面。

上了公交，我靠窗坐下。七点半，我在学校门口下车。新的一天开始了。

理解题

1. 车站在哪两家店之间？

2. 公交车几点来？

3. "Sometimes it is late, and then the line is long."，由此推断车晚点时站台上会怎样？

4. "get off" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 面包店和书店之间。依据：第 1 段 "The stop is between a bakery and a bookshop."

2. 七点一刻（7:15）。依据：第 2 段 "The bus comes at seven fifteen."

3. 等车的人变多，队伍排得很长。依据：车晚点则更多人滞留站台，所以 line is long。

4. 下车。依据：第 3 段 "At seven thirty, I get off in front of my school."

语言点

1. The stop is between a bakery and a bookshop.（车站在一家面包店和一家书店之间。）—— "between A and B" 表示"在 A 与 B 之间"。

2. I stand behind an old lady.（我站在一位老奶奶身后。）—— behind 与 in front of 是一对反义方位介词，本篇正好都用上了。

3. At seven thirty, I get off in front of my school.（七点半，我在学校门口下车。）—— "get off" 下车，与 "get on"（上车）相对。

读后任务

写三句话介绍你上学路上经过的两个地点和你到校的时间。

参考回答：I walk past a fruit shop and a small park. The park is next to my school. I get to school at seven forty.

第12篇 一封给笔友的信（A Letter to My Pen Friend）

我家有四口人。爸爸是医生，妈妈是护士。他们很忙，但我们每天晚上都一起吃晚饭。

我的学校又大又老。我在五年级二班。我最喜欢的科目是美术，我画熊猫——成都有很多熊猫！

你呢？请快点给我回信。

你的朋友

陈杰

理解题

1. 陈杰家有几口人？

2. 他父母的职业是什么？

3. 陈杰为什么画熊猫？请结合文中的城市名推断。

4. "soon" 是什么意思？

参考答案

1. 四口人。依据：第 2 段 "There are four people in my family."

2. 爸爸是医生，妈妈是护士。依据：第 2 段 "My father is a doctor, and my mother is a nurse."

3. 他住在成都，成都有很多熊猫，熊猫是他家乡的代表。依据：第 1 段 "I live in Chengdu" 与第 3 段 "There are many pandas in Chengdu!"

4. 不久、很快。依据：信的结尾 "Please write to me soon."（请尽快回信）

语言点

1. I live in Chengdu with my parents.（我和父母一起住在成都。）—— "live in + 城市名" 说明住处，with 引出同住的人。

2. My father is a doctor, and my mother is a nurse.（我爸爸是医生，妈妈是护士。）—— 说职业时，单数名词前必须加 a 或 an。

3. What about you?（你呢？）—— 反问对方同样信息的简短问法，写信和口语都用得上。

读后任务

给笔友写一段 4 到 5 句的自我介绍：名字年龄、住在哪、家里几口人、最喜欢的科目。

参考回答：My name is Li Ming. I am twelve years old. I live in Beijing with my parents. There are three people in my family. My favourite subject is PE.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
seaside	/ˈsiːsaɪd/	n.	海边；海滨
trip	/trɪp/	n.	旅行
beach	/biːtʃ/	n.	海滩
shell	/ʃel/	n.	贝壳
kite	/kaɪt/	n.	风筝
soft	/sɒft/	adj.	柔和的
cheap	/tʃiːp/	adj.	便宜的
fresh	/freʃ/	adj.	新鲜的
swam	/swæm/	v.	游泳（swim 的过去式）
warm	/wɔːm/	adj.	温暖的
arrive	/əˈraɪv/	v.	到达

参考译文

去年八月，我们全家去了一座海边小镇旅行。我们早早起床，开了三个小时的车才到。到达时，天空晴朗，微风轻柔。

我们先沿着海滩散步，寻找贝壳。我找到了十二个，妹妹只找到三个，所以她有点难过。然后爸爸教我们放风筝。中午，我们在海边一家小餐厅吃了炸鱼薯条。东西不便宜，但很新鲜。

下午，我们在海里游泳。海水比我想象的暖和，我都不想离开了。回家之前，我们一起拍了很多照片。那是我这个暑假最好的日子之一，我希望我们还能再去。

理解题

1. 我们开车去海边用了多长时间？（细节）

A. 两个小时

B. 三个小时

C. 四个小时

D. 五个小时

2. 中午我们在海边的小餐厅吃了什么？（细节）

A. 汉堡和可乐

B. 面条和鸡蛋

C. 炸鱼薯条

D. 三明治

3. 妹妹"felt a little sad"的原因是什么？（推断）

A. 她没有吃到午饭

B. 她找到的贝壳比"我"少

C. 她的风筝飞不起来

D. 她不想回家

4. 从"The water was warmer than I thought"可以推断出什么？（推断）

A. 出发前"我"以为海水会更凉

B. 海水其实非常冷

C. "我"没有下水游泳

D. 天气突然变冷了

5. 短文中的"shells"最可能指什么？（词义猜测）

A. 贝壳

B. 海草

C. 小鱼

D. 石头

参考答案

1. B —— 定位："We got up early and drove there for three hours."（我们开了三个小时的车。）

2. C —— 定位："we ate fish and chips at a small restaurant near the sea."（在海边小餐厅吃了炸鱼薯条。）

3. B —— 定位："I found twelve of them, and my little sister found only three, so she felt a little sad."（"so"点出因果：找得少所以难过。）

4. A —— 定位："warmer than I thought"（比我想象的暖和），说明"我"原本的预期更低，即以为水会更凉。

5. A —— 定位："we walked along the beach and looked for shells."（在海滩上寻找的东西，结合语境可知是贝壳。）

语言点

1. take a trip to（去……旅行）

We took a trip to a small seaside town.（我们去了一座海边小镇旅行。）

说明：take a trip to + 地点，强调"去某地旅行"这一完整经历，比单独的 go to 更具体。

2. look for 与 find（寻找与找到）

I looked for shells for an hour, and I found twelve of them.（我找了一个小时的贝壳，找到了十二个。）

说明：look for 强调"找"的过程，find 强调"找到"的结果，两个词常在前后句里呼应出现。

3. 比较级 + than（比……更……）

The water was warmer than I thought.（海水比我想象的暖和。）

说明：形容词加 -er 构成比较级，后接 than 引出比较对象；than 后面可以跟名词，也可以跟一个句子。

读后任务

任务：用一般过去时写 4-5 句话，介绍你上一次外出旅行：去了哪里、做了什么、感觉如何。

参考回答

Last Sunday, I went to the park with my family. We rode bikes and had a picnic under a big tree. I flew a kite for the first time, and it was harder than I thought. We took many photos there. It was a happy day.

参考译文

昨天晚上，我和朋友艾米去了一家新餐厅。一位年轻的服务员把我们领到座位上，递给我们菜单。

"想先喝点什么吗？"他问。

"能给我们两杯橙汁吗？"我说。

"当然可以。请问现在可以点餐了吗？"

艾米盯着菜单看了很久。"我想要鸡肉饭，不过能请你们做得不那么辣吗？"她问。

"没问题。"服务员微笑着说。

接着我点了一份鱼肉沙拉，可是菜端上来时，盘子里是米饭，不是沙拉。我轻声告诉了服务员，他的脸一下子红了。"非常抱歉，我五分钟之内给您换一份新的。"他说。

新的沙拉很棒，最后他没有收我们这份的钱。我们给了他不少小费。

理解题

1. "我们"先点了什么喝的？（细节）

A. 两杯咖啡

B. 两杯橙汁

C. 两杯茶

D. 一杯可乐

2. 服务员出了什么差错？（细节）

A. 他把辣的菜端给了艾米

B. 他忘了上饮料

C. "我"点的是沙拉，端来的却是米饭

D. 他算错了账

3. "我"为什么"quietly"（轻声）告诉服务员？（推断）

A. "我"不想让别人听见，给他留面子

B. 餐厅里太吵了

C. "我"嗓子不舒服

D. "我"害怕服务员

4. 结尾"We left him a big tip"说明"我们"的心情是怎样的？（推断）

A. 十分生气

B. 非常失望

C. 比较满意

D. 很想投诉

5. 短文中的"charge"最可能是什么意思？（词义猜测）

A. 打折

B. 收费

C. 道歉

D. 打包

参考答案

1. B —— 定位："Could we have two orange juices, please?"（两杯橙汁。）

2. C —— 定位："I ordered a fish salad, but when the food came, the plate had rice instead of salad."（点的是沙拉，端来的是米饭。）

3. A —— 定位："I told the waiter quietly"与下文"his face turned red"（脸红了）：轻声提醒既解决了问题，又没有让他当众难堪。

4. C —— 定位："The new salad was great"，加上主动给小费，说明"我们"对处理结果满意。

5. B —— 定位："he did not charge us for it"（他没有为这份收钱），指为食物付钱。

语言点

1. Would you like ...?（您想要……吗？）

Would you like something to drink first?（您想先喝点什么吗？）

说明：would like 比 want 礼貌得多，是服务员、主人开口的标配句型；回答可以说 Yes, please 或 No, thanks。

2. Could we have ...?（能给我们……吗？）

Could we have two orange juices, please?（能给我们两杯橙汁吗？）

说明：这里的 could 不表示过去，而是客气地提出请求；句尾加上 please 更加自然。

3. in the end（最后，终于）

In the end he did not charge us for it.（最后他没有收我们这份的钱。）

说明：in the end = finally，强调"经过一段过程之后的最终结果"，可放在句首或句中。

读后任务

任务：设想你和朋友在餐厅点餐，写出你们与服务员之间的 4 句对话，至少用一次 would like 和一次 could。

参考回答

Waiter: Would you like to order now?

I: Could we have a bowl of beef noodles and a cup of tea, please?

Waiter: Of course. Anything else?

I: No, thanks. That is all.

Two years ago, I could not cook at all. I only ate instant noodles, and my mother was always worried about me. Then one winter, she decided to teach me some simple dishes.

On the first day, I burned the eggs and cut my finger, but I did not give up. I practised cooking on weekends, and little by little, my dishes tasted better. Now I can make fried rice, tomato soup and even a small birthday cake. My father says my soup is tastier than the one in the restaurant near our home.

Every Sunday, I cook dinner for my family, and they always clean their plates. Cooking also made me more patient. I learned one thing: good things need time. Next month, I want to learn a dish from my grandmother.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
instant	/ˈɪnstənt/	adj.	速食的；即食的
noodle	/ˈnuːdl/	n.	面条
worried	/ˈwʌrid/	adj.	担心的
decide	/dɪˈsaɪd/	v.	决定
simple	/ˈsɪmpl/	adj.	简单的
burned	/bɜːnd/	v.	烧糊；炒糊（burn 的过去式）
finger	/ˈfɪŋgə/	n.	手指
practise	/ˈpræktɪs/	v.	练习
fried	/fraɪd/	adj.	炒的；油炸的
tastier	/ˈteɪstiə/	adj.	更好吃的
patient	/ˈpeɪʃnt/	adj.	有耐心的
dish	/dɪʃ/	n.	菜肴；一道菜

参考译文

两年前，我完全不会做饭，只会吃方便面，妈妈总为我担心。后来有一年冬天，她决定教我做几道简单的菜。

第一天，我把鸡蛋炒糊了，还切到了手指，但我没有放弃。周末我坚持练习，一点一点地，我做的菜越来越好吃。现在我会做炒饭、西红柿汤，甚至一个小小的生日蛋糕。爸爸说我的汤比我们家附近餐厅的还好喝。

每个星期天，我为家人做晚饭，他们总是把盘子吃得干干净净。做饭还让我变得更有耐心。我明白了一个道理：好的东西需要时间。下个月，我想跟奶奶学一道菜。

理解题

1. 两年前"我"几乎只会吃什么？（细节）

A. 方便面

B. 炒饭

C. 西红柿汤

D. 生日蛋糕

2. 现在"我"每个星期天做什么？（细节）

A. 去餐厅吃饭

B. 给家人做晚饭

C. 教妹妹做菜

D. 帮妈妈洗碗

3. 从"I burned the eggs and cut my finger, but I did not give up"可以看出"我"是个怎样的人？（推断）

A. 粗心大意的人

B. 遇到困难不轻易放弃的人

C. 喜欢逞强的人

D. 害怕失败的人

4. 爸爸说"我"做的汤"tastier than the one in the restaurant"，他真正想表达什么？（推断）

A. 那家餐厅的汤很难喝

B. 他对"我"的进步感到骄傲

C. 他想去那家餐厅吃饭

D. 他希望"我"少放盐

5. 短文中的"give up"最可能是什么意思？（词义猜测）

A. 迟到

B. 大笑

C. 放弃

D. 赔偿

参考答案

1. A —— 定位："I only ate instant noodles"（只吃方便面）。

2. B —— 定位："Every Sunday, I cook dinner for my family"（每个星期天为家人做晚饭）。

3. B —— 定位：but 转折——出了两次小事故"but I did not give up"（但没有放弃），说明"我"能坚持。

4. B —— 定位：爸爸拿"我"的汤和餐厅的汤作比较且更胜一筹，是在夸奖"我"的进步。

5. C —— 定位："I burned the eggs and cut my finger, but I did not give up."（炒糊了、切到了手，却仍继续练，即没有"放弃"。）

语言点

1. not ... at all（一点也不）

Two years ago, I could not cook at all.（两年前我完全不会做饭。）

说明：not ... at all 加强否定的语气，意为"根本不、完全不"，at all 放在句尾。

2. little by little（一点一点地，逐渐地）

Little by little, my dishes tasted better.（我的菜一点一点变得好吃了。）

说明：表示"逐渐地"，常放在句首，描述一个慢慢变化的过程。

3. make + 宾语 + 形容词（使……变得……）

Cooking also made me more patient.（做饭还让我变得更有耐心。）

说明：make 后接宾语再加形容词，表示"使某人或某物处于某种状态"；宾语后面也可以接比较级。

读后任务

任务：用"过去……现在……"的对比结构，写 4-5 句话介绍你学会的一项本领。

参考回答

Two years ago, I could not swim at all, and I was afraid of water. Then my father taught me in the summer holiday. Now I can swim in deep water, and I am faster than my cousin. Learning to swim made me brave.

Last month, we moved to a new flat across the city. On that busy morning, my parents were packing boxes in the living room while I was putting my books into a large paper bag. My little brother was not helping at all; he was playing with his toy cars in the corner.
Outside, the workers were carrying our furniture down the stairs, and the lift was making a strange noise. At ten o'clock, we were still cleaning the kitchen when the truck driver called us.
While Mum was talking on the phone, the doorbell rang. It was our new neighbour, Mrs Lee. She was holding a plate of cookies and said, "Welcome to the building."
At six in the evening, everything was in its place. We were tired, but we were all smiling in our bright new home.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
flat	/flæt/	n.	公寓
pack	/pæk/	v.	打包
corner	/ˈkɔːnə/	n.	角落
toy	/tɔɪ/	n.	玩具
furniture	/ˈfɜːnɪtʃə/	n.	家具
stairs	/steəz/	n.	楼梯 lift	/lɪft/	n.	电梯
truck	/trʌk/	n.	卡车
doorbell	/ˈdɔːbel/	n.	门铃
neighbour	/ˈneɪbə/	n.	邻居

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
cookie	/ˈkʊki/	n.	曲奇饼
bright	/braɪt/	adj.	明亮的

参考译文

上个月，我们搬到了城市另一头的新公寓。那个忙碌的早晨，爸爸妈妈在客厅打包箱子，我把书装进一个大纸袋里。弟弟一点儿忙也没帮，他在角落里玩他的玩具车。

外面，搬运工人正把我们的家具搬下楼梯，电梯发出奇怪的响声。十点钟的时候，我们还在打扫厨房，卡车司机打来了电话。妈妈正在接电话，门铃响了。是新邻居李太太。她端着一盘饼干说："欢迎搬来这栋楼。"

傍晚六点，一切都放得井井有条。我们很累，但在明亮的新家里，大家都笑得很开心。

理解题

1. 那个忙碌的早晨"我"在做什么？（细节）

A. 在客厅打包箱子

B. 把书装进大纸袋

C. 在角落玩玩具车

D. 打扫厨房

2. 新邻居李太太带来了什么？（细节）

A. 一盘饺子

B. 一瓶果汁

C. 一盘饼干

D. 一些水果

3. 弟弟那天早上一直在角落里玩玩具车，这说明什么？（推断）

A. 他非常喜欢新家

B. 他年纪小，帮不上搬家的忙

C. 他不想离开旧家

D. 他在生"我"的气

4. 从"the lift was making a strange noise"可以推断出什么？（推断）

A. 这栋楼是新盖的

B. 电梯可能有些老旧或出了点毛病

C. 搬运工人正在修电梯

D. 楼里没有其他住户

5. 短文中的"furniture"指的是什么？（词义猜测）

A. 行李箱

B. 书本

C. 家具

D. 食物

参考答案

1. B —— 定位："while I was putting my books into a large paper bag."（"我"把书装进大纸袋。）

2. C —— 定位："She was holding a plate of cookies"（端着一盘饼干）。

3. B —— 定位："My little brother was not helping at all; he was playing with his toy cars."（完全没帮忙，只顾玩玩具，可见还小。）

4. B —— 定位：电梯发出"strange noise"（奇怪的响声），通常是老旧或故障的信号。

5. C —— 定位："the workers were carrying our furniture down the stairs"（搬家时工人往楼下搬的大件东西是家具）。

语言点

1. was/were + doing（过去进行时）

My parents were packing boxes in the living room.（爸爸妈妈当时正在客厅打包箱子。）

说明：表示过去某一时刻正在进行的动作，常与 at that moment、at ten o'clock 这类过去时间点连用。

2. while + 过去进行时（当……正在……时）

While Mum was talking on the phone, the doorbell rang.（妈妈正在打电话的时候，门铃响了。）

说明：while 引导持续时间较长的背景动作（用进行时），主句用一般过去时描述打断它的短暂动作。

3. make a noise（发出响声）

The lift was making a strange noise.（电梯当时正发出奇怪的响声。）

说明：make a noise 表示"发出声音"，中间可以加形容词：make a strange noise、make a loud noise。

读后任务

任务：回忆昨天晚上七点，你家每个人各在做什么，用过去进行时写 3-4 句话。

参考回答

At seven last night, my mother was cooking in the kitchen. My father was reading the news in the living room. I was doing my homework in my room, and my cat was sleeping on the sofa.

My grandmother is seventy years old, but she still cooks every day. Her best dish is dumplings, and our whole family loves them. She has made dumplings for more than fifty years.
Her mother taught her when she was a girl in a small village, and she has never forgotten those lessons. So far, she has taught my mother the recipe, and last year she started to teach me too. I have already learned how to make the dough, but my dumplings are still ugly. Grandma always laughs and says, "Don't worry. Practice makes perfect."
Every Spring Festival, we sit together around the table, and Grandma tells us stories about her childhood while we work. These moments are precious to me. I hope one day I can pass this skill on to my own children, just like her.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
dumpling	/'dʌmplɪŋ/	n.	饺子
whole	/həʊl/	adj.	整个的 village	/'vɪlɪdʒ/	n.	村庄
recipe	/'resəpi/	n.	做法；配方
dough	/dəʊ/	n.	面团
ugly	/'ʌgli/	adj.	难看的

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
laugh	/lɑːf/	v.	笑
perfect	/'pɜːfɪkt/	adj.	完美的
festival	/'festɪvl/	n.	节日
childhood	/'tʃaɪldhʊd/	n.	童年 precious	/'preʃəs/	adj.	珍贵的
skill	/skɪl/	n.	技能；手艺

参考译文

我奶奶七十岁了，但她仍然每天做饭。她最拿手的菜是饺子，全家人都爱吃。她包饺子已经五十多年了。

小时候在一个小村庄里，她的妈妈教会了她，她也从来没有忘记当年学到的手艺。到目前为止，她已经把做法教给了我妈，去年也开始教我了。我已经学会和面，可我包的饺子还是很难看。奶奶总是笑着说："别担心，熟能生巧。"

每年春节，我们围坐在桌边，一边干活，一边听奶奶讲她童年的故事。这些时刻对我来说非常珍贵。我希望有一天能像她一样，把这门手艺传给我自己的孩子。

理解题

1. 奶奶包饺子包了多少年？（细节）

A. 三十多年

B. 四十多年

C. 五十多年

D. 六十多年

2. "我"目前已经学会了哪一步？（细节）

A. 调饺子馅

B. 和面

C. 擀饺子皮

D. 煮饺子

3. 奶奶说"Practice makes perfect"，她想告诉"我"什么？（推断）

A. 饺子包得难看就别包了

B. 只要不断练习，手艺就会越来越好

C. 她年轻时的饺子也难看

D. 学包饺子必须有天赋

4. 为什么说"These moments are precious to me"？（推断）

A. 因为春节期间饺子卖得贵

B. 因为一家人围坐包饺子、听奶奶讲故事的时光难得

C. 因为"我"很少见到奶奶

D. 因为"我"喜欢春节的红包

5. 短文中的"recipe"最可能是什么意思？（词义猜测）

A. 菜刀

B. 做法；配方

C. 餐厅

D. 围裙

参考答案

1. C —— 定位："She has made dumplings for more than fifty years."（五十多年。）

2. B —— 定位："I have already learned how to make the dough."（已经学会做面团，即和面。）

3. B —— 定位："Don't worry. Practice makes perfect."（别担心——多练自然就会好，即熟能生巧。）

4. B —— 定位：前文"we sit together around the table, and Grandma tells us stories"，一家人一起的时光才显得珍贵。

5. B —— 定位："she has taught my mother the recipe"（把这门手艺教给妈妈，指做法而非实物）。

语言点

1. have/has + 过去分词 + for + 时间段（现在完成时）

She has made dumplings for more than fifty years.（她包饺子已经包了五十多年了。）

说明：现在完成时 + for + 时间段，表示动作从过去开始一直持续到现在，常与 live、work、make 这类延续性动词连用。

2. so far（到目前为止）

So far, she has taught my mother the recipe.（到目前为止，她已经把做法教给了我妈妈。）

说明：so far 是现在完成时的标志性时间状语，意为"到目前为止"，暗示以后还可能继续。

3. pass ... on to ...（把……传给……）

I hope I can pass this skill on to my own children.（我希望我能把这门手艺传给我自己的孩子。）

说明：pass on 表示"传递、传承"，宾语是代词时要放在中间，如 pass it on to。

读后任务

任务：写 4-5 句话介绍一位家人的拿手本领，并说清这项本领是怎么传下来的（可用现在完成时）。

参考回答

My grandfather is good at making noodles. His father taught him when he was young, and he has made noodles for forty years. He has also taught my mother the skill. Every New Year, the whole family eats his noodles together.

After that, I will not be lazy at home. I am going to join a swimming class, because I want to be stronger next year. My father will also take me fishing by the lake in August. My friends and I are going to have a picnic in the park before July. I have also made a reading list: ten books in English and five in Chinese.
Of course, I will finish my homework first, or my mother will not be happy. I think this summer will be busy but wonderful. What about yours?
```

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
plan	/plæn/	n.	计划
holiday	/'hɒlədeɪ/	n.	假期
cousin	/'kʌzn/	n.	表兄弟姐妹；堂兄弟姐妹
panda	/'pændə/	n.	熊猫
ticket	/'tɪkɪt/	n.	票；入场券
cheaper	/'tʃi:pə/	adj.	更便宜的
lazy	/'leɪzi/	adj.	懒散的
stronger	/'strɒŋgə/	adj.	更强壮的
fishing	/'fɪʃɪŋ/	n.	钓鱼
picnic	/'pɪknɪk/	n.	野餐
homework	/'həʊmwɜ:k/	n.	作业
wonderful	/'wʌndəfl/	adj.	精彩的；极好的

参考译文

夏天就要到了，我正在为假期做计划。今年七月，我打算去成都看望表哥表姐们。我们打算去看大熊猫，表哥说早上的票更便宜。我会在那里待两个星期。

在那之后，我在家也不会偷懒。我打算报一个游泳班，因为我想明年变得更强壮。八月，爸爸还会带我去湖边钓鱼。七月出发之前，我和朋友们还要去公园野餐。我还定了一份阅读清单：十本英文书，五本中文书。

当然，我会先写完作业，不然妈妈不会高兴的。我想这个暑假会很忙碌，但也很精彩。你的暑假呢？

理解题

1. 七月"我"打算去哪里？（细节）

A. 青岛

B. 北京

C. 成都

D. 上海

2. "我"的阅读清单里有什么？（细节）

A. 十本英文书和五本中文书

B. 十本中文书和五本英文书

C. 二十本英文书

D. 只有漫画书

3. "I will finish my homework first, or my mother will not be happy"说明"我"懂得什么？（推断）

A. 妈妈会检查每一本作业

B. 玩之前要先把作业写完

C. "我"不喜欢写作业

D. 作业实在太难了

4. 全文读下来，"我"对这个暑假的态度是什么？（推断）

A. 担心害怕

B. 满怀期待

C. 无所谓

D. 想取消计划

5. 短文中的"lazy"最可能是什么意思？（词义猜测）

A. 忙碌的

B. 懒散的

C. 开心的

D. 疲惫的

参考答案

1. C —— 定位："I am going to visit my cousins in Chengdu."（去成都。）

2. A —— 定位："a reading list: ten books in English and five in Chinese."（十本英文书、五本中文书。）

3. B —— 定位：先写作业，否则妈妈不高兴——说明"我"知道先后顺序，先完成任务再玩。

4. B —— 定位：结尾"I think this summer will be busy but wonderful."（忙碌但精彩，语气积极期待。）

5. B —— 定位："I will not be lazy at home"与下文"join a swimming class"呼应——不偷懒、去锻炼，故 lazy 是"懒散的"。

语言点

1. be going to + 动词原形（打算做……）

I am going to visit my cousins in Chengdu.（我打算去成都看望表哥表姐。）

说明：be going to 表示事先计划、打算好的将来动作；计划性越强，越适合用这个结构。

2. will + 动词原形（将会做……）

I will stay there for two weeks.（我将在那里待两个星期。）

说明：will 表示将来的事实或临时决定，否定式 will not 可以缩写为 won't；主语没有人称变化。

3. finish + 动名词（完成……）

I will finish my homework first.（我会先写完作业。）

说明：finish 后面接名词或动名词，不接不定式：finish doing the dishes、finish reading the book。

读后任务

任务：用 be going to 写两句、用 will 写两句，说说你这个周末的安排。

参考回答

I am going to clean my room on Saturday morning, because it is messy now. In the afternoon, I will play basketball with my friends. On Sunday, we are going to visit my grandparents, and I will help Grandma water her flowers.

```
I have lived in two cities: Qingdao and Xi'an. They are both famous, but they are very different.
Qingdao is smaller than Xi'an, but the air is cleaner because it is near the sea. Summers in Qingdao are cooler, so many people go there in July and August.
Xi'an is older and has a much longer history. Its walls are taller and wider than the city walls in most places, and the food there is spicier. Life in Qingdao is slower; life in Xi'an is busier but more exciting.
The most important difference for me is family: my grandparents live in Qingdao, and my uncle lives

> in Xi'an. Which city do I like more? It is hard to say. Qingdao is quieter, and Xi'an is livelier. Maybe I will live in both of them one day.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
famous	/'feɪməs/	adj.	有名的
air	/eə/	n.	空气
cooler	/'kuːlə/	adj.	更凉爽的
history	/'hɪstri/	n.	历史
wall	/wɔːl/	n.	墙；城墙
spicier	/'spaɪsiə/	adj.	更辣的
difference	/'dɪfrəns/	n.	差别；不同
grandparent	/'grænpeərənt/	n.	祖父；祖母
slower	/'sləʊə/	adj.	更慢的；更悠闲的
quieter	/'kwaɪətə/	adj.	更安静的
livelier	/'laɪvliə/	adj.	更热闹的
exciting	/ɪk'saɪtɪŋ/	adj.	令人兴奋的

参考译文

我在两座城市生活过：青岛和西安。它们都很有名，却大不相同。青岛比西安小，但空气更干净，因为它靠海。青岛的夏天更凉快，所以很多人七八月去那里。

西安更古老，历史要悠久得多。那里的城墙比大多数地方的城墙更高更宽，食物也更辣。青岛的生活更悠闲；西安的生活更忙碌，却更让人兴奋。

对我而言，最重要的差别是家人：爷爷奶奶住在青岛，叔叔住在西安。我更喜欢哪座城市？很难说。青岛更安静，西安更热闹。也许有一天，我会在两座城市都住一住。

理解题

1. 青岛的夏天怎么样？（细节）

A. 更热

B. 更凉快

C. 和西安一样热

D. 文中没有提到

2. "我"的爷爷奶奶住在哪座城市？（细节）

A. 西安

B. 青岛

C. 北京

D. 南京

3. 为什么很多人七八月去青岛？（推断）

A. 那里的酒店更便宜

B. 那里靠海，夏天更凉快

C. 那里的食物更辣

D. 那里有古城墙

4. 对"我"来说，两座城市最重要的差别是什么？（推断）

A. 天气

B. 亲人分别住在两座城市

C. 城墙的高低

D. 历史的长短

5. 短文中的"livelier"最接近哪个意思？（词义猜测）

A. 更冷清

B. 更热闹

C. 更安静

D. 更古老

参考答案

1. B —— 定位："Summers in Qingdao are cooler."（青岛的夏天更凉快。）

2. B —— 定位："my grandparents live in Qingdao."（爷爷奶奶住在青岛。）

3. B —— 定位："the air is cleaner because it is near the sea"与"Summers in Qingdao are cooler, so many people go there"（靠海、凉爽，所以人们夏天前往）。

4. B —— 定位："The most important difference for me is family."（对"我"来说最重要的差别是家人。）

5. B —— 定位："Qingdao is quieter, and Xi'an is livelier."（quiet 与 lively 形成对比：一边安静，一边热闹。）

语言点

1. 比较级 + than（比……更……）

Qingdao is smaller than Xi'an.（青岛比西安小。）

说明：单音节形容词直接加 -er，多音节形容词用 more，如 more exciting；比较对象由 than 引出。

2. much + 比较级（……得多）

Xi'an has a much longer history.（西安的历史要悠久得多。）

说明：much、far、a lot 可以放在比较级前面加强程度，但不能用 very 修饰比较级。

3. the most + 形容词（最……）

The most important difference for me is family.（对我来说，最重要的差别是家人。）

说明：多音节形容词的最高级用 the most + 原级构成；单音节形容词则用 the + -est，如 the oldest。

读后任务

任务：选择两个你熟悉的地方（两座城市、两个房间或两所学校），用比较级写 4-5 句话。

参考回答

My new school is bigger than my old one, and the playground is wider. The library is brighter, and there are more books in it. But my old school is nearer to my home, and I miss my friends there.

treadmill	/'tredmɪl/	n.	跑步机
hurt	/hɜːt/	v.	疼痛
sign up	/ˌsaɪn 'ʌp/	phr.	报名
pool	/puːl/	n.	游泳池

参考译文

上周六，朋友本第一次带我去健身房。进去之前，他先给我讲了规矩。"你必须带一条毛巾和一瓶水，"他说，"会员必须在门口出示会员卡。"

一开始我很紧张，因为一切对我来说都是陌生的。本把器械一件一件指给我看。"热身之前绝对不能跑，"他说，于是我们拉伸了十分钟。然后我试了跑步机。十分钟后，我的腿疼起来，只好停下来。

本笑着说："第一天不必练太多。"练完之后，我们必须把所有东西放回原处。我很累，但还是报了一个月的会员。下次，我想去试试游泳池。

理解题

1. 会员进健身房时必须做什么？（细节）

A. 在门口出示会员卡

B. 称体重

C. 换上统一服装

D. 填一张表格

2. "我"最后报名了多长时间的会员？（细节）

A. 一个星期

B. 一个月

C. 半年

D. 一年

3. 本为什么说"You must not run before you warm up"？（推断）

A. 跑步机坏了

B. 不热身直接跑步容易受伤

C. 健身房马上要关门了

D. "我"的鞋子不合适

4. 结合"my legs hurt and I had to stop"与本的话，可以推断"我"第一天表现如何？（推断）

A. 体力很好，一点不累

B. 平时缺少锻炼，很快就累了

C. 受了重伤

D. 不喜欢任何运动

5. 短文中的"treadmill"最可能是什么？（词义猜测）

A. 一种健身器械

B. 一条毛巾

C. 一间更衣室

D. 一种饮料

参考答案

1. A —— 定位："Members have to show their cards at the door."（会员须在门口出示会员卡。）

2. B —— 定位："I signed up for a month."（报了一个月。）

3. B —— 定位：热身（warm up）之后再运动是常识；本特别叮嘱"must not"，是为了防止受伤。

4. B —— 定位：跑了十分钟腿就疼得停下来，本还安慰"第一天不必练太多"，说明"我"平时锻炼少。

5. A —— 定位："Then I tried the treadmill. Ten minutes later, my legs hurt."（在健身房里需要用腿的器械，即跑步机。）

语言点

1. must（必须；一定）

You must bring a towel and a bottle of water.（你必须带一条毛巾和一瓶水。）

说明：must 表示说话人认为"必须"做的事，语气强；否定式 must not 表示"禁止"，而不是"不必"。

2. have to / had to（不得不；必须）

Members have to show their cards at the door.（会员必须在门口出示会员卡。）

说明：have to 强调客观规定或情况的要求，有人称和时态变化：she has to、they had to。

3. don't have to（不必）

You don't have to do too much on your first day.（第一天你不必练太多。）

说明：don't have to 表示"没有必要"，语气宽松；它与 must not（禁止）的意思完全不同，切勿混淆。

读后任务

任务：写出你们学校图书馆（或游泳池）的三条规则，用上 must、have to 和 must not。

参考回答

In our school library, you must keep quiet. You have to show your student card at the door. You must not eat or drink inside, and you have to put the books back after reading.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
bicycle	/'baɪsɪkl/	n.	自行车
rode	/rəʊd/	v.	骑（ride 的过去式） disappear	/ˌdɪsə'pɪə/	v.	消失
park	/pɑːk/	v.	停放（车辆）
gone	/gɒn/	adj.	不见了的
everywhere	/'evriweə/	adv.	到处 security guard	/sɪ'kjʊərəti gɑːd/	n.	保安
heavy	/'hevi/	adj.	沉重的
miss	/mɪs/	v.	想念；思念
carry	/'kæri/	v.	载运；携带
notice	/'nəʊtɪs/	n.	启事；告示
neighbourhood	/'neɪbəhʊd/	n.	街区；住宅区

参考译文

我的蓝色自行车做了五年的"好朋友"。它是叔叔在我十岁生日时买的，我每天骑它上学。可是三天前，它不见了。我把它停在图书馆外面，出来的时候它已经无影无踪。

从那以后，我到处找过它：学校附近、市场旁边，甚至河边。我问过同学，也问过保安，可是没有人见过它。这几天我都睡不好，心里沉甸甸的。

妈妈说下个月可以给我买一辆新车，但我还是想念那辆旧车。它载着我风里来雨里去，从来没有让我失望。昨天，我写了"寻物启事"，贴在街区各处。我希望很快有人给我打电话。

理解题

1. 那辆蓝色自行车是谁买的？（细节）

A. 爸爸

B. 妈妈

C. 叔叔

D. 爷爷

2. 自行车是在哪里不见的？（细节）

A. 学校门口

B. 图书馆外面

C. 市场旁边

D. 河边

3. "my heart feels heavy"说明"我"当时的心情如何？（推断）

A. 轻松愉快

B. 难过沉重

C. 愤怒不平

D. 紧张害怕

4. 妈妈说可以买新车，但"我""still miss the old one"。这说明什么？（推断）

A. "我"不喜欢新车

B. 旧自行车承载着感情，不只是交通工具

C. 妈妈其实不想买

D. "我"再也不想骑车了

5. 启事上的"Missing"一词在这里的意思是？（词义猜测）

A. 想念

B. 错过

C. 丢失；寻物

D. 迷路

参考答案

1. C —— 定位："My uncle bought it for my tenth birthday."（叔叔在"我"十岁生日时买的。）

2. B —— 定位："I parked it outside the library, and when I came out, it was gone."（停在图书馆外，出来就不见了。）

3. B —— 定位：heart feels heavy（心里沉甸甸的），加上"睡不好觉"，说明难过。

4. B —— 定位：下一句"It carried me through wind and rain, and it never let me down."（陪伴多年、从不让"我"失望——感情所在。）

5. C —— 定位："I wrote 'Missing' notices and put them up around our neighbourhood."（贴在街区的启事标题写 Missing，即"寻物"。）

语言点

1. have + 过去分词 + since（从……以来一直……）

I have looked for it everywhere since then.（从那以后，我到处找过它。）

说明：since then（从那时起）与现在完成时连用，表示动作从过去某一点持续到现在。

2. let ... down（让……失望）

It never let me down.（它从来没有让我失望过。）

说明：let somebody down 意为"让某人失望"，宾语是代词时要放在中间，如 never let us down。

3. put up（张贴；挂起）

I wrote "Missing" notices and put them up around our neighbourhood.（我写了寻物启事，贴在街区各处。）

说明：put up 表示"张贴、挂起"；宾语是代词时必须放在中间：put them up、put it up。

读后任务

任务：写 4-5 句话，介绍一件对你很重要、如今已经不在身边的东西，说说它对你意味着什么。

参考回答

My best friend gave me a blue pen before he moved to another city. I used it for two years, but I lost it last week. I have looked for it everywhere, and I still miss it. It always reminds me of our happy days after school.

阅读

Tomorrow is a big day for me. I am sixteen, and I want a weekend job at the bookshop near my school. Today, I wrote my first job email.

First, I greeted the manager politely: "Dear Mr Chen, my name is Li Hua." Then I introduced myself in three sentences: I read a lot, I am careful with numbers, and I can work on Saturday mornings. I also asked two questions about the pay and the working hours. At the end, I wrote, "Thank you for your time. I look forward to your reply."

Before I pressed "Send", I checked the email three times for mistakes. My heart beat fast when the message went out. Now I am waiting for the answer. Maybe Mr Chen will say yes, and then my first working day will start next week. Wish me luck!

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
bookshop	/ˈbʊkʃɒp/	n.	书店
weekend	/ˌwiːkˈend/	n.	周末
manager	/ˈmænɪdʒə/	n.	经理
greet	/griːt/	v.	问候；打招呼
politely	/pəˈlaɪtli/	adv.	礼貌地
introduce	/ˌɪntrəˈdjuːs/	v.	介绍
careful	/ˈkeəfl/	adj.	细心的；小心的
pay	/peɪ/	n.	工资
reply	/rɪˈplaɪ/	n.	回复
press	/pres/	v.	按；压
mistake	/mɪˈsteɪk/	n.	错误
beat	/biːt/	v.	（心脏）跳动
luck	/lʌk/	n.	运气

参考译文

明天对我来说是重要的一天。我十六岁，想在书店找一份周末的工作。今天，我写出了人生第一封求职邮件。

首先，我有礼貌地问候经理："亲爱的陈先生，我叫李华。"然后我用三句话介绍自己：我爱读书，做事细心，星期六上午可以上班。我还问了两个问题，是关于工资和工作时间的。最后我写道："感谢您抽时间阅读。期待您的回复。"

在按下"发送"之前，我把邮件检查了三遍，看有没有错误。邮件发出去的那一刻，我的心怦怦直跳。现在我在等待答复。也许陈先生会答应，那样的话，我的第一个工作日下周就开始了。祝我好运吧！

理解题

1. "我"想在什么地方找周末的工作？（细节）

A. 咖啡店

B. 学校附近的书店

C. 超市

D. 快餐店

2. 按下"发送"之前，"我"把邮件检查了几遍？（细节）

A. 一遍

B. 两遍

C. 三遍

D. 四遍

3. "我"在邮件里写"I am careful with numbers"，这对书店工作有什么帮助？（推断）

A. 说明"我"算账细心，可以帮忙收银、整理订单

B. 说明"我"数学考试成绩很好

C. 说明"我"会修理计算器

D. 说明"我"喜欢记书名

4. "My heart beat fast when the message went out"说明"我"当时怎样？（推断）

A. 身体不舒服

B. 又紧张又期待

C. 后悔写了这封邮件

D. 完全不把这事放在心上

5. 短文中的"look forward to"最可能是什么意思？（词义猜测）

A. 向前走

B. 回头看

C. 期待

D. 原谅

参考答案

1. B —— 定位："I want a weekend job at the bookshop near my school."（学校附近的书店。）

2. C —— 定位："I checked the email three times for mistakes."（检查了三遍。）

3. A —— 定位：书店工作常涉及收钱、记账，"对数字细心"正是这份工作需要的品质。

4. B —— 定位：心跳加快（heart beat fast）多因紧张或激动；结合"Now I am waiting for the answer"可知是期待。

5. C —— 定位："Thank you for your time. I look forward to your reply."（感谢阅读、盼复——求职邮件的常用结尾。）

语言点

1. introduce oneself（自我介绍）

Then I introduced myself in three sentences.（然后我用三句话介绍了自己。）

说明：introduce oneself 意为"自我介绍"，反身代词随主语变化：myself、yourself、himself。

2. look forward to + 名词（期待……）

I look forward to your reply.（期待您的回复。）

说明：英文邮件的常用结尾；注意 to 是介词，后面接名词或动名词，如 look forward to hearing from you。

3. check ... for ...（检查……有没有……）

I checked the email three times for mistakes.（我把邮件检查了三遍，看有没有错误。）

说明：check A for B 意为"检查 A 是否有 B"，如 check the answer for spelling mistakes。

读后任务

任务：假设你想暑假在一家咖啡店做兼职，写一封 4-5 句的求职邮件：称呼、自我介绍、请求、结尾。

参考回答

Dear Ms Wang, my name is Zhang Lei, and I am a student at No. 5 Middle School. I am polite and careful, and I can work on Sunday mornings. Could I have a part-time job in your coffee shop this summer? I look forward to your reply.

Lin Fang had not visited Yunxi, the small town where her grandmother grew up, for ten years. The bus that carried her from the city stopped at a stone bridge which had watched the river for two hundred years. She walked down a street whose old name, Long Street, was still carved on a wooden sign.
The shop that her grandmother once described was still there. It sold tea, cloth and hand-made sugar, and the owner, Mr. Qian, was the grandson of the man who had opened it in 1936. "You look like the girl who writes letters to me," he said, smiling. Lin Fang laughed, because she was indeed the person who had written to him every Spring Festival on behalf of her grandmother.
They drank tea in a room whose windows faced the river. Mr. Qian told stories about people who had long left the town: a painter who married a teacher, a boatman whose songs the children still remembered. Lin Fang listened and wrote notes, because she wanted to write an article that would keep these stories alive.
When the bus left that evening, she looked back at the bridge which connected her to everything that her grandmother had loved. The town was quiet, but its stories were not.

生词表

quiet	/ˈkwaɪət/	adj.	安静的

参考译文

林芳已经有十年没去云溪镇了，那是她祖母长大的小镇。载着她离开城市的公共汽车，停在了一座守望着河水两百年的石桥旁。她沿着一条街走下去，这条街的旧名"长街"仍刻在一块木牌上。

祖母当年描述过的那家店铺还在。店里卖茶叶、布料和手工做的糖，店主钱先生正是 1936 年开店那人的孙子。"你看起来像那个给我写信的姑娘。"他笑着说。林芳笑了，因为她正是每年春节替祖母给钱先生写信的人。

他们在窗子朝着河的房间里喝茶。钱先生讲起早已离开小镇的人们：一位娶了教师的画家，一位孩子们至今仍记得其歌声的船夫。林芳一边听一边记笔记，因为她想写一篇文章，让这些故事继续活下去。

当晚公共汽车开动时，她回头望着那座把她与祖母所爱的一切连在一起的石桥。小镇很安静，但它的故事并不安静。

理解题

1. How long had Lin Fang been away from Yunxi before this visit?（细节）

A. Two years.

B. Ten years.

C. Twenty years.

D. Six months.

2. What does Mr. Qian's shop sell?（细节）

A. Tea, cloth and hand-made sugar.

B. Books, paper and ink.

C. Tea and fresh bread.

D. Cloth and old photographs.

3. Why did Lin Fang write to Mr. Qian every Spring Festival?（推断）

A. She wanted to practise writing letters.

B. She was keeping in touch with him on behalf of her grandmother.

C. Mr. Qian paid her for the letters.

D. She was collecting stories for her school homework.

4. Why did Lin Fang listen carefully and write notes?（推断）

A. She planned to write an article to keep the town's stories alive.

B. She wanted to open a shop like Mr. Qian's.

C. She was preparing for a history exam.

D. She hoped to sell the stories to Mr. Qian.

5. The word "carved" in Paragraph 1 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. painted in bright colours

B. cut into wood or stone

C. hidden behind a wall

D. printed by a machine

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 1 段 "Lin Fang had not visited Yunxi ... for ten years"（明确交代十年未访）。

2. A —— 定位：第 2 段 "It sold tea, cloth and hand-made sugar"（店内商品逐一列出）。

3. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "on behalf of her grandmother"（替祖母写信，即代祖母保持联系）。

4. A —— 定位：第 3 段 "she wanted to write an article that would keep these stories alive"（记笔记是为写文章保存故事）。

5. B —— 定位：第 1 段 "was still carved on a wooden sign"（旧名能留存于木牌之上，应是"刻"上去的）。

语言点

1. where 引导定语从句（先行词为地点）

The shop where my mother worked has become a museum.（我母亲曾经工作过的那家店已经变成博物馆。）

说明：先行词是地点、从句缺状语时用 where（相当于 in which）；本篇 "the small town where her grandmother grew up" 同此结构。

2. whose 表所属关系（可指物）

She walked down a street whose old name was still carved on a wooden sign.（她走过一条街，街的旧名仍刻在一块木牌上。）

说明：whose 后接名词，既可修饰人也可修饰物，比 "the old name of which" 更自然，是介绍人物、地点的高分句型。

3. keep + 宾语 + 形容词（使……保持某状态）

She wanted to write an article that would keep these stories alive.（她想写一篇文章，让这些故事保持鲜活。）

说明：keep sth alive 表示"使某事物延续、不消失"，alive 作宾语补足语；同类搭配：keep the door open、keep the room clean。

读后任务

任务：以 "An Old Place I Know" 为题写 4-5 句话，介绍一个你熟悉的老地方，至少使用两个定语从句（where、which 或 whose）。

参考回答

The old teahouse where my grandfather used to meet his friends still stands at the end of our street. The tea which they serve there has a smoky taste that visitors never forget. Its owner, whose father opened the teahouse in 1978, knows every customer by name. When I sitby the window, I feel that time slows down. That is the place where my family gathers everySpring Festival.

第24篇 我的志愿者夏天（My Summer as a Volunteer）

Last July, I spent six weeks as a volunteer at a small primary school in the mountains. When I first arrived, the school had only eleven students and two teachers, and one classroom had no roof because a storm had damaged it in June.

My job was simple: I taught English in the morning and played games with the children after lunch.

At first, I was nervous because I had never taught anyone before. The children, however, welcomed me warmly. Although their English was limited, they were not afraid to make mistakes, and they repeated every new word with huge smiles.

After the lessons, I helped the teachers repair the library. We carried books up the hill, painted the walls blue and built two new shelves. Before I left, the students gave me a notebook which was full of their drawings. On the first page, someone had written, "Thank you for the summer that you gave us."

I went to the mountains to teach, but in the end I was the one who learned the most. Now, whenever

I feel tired of city life, I remember those mornings when the children read English words to the mountains, and I find my energy again.

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
mistake	/mɪ'steɪk/	n.	错误
repeat	/rɪ'pi:t/	v.	重复
repair	/rɪ'peə/	v.	修理，整修
shelf	/ʃelf/	n.	架子，搁板
drawing	/'drɔ:ɪŋ/	n.	图画
energy	/'enədʒi/	n.	活力，精力
welcome	/'welkəm/	v.	欢迎
whenever	/wen'evə/	conj.	每当，无论何时

参考译文

去年七月，我在山区一所小学做了六周志愿者。我刚到时，学校只有十一个学生和两位老师；由于六月的一场暴风雨，有一间教室连屋顶都没有了。

我的工作很简单：上午教英语，午饭后陪孩子们做游戏。起初我很紧张，因为此前我从未教过任何人。不过，孩子们热情地欢迎了我。虽然他们的英语很有限，但他们不怕犯错，总是笑眯眯地重复每一个新词。

下课后，我帮老师们整修图书室。我们把书搬上山坡，把墙刷成蓝色，还做了两个新书架。临走之前，学生们送给我一本画满图画的笔记本。第一页上有人写道："谢谢你给我们的这个夏天。"

我进山是为了教书，但到最后，学到最多的却是我自己。如今每当我对城市生活感到厌倦，就会想起孩子们朝着群山朗读英语单词的那些早晨，于是我又重新充满了力量。

理解题

1. How many students were there in the school?（细节）

A. Eleven.

B. Twenty.

C. Two.

D. Six.

2. What did the writer do after lunch every day?（细节）

A. Repaired the library.

B. Slept in the classroom.

C. Played games with the children.

D. Wrote the teaching plan.

3. Why was the writer nervous at first?（推断）

A. The children refused to speak to her.

B. The classroom had no roof.

C. She had never taught anyone before.

D. The bus ride to the mountains was long.

4. What does the writer mean by "I was the one who learned the most"?（推断）

A. The children's English was better than hers.

B. The volunteer experience taught her as much as she taught the children.

C. She learned to build shelves and paint walls.

D. The teachers gave her extra English lessons.

5. The word "limited" in Paragraph 2 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. not very good or wide-ranging

B. allowed for one child only

C. perfect and fluent

D. written on paper

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "the school had only eleven students and two teachers"（人数直接给出）。

2. C —— 定位：第 2 段 "played games with the children after lunch"（午后的安排明确）。

3. C —— 定位：第 2 段 "I was nervous because I had never taught anyone before"（紧张源自零教学经验）。

4. B —— 定位：末段 "I went to the mountains to teach, but in the end I was the one who learned the most"（教书与被教育的对比）。

5. A —— 定位：第 2 段下文 "they were not afraid to make mistakes"（水平有限但敢开口，故 limited 指程度不高）。

语言点

1. spend + 时间 + doing sth

She spent the whole weekend cleaning the house.（她花了整个周末打扫房子。）

说明：spend time/money (in) doing sth，介词 in 常省略；本篇 "I spent six weeks as a volunteer" 后接介词短语，注意不要写成 spend to do。

2. although 引导让步状语从句

Although their English was limited, they were not afraid to make mistakes.（虽然他们的英语很有限，但他们不怕犯错。）

说明：although 与 but 不能同时使用，主句前不加 but；让步从句是叙事文表达"转折中的坚持"的常用手段。

3. be tired of (doing) sth / whenever

Whenever I feel tired of city life, I remember those mornings.（每当厌倦城市生活，我就想起那些早晨。）

说明：be tired of 后接名词或动名词，表示"对……厌倦"；whenever 相当于 no matter when，引导时间状语从句，比 when 语气更强。

读后任务

任务：写一段 4-6 句话的短文，介绍一次教会你某件事的经历，至少使用一个 although 从句和一个 when 或 after 引导的时间状语从句。

参考回答

Last winter, I joined the school choir although I could hardly sing. When the teacher first heard my voice, she smiled and gave me the quietest part. After a month of practice, we won second place in the city competition. I learned that showing up matters more than being perfect, and now I am not afraid to try new things.

loneliness	/ˈləʊnlinəs/	n.	孤独
lifetime	/ˈlaɪftaɪm/	n.	一生，终生

参考译文

二十年前，人们几乎在本地商店购买一切，购物要花掉整整一个下午。今天，这些东西大多在网上订购，两天之内就被送到家门口。这一变化被称为我们这代人最大的购物革命，这一点很难反驳。

有些变化显然是积极的。价格几秒钟内就能比较，因此千百万家庭省下了钱。住在小城镇的人不再局限于家附近的商店，因为几乎所有东西都能在互联网上找到。以前只在大城市出售的商品，如今也被送到村庄。

然而，并非一切都得到了改善。许多街道上的小店已经关闭，曾在那里工作的人不得不另找工作。此外，由于包裹被大量使用，每天有巨量的塑料被丢弃。其中一部分被回收，但大部分没有。

在我看来，网上购物应被看作一种工具，而不是英雄或恶人。用得明智，它省时省钱；用得随意，它制造浪费与孤独。真正的问题不在于我们是否网购，而在于怎样网购。

理解题

1. How soon can most goods arrive after they are ordered online?（细节）

A. Within two days.

B. Within two hours.

C. Within a week.

D. Within two months.

2. What happens to most of the plastic from packages?（细节）

A. It is recycled carefully.

B. It is thrown away and not recycled.

C. It is collected by small shops.

D. It is returned to the factories.

3. Why have some people had to find new jobs?（推断）

A. They wanted to move to big cities.

B. The small shops where they worked have been closed.

C. Their factories were moved to villages.

D. Plastic packaging hurt their health.

4. What does the writer mean by calling online shopping "a tool rather than a hero or a villain"?（推断）

A. Online shopping is too expensive for most families.

B. Online shopping is neither good nor bad by itself; how people use it matters.

C. Online shopping will soon replace all shops.

D. Only clever people should be allowed to shop online.

5. The word "recycled" in Paragraph 3 probably means ____.（词义猜测）

A. collected and processed for use again

B. thrown into the sea

C. sold at a higher price

D. locked in warehouses

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "delivered to our doors within two days"（送达时间明确）。

2. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "Some of it is recycled, but most of it is not"（大部分未被回收）。

3. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "Small shops have been closed ..., and the people who worked there have had to find new jobs"（关店与失业的因果链）。

4. B —— 定位：末段 "When it is used wisely ... when it is used carelessly ..."（好坏取决于使用方式）。

5. A —— 定位：第 3 段该词与 "thrown away" 相对出现，指垃圾被重新加工再利用。

语言点

1. 情态动词 + 被动语态

Prices can be compared in seconds.（价格几秒钟之内就能比较。）

说明：can、should、must + be + 过去分词，构成情态被动式，不必说出动作执行者，议论中使用它可使表述更客观。

2. be limited to（被限制在……范围）

People are no longer limited to the shops near their homes.（人们不再局限于家附近的商店。）

说明：be limited to + 名词，to 为介词；no longer 加强今昔对比，是议论文"变化类"话题的高频搭配。

3. rather than（是前者而非后者）

Online shopping should be seen as a tool rather than a hero.（网上购物应被看作工具，而不是英雄。）

说明：rather than 连接两个并列成分；see ... as ... 为固定搭配，"see A as B rather than C" 是表达评价的利落句式。

读后任务

任务：用至少三个被动语态句子，写 5 句话说明科技如何改变了你家的日常生活。

参考回答

In my family, dinner is often ordered online and delivered within thirty minutes. Bills are paid by phone, so nobody queues at the bank any more. My grandmother's blood pressure is checked by a smart watch, and the results are sent to her doctor. Old photos are stored in the cloud, so they will not be lost. Technology has changed our life quietly but completely.

I still remember the day when I failed my first speech competition. I was fourteen, and I had prepared for three weeks. My father helped me write the speech, and my mother listened to it every evening until she could repeat it herself.

On the morning of the competition, everything went wrong. The bus was late, so I arrived only ten minutes before the event started. My hands were shaking, and my mind went completely empty when I walked onto the stage. I read my speech like a robot, forgot two important paragraphs, and finally left the stage without looking at anyone.

I did not win, and worse still, I could not even finish well. That evening, I told my parents that I would never speak in public again. My father said nothing at first. Then he said, "Failure is a teacher that many people refuse to meet. You have already met her, so you are ahead of them."

Those words did not remove my sadness, but they changed what the failure meant to me. The next year, I entered the same competition. I did not win that time either, but I finished, and I understood that courage is not the absence of fear but the decision to continue.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
competition	/ˌkɒmpə'tɪʃn/	n.	比赛，竞赛
prepare	/prɪ'peə/	v.	准备
shake	/ʃeɪk/	v.	发抖，摇动
stage	/steɪdʒ/	n.	舞台
robot	/'rəʊbɒt/	n.	机器人
paragraph	/'pærəgrɑːf/	n.	段落
public	/'pʌblɪk/	n.	公众，公开场合
refuse	/rɪ'fjuːz/	v.	拒绝
ahead	/ə'hed/	adv.	领先，在前 sadness	/'sædnəs/	n.	悲伤
courage	/'kʌrɪdʒ/	n.	勇气
absence	/'æbsəns/	n.	缺乏，缺席
decision	/dɪ'sɪʒn/	n.	决定
enter	/'entə/	v.	报名参加
empty	/'empti/	adj.	空的

参考译文

我仍然记得第一次演讲比赛失败的那天。那年我十四岁，为比赛准备了三个星期。爸爸帮我写演讲稿，妈妈每天晚上听我练习，直到她自己都能背下来。

比赛那天早上，一切都不对劲。公共汽车晚点了，我赶到时离比赛开始只剩十分钟。我的双手发抖，走上舞台的那一刻脑子一片空白。我像机器人一样念稿子，忘了两个重要的段落，最后没有看任何人一眼就走下了舞台。

我没有赢，更糟的是，连完场都算不上顺利。那天晚上，我告诉父母自己再也不会当众讲话了。父亲起初什么也没说，然后他说："失败是一位许多人拒绝见面的老师。你已经见过她了，所以你走在了他们前面。"

这些话并没有消除我的悲伤，却改变了这次失败对我的意义。第二年，我报名参加了同一项比赛。那次我也没有获奖，但我完成了比赛，并且明白了：勇气不是没有恐惧，而是继续前行的决定。

理解题

1. How long had the writer prepared for the competition?（细节）

A. Three weeks.

B. Three days.

C. Three months.

D. Three years.

2. What happened when the writer walked onto the stage?（细节）

A. The judges stopped her at once.

B. Her mind went completely empty.

C. Her mother was shouting in the hall.

D. The microphone did not work.

3. Why did the father say "you are ahead of them"?（推断）

A. Because the writer arrived earlier than the other speakers.

B. Because failure is a teacher many people refuse to meet, and the writer had already faced it.

C. Because the writer would surely win the next year.

D. Because the judges liked the writer's speech.

4. What did the writer learn from entering the competition again?（推断）

A. Speech competitions are unfair.

B. Courage means acting despite fear, not having no fear.

C. Preparing for three weeks is never enough.

D. Judges usually make wrong decisions.

5. The phrase "went completely empty" in Paragraph 2 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. became totally blank, with no thoughts left

B. became full of new ideas

C. changed to another language

D. fell onto the floor

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "I had prepared for three weeks"（备赛时长直接给出）。

2. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "my mind went completely empty when I walked onto the stage"（上台瞬间大脑空白）。

3. B —— 定位：第 3 段父亲的话 "Failure is a teacher that many people refuse to meet"（直面失败者已领先于逃避者）。

4. B —— 定位：末段 "courage is not the absence of fear but the decision to continue"（勇气在于坚持而非无畏）。

5. A —— 定位：第 2 段上下文"双手发抖、忘掉段落"，说明紧张得什么也想不起来。

语言点

1. go + 形容词（变得，多指变坏）

My mind went completely empty.（我的大脑一片空白。）

说明：go + adj. 表示状态变化，常指不如意的变化，如 go wrong、go blind；本篇 "everything went wrong" 同此结构。

2. worse still（更糟的是）

I did not win, and worse still, I could not even finish well.（我没有赢，更糟的是，连完场都不顺利。）

说明：worse still 作插入语，相当于 what was worse，用于补充更糟糕的情况，是叙事中的情感推进器。

3. not ... but ...（不是……而是……）

Courage is not the absence of fear but the decision to continue.（勇气不是没有恐惧，而是继续前行的决定。）

说明：并列结构否定前者、肯定后者，注意两个并列成分形式对等；absence 后接 of 短语表示"没有……"。

读后任务

任务：用至少两个含 so 或 but 的并列句，写 5 句话叙述一次失败经历和你的收获。

参考回答

Last term, I failed the maths exam, so I felt too ashamed to tell my parents. They found out the truth themselves, but they did not blame me. Instead, my mother helped me make a study plan, and my father checked it every week. I practised one extra hour every day, so my score rose by twenty points. Failure hurts, but it can also push us forward.

Last Friday, our school held its annual debate, and the topic made everyone talk: Should students be allowed to bring phones to school? Our class chose me and Wang Hao as its speakers, so we had to think carefully about both sides of the question.

Before the debate, I asked our English teacher whether we could use facts from her lessons. She replied that statistics were powerful, but she reminded me that the judges also cared about logic. Wang Hao believed that the other side would focus on distraction, so he prepared examples which showed that phones could be learning tools too.

The debate itself was more exciting than we had expected. The other team argued that phones would make students lazy and that face-to-face friendship mattered more. I answered that rules, not phones, decided behaviour, and I asked them whether they really thought that all students were the same. The audience laughed, and even our opponents smiled.

In the end, the judges announced that we had won by two points. But what I remember most is what our teacher said afterwards: "A good debater is not the one who never loses, but the one who knows why the other side believes what it believes." That sentence, I think, taught me more than the prize did.

参考译文

上周五，学校举行了一年一度的辩论赛，辩题让所有人议论纷纷：应当允许学生带手机上学吗？我们班选了我和王浩当辩手，因此我们必须把问题的两面都想清楚。

赛前，我问英语老师能否引用她课上的事实数据。她回答说数据很有说服力，但她提醒我，评委同样看重逻辑。王浩认为对方会抓住"分心"做文章，于是他准备了一些例子，证明手机也可以是学习工具。

辩论本身比我们预想的更激烈。对方辩友提出手机会让学生变懒，还说面对面的友谊更重要。我回应说，决定行为的是规则而不是手机，并反问他们是否真觉得所有学生都一模一样。观众笑了起来，连对手也笑了。

最后，评委宣布我们以两分优势获胜。但我记得最清楚的，是赛后老师说的话："优秀的辩手不是从不输的人，而是懂得对方为什么相信他们所信的人。"我想，这句话教给我的比奖状更多。

理解题

1. What was the topic of the debate?（细节）

A. Whether students should be allowed to bring phones to school.

B. Whether the school should hold a sports meeting.

C. Whether statistics should be used in debates.

D. Whether the judges' decision was fair.

2. What did the judges announce at the end?（细节）

A. The debate would be held again next month.

B. The other team had won by two points.

C. The writer's team had won by two points.

D. Both teams would share the prize.

3. Why did Wang Hao prepare examples about phones as learning tools?（推断）

A. He expected the other side to focus on the "distraction" argument.

B. He wanted to sell phones to his classmates.

C. He thought the judges knew nothing about phones.

D. He hoped to end the debate early.

4. What does the teacher's last sentence suggest?（推断）

A. Debating is useless for students.

B. Losing a debate always hurts friendship.

C. True debating skill includes understanding why the other side believes what it believes.

D. Judges care more about speed than logic.

5. The word "opponents" in Paragraph 3 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. the judges of the debate

B. members of the other debating team

C. teachers of the school

D. listeners in the hall

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "Should students be allowed to bring phones to school?"（辩题原句出现）。

2. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "the judges announced that we had won by two points"（结果直接给出）。

3. A —— 定位：第 2 段 "Wang Hao believed that the other side would focus on distraction"（预判对方主攻点，提前备好反驳）。

4. C —— 定位：末段引语 "knows why the other side believes what it believes"（理解对方所信才是真功力）。

5. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "even our opponents smiled" 与前文 "The other team" 呼应，指辩论的另一方。

语言点

1. ask + whether 宾语从句

I asked our teacher whether we could use facts from her lessons.（我问老师能否引用她课上的事实数据。）

说明：一般疑问句变宾语从句用 whether 或 if 引导，从句必须用陈述语序；本篇还有 "asked them whether they really thought ..."。

2. believe / argue / reply + that 宾语从句

The other team argued that phones would make students lazy.（对方辩友坚持认为手机会让学生变懒。）

说明：转述观点常用 believe、think、argue、reply、announce 等 + that 从句；从句里的 will 通常变为 would。

3. remind sb that ...（提醒某人……）

She reminded me that the judges also cared about logic.（她提醒我，评委也看重逻辑。）

说明：remind sb that = 提醒某人注意某事，注意时态后移；同类转述动词还有 tell、warn、explain。

读后任务

任务：把课堂上或小组里的一段对话转述给朋友，写 4-5 句话，至少使用三个宾语从句（that、whether 或 what 引导）。

参考回答

In class today, our teacher asked whether we had finished the group project. Li Ming replied that our poster was almost ready. Then the teacher told us that the presentation would be moved to Friday. I whispered to my deskmate that we still needed more practice, and she agreed that we should rehearse after school.

```
Yesterday, I found an old photograph of Dongmen Street, where my grandfather opened a bicycle shop in 1980. In the picture, the street was narrower, the trees were taller, and a red clock tower stood at the corner. My grandfather was fixing a bike in front of the shop, and his hair was still black.

Grandfather says the street was friendlier then. Neighbours knew each other by name, children played until dark, and the smell of fresh bread came from the bakery which faced the tower. Everything moved more slowly, but people had more time for one another.

The street today is busier and brighter. The clock tower has been replaced by a glass mall, the bakery has become a phone shop, and cars now park where the children used to play. My grandfather's shop was sold ten years ago, and the space is now a coffee house which serves very expensive drinks.

Some people say that the old street was better, but I am not so sure. Life was slower, yet it was also harder: there were fewer hospitals, and winters felt colder. Perhaps the truth is simple — the street has changed, and both the photograph and the coffee house hold something that we should not forget.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
photograph	/ˈfəʊtəgrɑːf/	n.	照片
narrow	/ˈnærəʊ/	adj.	狭窄的
tower	/ˈtaʊə/	n.	塔
fix	/fɪks/	v.	修理
neighbour	/ˈneɪbə/	n.	邻居
bakery	/ˈbeɪkəri/	n.	面包店
smell	/smel/	n.	气味

参考译文

昨天，我翻到一张东门街的老照片。1980 年，我的祖父曾在那条街上开了一家自行车铺。照片里，街道更窄，树木更高，转角处立着一座红色的钟楼。祖父正在店门前修一辆自行车，头发还是黑的。

祖父说，那时的街道更有人情味。邻居们彼此叫得出名字，孩子们一直玩到天黑，正对钟楼的面包店飘出新鲜面包的香味。一切都慢一些，但人们有更多时间留给彼此。

如今的街道更热闹也更明亮。钟楼被一座玻璃商场取代，面包店变成了手机店，汽车停在过去孩子们玩耍的地方。祖父的店铺十年前卖掉了，现在的铺面是一家卖贵价饮品的咖啡馆。

有人说老街更好，但我不太确定。那时生活更慢，可也更艰难：医院更少，冬天感觉更冷。也许道理很简单——街道变了，而老照片和咖啡馆各存着一样我们不该忘记的东西。

理解题

1. What did the writer's grandfather do in 1980?（细节）

A. He opened a bicycle shop on Dongmen Street.

B. He built a red clock tower.

C. He opened a bakery near the tower.

D. He sold photographs to neighbours.

2. What now stands where the clock tower used to be?（细节）

A. A glass mall.

B. A phone shop.

C. A coffee house.

D. A bicycle shop.

3. Why is the writer "not so sure" that the old street was better?（推断）

A. The old photograph was unclear.

B. Life then was also harder: fewer hospitals and colder winters.

C. The grandfather disliked the old street.

D. There were too many bicycles in the street.

4. What does the last sentence suggest?（推断）

A. Both the past and the present hold things worth remembering.

B. Photographs are more valuable than coffee houses.

C. The street should be rebuilt exactly as it was.

D. Old things should always be thrown away.

5. The word "replaced" in Paragraph 3 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. repaired after a storm

B. taken the place of

C. painted a different colour

D. moved to another street

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "where my grandfather opened a bicycle shop in 1980"（时间与事件对应）。

2. A —— 定位：第 3 段 "The clock tower has been replaced by a glass mall"（钟楼原址现为玻璃商场）。

3. B —— 定位：末段 "Life was slower, yet it was also harder: there were fewer hospitals, and winters felt colder"（过去亦有艰难处）。

4. A —— 定位：末段 "both the photograph and the coffee house hold something that we should not forget"（新旧各有所存）。

5. B —— 定位：第 3 段钟楼的位置如今是玻璃商场，replace 即"取代、替换"。

语言点

1. 比较级并列描写今昔

The street was narrower, the trees were taller, and a red clock tower stood at the corner.（街道更窄，树更高，转角处立着一座红色钟楼。）

说明：几个"主系表 + 比较级"小句用 and 或逗号并列，是今昔对比描写的经典句式，比单独罗列形容词更有画面感。

2. used to do（过去常常，如今不再）

Cars now park where the children used to play.（如今汽车停在过去孩子们玩耍的地方。）

说明：used to + 动词原形表示过去的习惯或状态，隐含"现在已经不是这样"；注意与 be used to doing（习惯于）区分。

3. has been replaced by（现完被动：被……取代）

The clock tower has been replaced by a glass mall.（钟楼已被一座玻璃商场取代。）

说明：现在完成时被动语态强调变化及其留下的结果；主动句为 replace A with/by B，写作中被动形式更突出变化对象。

读后任务

任务：写 5 句话对比一个你熟悉的地方的过去与现在，至少使用两个比较级和一个 used to。

参考回答

My hometown is much bigger than it was twenty years ago. The river, which used to smell terrible, is now clean enough for fishing. There are more supermarkets, but fewer cinemas, because most people watch films online. The old market used to open at dawn, while today's malls open at ten. I love the new convenience, yet I sometimes miss those noisy mornings.

阅读

If you walk through a city in summer, you will notice that some streets feel five degrees cooler than others. The difference is usually made by trees, and if we look closer, we will find that urban trees do far more than look pretty.

Trees work like natural air conditioners. When sunlight heats the ground, roads and buildings store the heat, and cities become hotter and hotter. Trees block that heat and release water through their leaves, so the air around them stays cooler. Studies show that a street with big trees can be three to five degrees cooler than a street without them.

Trees also protect our health. If a city plants more trees, its air will become cleaner, because leaves catch dust and take in harmful gases. Doctors report that patients recover faster when they can see green views from their windows, and children who play in green parks exercise more.

Of course, trees cost money, and someone must water and prune them. But if we cut them down to save that money, we will pay more in other ways: more electricity for cooling, more hospital visits, and more unhappy citizens. If a city truly wants to make life better for its people, planting trees is one of the cheapest and wisest steps it can take.

生词表

单词	音标	词性	中文释义
urban	/ˈɜːbən/	adj.	城市的

prune	/pruːn/	v.	修剪
electricity	/ɪˌlekˈtrɪsəti/	n.	电，电力
citizen	/ˈsɪtɪzn/	n.	市民
degree	/dɪˈgriː/	n.	度，程度

参考译文

如果你在夏天穿行于城市，你会发现有些街道比别处凉爽五度。这种差别通常由树造成；而且只要看得再仔细些，你就会发现城市树木远不止好看。

树像天然的空调。阳光把地面晒热时，马路和建筑把热量储存起来，城市便越来越热。树遮挡热量，并通过叶子释放水分，所以它们周围的空气保持凉爽。研究表明，有大树的街道比没有树的街道凉快三到五度。

树也守护我们的健康。如果一座城市多种树，空气会变得更干净，因为叶子能吸附灰尘、吸收有害气体。医生报告说，病人若能从窗口望见绿色，康复得更快；在绿色公园里玩耍的孩子运动得也更多。

当然，种树要花钱，还得有人浇水、修剪。但如果我们为了省下这笔钱而砍掉树木，就会在别处付出更多：更多的制冷用电、更多的看病开销，以及更多不快乐的市民。如果一座城市真心想让人们生活得更好，种树就是它能采取的最便宜也最明智的办法之一。

理解题

1. How much cooler can a street with big trees be than a street without them?（细节）

A. Three to five degrees.

B. Ten to fifteen degrees.

C. About one degree.

D. Twenty degrees.

2. What do leaves do for the air?（细节）

A. They catch dust and take in harmful gases.

B. They produce more sunlight.

C. They cool the cars passing by.

D. They clean the water underground.

3. Why will a city "pay more in other ways" if it cuts down its trees?（推断）

A. Trees are the main source of electricity.

B. Without trees, cooling, healthcare and happiness all cost more.

C. The city must buy fruit from other towns.

D. Citizens will move to villages.

4. What is the writer's main purpose in this passage?（推断）

A. To describe one hot summer in the city.

B. To teach readers how to plant a tree.

C. To persuade readers that planting trees is a cheap and wise step for cities.

D. To criticise doctors and hospitals.

5. The word "prune" in Paragraph 4 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. water the flowers

B. cut off dead branches

C. count the leaves

D. pick the fruit

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 2 段 "three to five degrees cooler than a street without them"（温差数字直接给出）。

2. A —— 定位：第 3 段 "leaves catch dust and take in harmful gases"（树叶的两项功能）。

3. B —— 定位：末段 "more electricity for cooling, more hospital visits, and more unhappy citizens"（三项代价对应省钱与福祉）。

4. C —— 定位：全文围绕降温、净气、健康展开，末段 "one of the cheapest and wisest steps" 点明主旨。

5. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "water and prune them" 并列，均为养护树木的动作，prune 指修剪枝条。

语言点

1. 条件句第一型（真实条件）

If a city plants more trees, its air will become cleaner.（如果一座城市多种树，空气就会变得更干净。）

说明：if 从句用一般现在时，主句用 will + 动词原形，表示对将来的真实推测；注意从句里不可直接加 will。

2. do far more than + 动词原形

Urban trees do far more than look pretty.（城市树木的作用远不止好看。）

说明：more than 后接动词原形表示"远不止做某事"，far 加强程度；同类表达：do more harm than good（弊大于利）。

3. take in（吸收）

Leaves catch dust and take in harmful gases.（树叶吸附灰尘，并吸收有害气体。）

说明：take in ＝ absorb，与 catch 并列刻画树叶功能；科普与议论文中这类"动词对"能让描述更立体。

读后任务

任务：以 "If Our School Planted More Trees" 为题写 5 句话短文，至少使用两个第一型条件句。

参考回答

If our school plants more trees, the playground will be cooler in summer. If we have green corners, more students will read outside after lunch. If the air becomes cleaner, students with breathing problems will feel better. Birds will come if we plant fruit trees. If everyone waters one young tree each week, our campus will turn into a small forest.

第30篇 我如何开始学英语（How I Started Learning English）

从一首英文歌到每天三句日记，作者靠小事养成语言习惯。本篇不定式与动名词密集。

People often ask me how I began to learn English, so let me share my story. When I was ten, my father brought home an old cassette player and a box of English songs. At first, I only wanted to listen to the music, but soon I found myself trying to understand the words.

My first goal was simple: to sing one song without stopping. I practised every evening, and to remember the lyrics, I wrote them on cards and put the cards on my bedroom wall. My mother suggested watching cartoons with English subtitles, and although I understood very little in the beginning, I kept watching because the stories were fun.

Real progress came when I started keeping an English diary. Writing three sentences a night seemed easy, but it taught me to think directly in English instead of translating everything. Later, I joined the school's English corner, where I learned that making mistakes is part of learning, not the end of it.

When I look back, I realise that I never succeeded by studying hard for one dramatic night. I improved by doing small things every day: listening on the bus, reading before bed, speaking without fear. If you want to master a language, do not look for a secret method — look for a habit that you can keep.

参考译文

人们常问我是怎样开始学英语的，那就让我讲讲自己的故事。十岁那年，爸爸带回一台旧卡带机和一盒英文歌。起初我只是想听听音乐，可不久便发现自己开始想弄懂那些歌词。

我的第一个目标很简单：不停顿地唱完一首歌。我每晚练习；为了记住歌词，我把它们写在卡片上，贴在卧室的墙上。妈妈建议我看带英文字幕的动画片，虽然一开始几乎看不懂，但因为故事有趣，我一直坚持看下去。

真正的进步始于我开始写英语日记。每晚写三句话似乎很容易，却教会我直接用英语思考，而不是把一切都翻译过来。后来我加入了学校的英语角，在那里我明白：犯错是学习的一部分，而不是学习的终点。

如今回想起来，我从不曾靠某个奋发的夜晚成功。我是靠每天做的小事进步的：在公交车上听一听，睡前读一点，毫不胆怯地开口说。如果你想掌握一门语言，别去寻找什么秘诀——去找一个你能坚持的习惯。

理解题

1. What did the writer's father bring home when the writer was ten?（细节）

A. An old cassette player and a box of English songs.

B. A new computer and some games.

C. A box of English books.

D. A television with subtitles.

2. What was the writer's first goal?（细节）

A. To watch one cartoon without subtitles.

B. To sing one song without stopping.

C. To write a diary in English.

D. To join the English corner.

3. Why did the writer keep watching cartoons though understanding little?（推断）

A. Because the stories were fun, and interest kept the learning going.

B. Because the mother forced her to finish every episode.

C. Because cartoons had easier words than songs.

D. Because the teacher gave homework about cartoons.

4. What does the writer suggest as the real "secret method"?（推断）

A. Studying hard for one dramatic night.

B. Finding a daily habit that you can keep.

C. Buying an expensive cassette player.

D. Translating everything into Chinese first.

5. The word "lyrics" in Paragraph 2 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. the cards on the wall

B. the words of a song

C. the notes of a piano

D. the names of singers

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "an old cassette player and a box of English songs"（物品直接给出）。

2. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "to sing one song without stopping"（第一个目标原句）。

3. A —— 定位：第 2 段 "I kept watching because the stories were fun"（兴趣是坚持的原因）。

4. B —— 定位：末段 "do not look for a secret method — look for a habit that you can keep"（习惯即秘诀）。

5. B —— 定位：第 2 段上下文为英文歌与唱歌目标，抄在卡片上帮助记忆的应是歌词。

语言点

1. suggest / keep + 动名词

My mother suggested watching cartoons, and I kept watching because the stories were fun.（妈妈建议看动画片，因为故事有趣，我就一直看了下去。）

说明：suggest、keep、enjoy、finish 等动词后只接动名词，不接不定式；suggest sb doing 不说 suggest sb to do。

2. 动名词作主语 + teach sb to do sth

Writing three sentences a night taught me to think directly in English.（每晚写三句英语教会了我直接用英语思考。）

说明：动名词短语作主语时谓语用单数；teach/ask + 宾语 + to do 是"教某人做某事"的基础句型。

3. instead of + 动名词

Think directly in English instead of translating everything.（直接用英语思考，而不是把一切都翻译过来。）

说明：instead of 后接名词或动名词，表示"而不是"；这一结构可以并列两个动作，突出做法的取舍。

读后任务

任务：给一位英语初学者写 5 句建议，至少使用三个不定式或动名词。

参考回答

To learn English well, you need to build a daily habit first. Try listening to one short song every morning and writing down the words you catch. Do not be afraid of making mistakes, because making mistakes is how everyone learns. Keep a small notebook and enjoy collecting new expressions. Remember: to master a language is to use it, not just to study it.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to complain about a wireless speaker which I bought from your online store on 3 October. The order number is 88231, and the speaker arrived two days later in a box that looked undamaged.

Unfortunately, the product itself did not match what your website promised. First, the battery lasts only three hours, although the advertisement says that it lasts twelve. Second, the left speaker makes a strange noise whenever I turn the volume above half. Third, when I tried to charge it, the charging cable felt loose, and the light often went off suddenly.

I contacted your customer service on 10 October, and I was told that a replacement would be sent within a week. However, nothing has arrived, and when I called again yesterday, my call was put on hold for forty minutes and then cut off.

I have been a loyal customer for five years, and this experience has disappointed me deeply. I hope that you will either send a new speaker or return my money within seven days. If the problem is not solved by then, I will have to report it to the consumer protection office.

I look forward to your reply.
Yours faithfully,
Chen Li
```

参考译文

尊敬的先生或女士：

我写信是为了投诉 10 月 3 日在贵网店购买的一台无线音箱。订单号 88231，音箱两天后送达，包装盒看起来完好无损。

遗憾的是，产品本身与网站宣传不符。第一，电池只能用三个小时，而广告说能用十二个小时。第二，音量一调过一半，左边的音箱就发出奇怪的杂音。第三，我试着充电时，充电线摸起来很松，指示灯还经常突然熄灭。

10 月 10 日我联系了你们的客服，被告知一周之内会寄来换新的机器。然而，什么也没有寄到；昨天我再次致电，电话被保持等待四十分钟，然后被挂断了。

五年来，我一直是贵店的忠实顾客，这次经历让我非常失望。我希望贵店在七天之内要么寄来一台新音箱，要么退还我的货款。如果届时问题仍未解决，我将不得不向消费者保护部门反映。

期待您的回复。

您忠实的

陈莉

理解题

1. When did Chen Li buy the wireless speaker?（细节）

A. On 3 October.

B. On 5 November.

C. On 10 October.

D. Two hours ago.

2. What was Chen Li told on 10 October?（细节）

A. Her money would be returned at once.

B. A replacement would be sent within a week.

C. She should call back after forty minutes.

D. The store had never received her order.

3. Why does Chen Li mention "a loyal customer for five years"?（推断）

A. To show she is a long-term customer and make her request more persuasive.

B. To ask for a free gift with her next order.

C. To prove that the speaker was expensive.

D. To warn the store that she knows its manager.

4. What will Chen Li do if the problem is not solved within seven days?（推断）

A. She will buy a new speaker elsewhere and forget it.

B. She will report the problem to the consumer protection office.

C. She will ask her friends to stop shopping there.

D. She will visit the store every morning.

5. The phrase "put on hold" in Paragraph 4 probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. kept waiting on the phone line

B. given a free gift

C. hung up at once

D. asked to write a letter

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "which I bought from your online store on 3 October"（购买日期明确）。

2. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "I was told that a replacement would be sent within a week"（客服承诺直接引用）。

3. A —— 定位：第 5 段 "I have been a loyal customer for five years"（强调顾客身份，为诉求增加分量）。

4. B —— 定位：末段 "I will have to report it to the consumer protection office"（后续行动明确）。

5. A —— 定位：第 4 段下文 "for forty minutes and then cut off"（等待四十分钟后被挂断，on hold 指电话待接）。

语言点

1. I am writing to complain about ...（投诉信开头套句）

I am writing to complain about a wireless speaker which I bought from your online store.（我写信是为了投诉在贵网店购买的一台无线音箱。）

说明：I am writing to + 动词原形是正式信件的固定开头；complain about 后接产品或问题，which 引导定语从句补充购买信息。

2. either ... or ...（要么……要么……）

I hope that you will either send a new speaker or return my money.（我希望你们要么寄一台新音箱，要么退还货款。）

说明：either ... or ... 连接两个并列谓语，提出明确的解决要求；投诉信结尾给出具体期限与选项，比单纯抱怨更有效。

3. 被动语态客观陈述遭遇

My call was put on hold for forty minutes and then cut off.（我的电话被保持等待四十分钟，然后被挂断了。）

说明：was put / was cut 共享一个 be 动词，构成并列被动；正式投诉信用被动陈述事实，语气克制而有力量。

读后任务

任务：假设你新买的耳机坏了，给商家写一封 5-6 句的投诉邮件，至少使用一个被动语态和一个 if 引导的条件句。

参考回答

Dear Sir or Madam, I am writing to complain about a pair of headphones which I bought on 5 November. The right earpiece makes no sound, and the charging port was found loose when the parcel arrived. I contacted your service team, but I was told to wait for a reply that never came. I hope you will either repair the headphones or return my money within seven days. If the problem is not solved by then, I will report it to the consumer protection office. Yours faithfully, Wang Tao.

```
NORTHGATE — The heatwave that swept across the western plains last week broke records that had stood for sixty years, and it tested this city of four million in ways its planners had not imagined. On Tuesday the thermometer reached 41.6 degrees, the highest reading since records began, and the night that followed never dropped below 30, turning ordinary apartments into ovens.

The city opened 120 cooling centres within twenty-four hours. Libraries, community halls and three converted warehouses offered free water, shade and beds for those who could not afford air conditioning. Yet only a third of the seats were filled. "If we had opened the centres a day earlier, we would have reached far more elderly residents," admitted Deputy Mayor Carla Reyes.

Many older people, she explained, simply did not know the centres existed.

Hospitals reported a sharp rise in heat-related illness. Nurses described construction workers collapsing on sites where water breaks had not been scheduled. After a warehouse worker was hospitalised on Wednesday, the city suspended outdoor construction between noon and five, a rule that had been discussed for years but never passed.

Not everything failed. The bus company made all rides free, and ridership on the shaded riverside line doubled. Volunteers checked on 9,000 households through a phone list built two summers ago, when a smaller heatwave had served as a warning. "Had we not built that list, we would have been knocking on doors blind," said organiser Denise Okafor.

As temperatures finally fell on Sunday, the city council promised a review. Engineers proposed painting roofs white, planting 40,000 trees and requiring every new building to include shaded courtyards. Whether these measures will be funded before the next record falls remains the question this city must answer.

参考译文

上周横扫西部平原的热浪打破了保持六十年的纪录，也以规划者们未曾想象的方式考验着这座四百万人口的城市。周二，温度计读数达到 41.6 摄氏度，是有记录以来的最高值；随之而来的夜晚气温始终没有降到 30 度以下，把普通公寓变成了烤炉。

市政府在二十四小时内开放了 120 个避暑中心。图书馆、社区礼堂和三座改建的仓库为买不起空调的人提供免费饮水、阴凉和床位。然而，只有三分之一的座位有人使用。"如果早一天开放避暑中心，我们本可以惠及多得多的老年居民，"副市长卡拉·雷耶斯坦承。她解释说，许多老人根本不知道这些中心的存在。

各医院报告与高温相关的疾病急剧增加。护士们描述了工人在没有安排饮水休息的工地上晕倒的情形。周三一名仓库工人住院后，市政府暂停了正午至下午五点的户外施工——这条规则已讨论多年，却从未通过。

并非一切都失败了。公交公司对所有线路免费，河畔阴凉线路的客流量翻了一番。志愿者们依照两年前一个夏天建好的电话名单走访了 9000 户家庭——那年一场较小规模的热浪曾是一记警钟。"如果当初没有建好那份名单，我们就只能盲目地挨家敲门了，"组织者丹妮丝·奥卡福说。

周日气温终于回落，市议会承诺进行一次检讨。工程师们提议把屋顶刷白、种植四万棵树，并要求每栋新建建筑都设遮阳庭院。这些措施能否在下一个纪录被打破之前获得拨款，仍是这座城市必须回答的问题。

理解题

1. What temperature record did Northgate set last week?（细节）

A. The night temperature stayed below 25 degrees.

B. 40.1 degrees, the highest in ten years.

C. 41.6 degrees, the highest since records began.

D. 44 degrees, breaking a thirty-year record.

2. Why did the city suspend outdoor construction between noon and five?（细节）

A. The bus company asked for fewer workers.

B. A warehouse worker was hospitalised in the heat.

C. The libraries needed extra staff.

D. A national law required it.

3. What can be inferred about the cooling centres?（推断）

A. They charged money that most residents could not pay.

B. They were closed after the first day.

C. They were mostly used by construction workers.

D. They were underused partly because many elderly residents did not know they existed.

4. What do Denise Okafor's words suggest?（推断）

A. The phone list let volunteers contact households directly instead of knocking blindly.

B. The volunteer programme had been cancelled two summers ago.

C. Volunteers refused to visit elderly households.

D. The phone list replaced all other emergency services.

5. The word "ovens" in Paragraph 1 is used to show that ___.（词义猜测）

A. apartments caught fire during the night

B. many residents baked bread at night

C. apartments became extremely hot indoors

D. kitchens were busier than usual

6. Why does the author end the report with the question about funding?（作者态度/结构）

A. To invite readers to move to Northgate.

B. To stress that promising measures still face an uncertain funding decision.

C. To criticise the deputy mayor's honesty.

D. To change the subject to weather forecasting.

参考答案

1. C —— 定位：第 1 段 "the thermometer reached 41.6 degrees, the highest reading since records began"（41.6 度，有记录以来最高）。

2. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "After a warehouse worker was hospitalised on Wednesday, the city suspended outdoor construction between noon and five"（工人住院后暂停施工）。

3. D —— 定位：第 2 段 "only a third of the seats were filled" 与 "did not know the centres existed"（上座率低且老人不知情，可推知宣传不到位）。

4. A —— 定位：第 4 段 "Had we not built that list, we would have been knocking on doors blind"（反事实句说明名单让走访有的放矢）。

5. C —— 定位：第 1 段 "the night ... never dropped below 30, turning ordinary apartments into ovens"（夜间不低于 30 度，公寓如烤炉，为比喻用法）。

6. B —— 定位：末段 "Engineers proposed..." 与 "Whether these measures will be funded ... remains the question"（方案可取，但拨款未定，以问句收尾显审慎态度）。

语言点

1. break records that had stood for ... 打破保持多年的纪录

The heatwave broke records that had stood for sixty years.（这场热浪打破了保持六十年的纪录。）

说明：break a record / set a record 是新闻高频搭配；that had stood for sixty years 用过去完成时强调纪录"保持已久"之后才被打破。

2. Had we not done..., we would have done...（省略 if 的第三型虚拟条件句）

Had we not built that list, we would have been knocking on doors blind.（如果当初没有建好那份名单，我们就只能盲目地挨家敲门了。）

说明：把 had 提到句首并省略 if，是书面语中与过去事实相反条件句的正式变体；主句用 would have done 表示对过去的反事实推断。

3. propose doing 提议做……

Engineers proposed painting roofs white, planting 40,000 trees and requiring every new building to include shaded courtyards.（工程师们提议把屋顶刷白、种植四万棵树，并要求每栋新建筑设遮阳庭院。）

说明：propose 后接动名词，不接不定式；本句三个并列动名词结构使提案显得具体、有层次，是新闻结尾常见的"展望"写法。

读后任务

任务：假设你是诺斯盖特市政厅通讯办的工作人员，用 80-100 词写一段英文通告，向市民介绍避暑中心并提醒大家关照邻里；要求包含一处与过去事实相反的虚拟条件句。

参考回答

As temperatures rise again this summer, all 120 cooling centres across Northgate are open and free of charge. Each offers water, shade and beds, and no documents are needed. If we had advertised the centres earlier last year, more elderly residents would have found relief sooner.Please check on your neighbours and share the address list. Had our message reached everyhousehold, no one would have faced the heat alone. Call 800-HEAT to find the nearest centre,and help us make this a cooler, kinder summer.

For a machine with no moving parts, the brain works surprisingly like a busy library — except that it rewrites most of its books every night. Memory, researchers now agree, is not a single storehouse but a chain of processes: encoding, consolidation and retrieval. Miss any one of them, and the whole system stumbles.
Encoding happens in the moment. When you meet someone at a party, your senses pass raw details to the hippocampus, a small structure deep in the temporal lobe. Attention decides what gets written down. This is why you may forget a name you heard while checking your phone: the name was never properly filed.
Consolidation is the night shift. During deep sleep, the brain replays the day's experiences in fast bursts, moving stable memories toward the cortex for long-term storage. Studies comparing sleepers with sleep-deprived learners keep finding the same gap: those who slept remembered 20 to 40 percent more. Had the researchers tested the two groups a week later, the difference would have been even wider.
Retrieval is where memory gets creative. Each time you recall an event, you rebuild it from fragments, and each rebuilding subtly changes it. This explains a puzzle that once troubled courts: confident witnesses can be sincerely wrong. If a witness is asked a leading question, the suggestion may quietly enter the memory itself.
The practical lessons are modest but firm. Pay full attention when something matters. Review material at spaced intervals rather than in one long session. Sleep before, not only after, an important study period. Memory rewards those who work with its rhythm instead of against it — a library, after all, serves the readers who return its books on time.

参考译文

大脑这台没有任何活动部件的机器，运转起来却出奇地像一座忙碌的图书馆——只不过它每晚都要重写大部分藏书。研究者如今公认：记忆不是一个单一的仓库，而是一连串过程——编码、巩固与提取。任何一环掉链子，整个系统就会出岔子。

编码发生在当下。当你在聚会上认识某人时，感官把原始细节传给海马体——颞叶深处一个小小的结构。注意力决定哪些内容被记录下来。这就是为什么你会忘记一边刷手机一边听到的名字：那个名字从未被妥善归档。

巩固是"夜班"。在深睡期间，大脑以快速的脉冲重放当天的经历，把稳定的记忆转移到皮层做长期储存。把睡过觉的学习者和被剥夺睡眠的学习者作比较的研究一再发现同样的差距：睡了觉的人多记住 20% 到 40%。倘若研究者一周之后才测试两组人，差距还会更大。

提取则是记忆变得"有创意"的环节。每次回忆一件事，你都在用碎片把它重新搭建起来，而每次重建都在悄悄改变它。这解释了一个曾困扰法庭的谜题：信心十足的证人可能真诚地记错。如果向证人提出诱导性问题，暗示本身可能悄悄进入记忆。

由此得出的实用经验朴素而坚定：重要的事情，全神贯注地去听去看；复习要拉开间隔，而不是一口气突击；重要的学习期之前要睡好，而不只是之后。记忆奖励那些顺应其节奏的人——毕竟，图书馆服务的是按时还书的读者。

理解题

1. What decides which details get encoded when you meet someone at a party?（细节）

A. Your mood that evening.

B. Attention.

C. The loudness of the music.

D. How long the party lasts.

2. In the studies mentioned, how much more did those who slept remember?（细节）

A. 10 to 20 percent more.

B. 40 to 60 percent more.

C. 20 to 40 percent more.

D. Twice as much.

3. Why does the author compare the brain to a library "that rewrites most of its books every night"?（推断）

A. To suggest that memory is active and constantly reorganised, not fixed storage.

B. To prove that libraries are better than brains.

C. To show that old books are worthless.

D. To warn readers against reading at night.

4. What does the courtroom example in Paragraph 4 illustrate?（推断）

A. Courts should not allow witnesses.

B. Confident people always remember correctly.

C. Witnesses deliberately change their stories.

D. Recalling rebuilds a memory, so suggestions can quietly alter it.

5. The phrase "the night shift" in Paragraph 3 refers to ___.（词义猜测）

A. a group of workers who prefer evenings

B. the brain's processing and storing of memories during deep sleep

C. a television programme about dreams

D. the period when people forget things fastest

6. How is the whole passage organised?（作者态度/结构）

A. Two sides of a scientific debate are compared.

B. A case study is followed by criticism.

C. Three processes are explained in order, ending with practical advice.

D. A historical timeline of memory research is traced.

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "Attention decides what gets written down."（注意力决定什么被记录）。

2. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "those who slept remembered 20 to 40 percent more"（多记 20% 到 40%）。

3. A —— 定位：第 1 段的比喻与第 3 段睡眠中"重放并转移记忆"呼应，说明记忆是动态更新的。

4. D —— 定位：第 4 段 "you rebuild it from fragments" 与 "the suggestion may quietly enter the memory itself"（回忆即重建，暗示可进入记忆）。

5. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "During deep sleep, the brain replays ... moving stable memories toward the cortex"（深睡中加工储存，即"夜班"的含义）。

6. C —— 定位：全文按 encoding、consolidation、retrieval 三环节展开，末段以 "The practical lessons" 收束并给出建议。

语言点

1. not a single ... but a ... 不是单一的……而是一连串……

Memory is not a single storehouse but a chain of processes: encoding, consolidation and retrieval.（记忆不是一个单一的仓库，而是一连串过程：编码、巩固与提取。）

说明：not A but B 是下定义、纠正误解的常用对比结构；冒号后的列举起解释作用，是科普文开篇的典型写法。

2. Had the researchers done..., ... would have done...（省略 if 的第三型虚拟条件句）

Had the researchers tested the two groups a week later, the difference would have been even wider.（倘若研究者一周后才测试两组人，差距还会更大。）

说明：省略 if、助动词 had 前置，语气更正式；从句是对过去的假设，主句 would have been 表反事实结论。

3. rather than 而不是（连接对称结构）

Review material at spaced intervals rather than in one long session.（复习要拉开间隔，而不是一口气突击。）

说明：rather than 前后保持形式对称（at spaced intervals 对 in one long session）；注意它表示取舍，不表示比较级。

读后任务

任务：用 80-100 词向同学解释"为什么考试前睡一晚比熬夜复习更有效"，要求至少使用一处虚拟语气或省略 if 的倒装条件句。

参考回答

Before an exam, a night of sleep beats a night of cramming. During deep sleep the brain replays what you studied and moves it toward long-term storage — precisely what an exhausted mind cannot do. Were sleep unnecessary, sleep-deprived students would remember just as much as rested ones, yet studies keep finding a gap of twenty to forty percent. Had I known this in my first year, I would never have revised through the night. Attention first, spaced review second, sleep last: that is the order memory rewards.

When the software firm Marlowe sent its staff home in the spring of two years ago, the plan was temporary. Few expected the arrangement to last. Yet this week the company published a survey of its 1,400 employees, and the results read like a summary of what the whole working world has been arguing about ever since.

The numbers first. Productivity, measured by completed projects rather than hours logged, rose by about nine percent. Sick days fell sharply. So did the expense accounts. But the deeper story lies in the ambivalent answers about time. Forty-one percent said they worked more hours at home than in the office, not less; if given the chance to return full-time, a third would refuse.

Time saved on commuting was the clearest gain, though what people did with it varied. Some slept. Some studied. Others, and this surprised the researchers, simply worked longer, quietly filling the space the train ride used to occupy. Work had leaked into every room of the house.

The costs were social. Junior employees, who had joined the firm after the change, reported feeling invisible: no overheard conversations to learn from, no casual feedback after a meeting. Senior staff, asked whether mentoring still happened, were honest. It happens, they said, but only when somebody schedules it.

Marlowe's solution is a middle path. From next quarter, teams will gather in the office on two fixed days each week, chosen by the teams themselves. The company calls the policy "anchor days"; the employees, more bluntly, call them "the days the commute returns". Whatever the name, the experiment that began as an emergency now looks permanent — and imperfect in ways worth studying.

参考译文

两年前的春天，软件公司马洛把员工送回家办公时，计划只是临时的。几乎没有人想到这种安排会延续下去。而本周，公司公布了对 1400 名员工的调查，结果读起来就像整个职场此后一直在争论的话题的摘要。

先看数字。以完成的项目而非打卡时长来衡量，生产率上升了约 9%；病假大幅减少，报销开支也是。但更深的故事藏在人们对时间的矛盾回答里。41% 的人说他们在家的工作时长比在办公室更长而不是更短；如果给机会让他们全职返岗，三分之一的人会拒绝。

省下的通勤时间是看得最清楚的收益，尽管人们用这些时间做的事各不相同。有人睡觉，有人学习，还有一些人——这让研究者意外——只是工作得更久了，悄悄填满火车曾经占据的那段时间。工作渗进了家里的每一个房间。

代价是社交性的。在变革之后才入职的初级员工报告说，自己有一种"隐形"之感：没有可以偷师的旁人对话，没有会后随口的反馈。被问及带教是否还在发生时，资深员工很坦诚：会发生，但只有在有人特意安排的时候。

马洛的解法是一条中间路线。从下季度起，各团队每周固定两天到办公室集中办公，具体日子由团队自己选。公司把这项政策叫作"锚定日"；员工们说得更直白：通勤回归的那两天。无论叫什么名字，这场始于应急的实验如今看来将长期存在——并且带着一些值得研究的不完美。

理解题

1. How did Marlowe measure productivity in its survey?（细节）

A. By hours logged.

B. By completed projects.

C. By sick days taken.

D. By expense accounts.

2. What are Marlowe's "anchor days"?（细节）

A. Days when employees must work overtime.

B. Public holidays for the whole company.

C. Deadlines for project teams.

D. Two fixed weekly office days chosen by each team.

3. "Work had leaked into every room of the house" suggests that ___.（推断）

A. the boundary between work time and home time had blurred

B. the employees' homes had damaged roofs

C. the firm inspected employees' bedrooms

D. people moved their desks into the garden

4. Why did junior employees report "feeling invisible"?（推断）

A. Their salaries were too low.

B. They disliked video meetings.

C. They missed overheard conversations and casual feedback, which are main ways of learning on the job.

D. The firm gave them no computers.

5. The phrase "a middle path" in Paragraph 5 most probably means ___.（词义猜测）

A. a solution between two extremes

B. a quiet country road

C. a bicycle lane near the office

D. a financial plan for the company

6. What is the author's overall attitude toward the Marlowe experiment?（作者态度/结构）

A. Fully celebratory.

B. Deeply worried about productivity.

C. Indifferent, simply reporting numbers.

D. Balanced: noting real gains and real costs, ending with a measured judgment.

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "Productivity, measured by completed projects rather than hours logged, rose by about nine percent"（以完成项目而非打卡时长衡量）。

2. D —— 定位：第 5 段 "two fixed days each week, chosen by the teams themselves"（团队自选的每周两天固定到岗）。

3. A —— 定位：第 3 段，部分员工"只是工作得更久了"，说明工作与生活的边界被打破。

4. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "no overheard conversations to learn from, no casual feedback after a meeting"（失去旁听学习与随口反馈）。

5. A —— 定位：第 5 段，政策介于全员返岗与全程远程之间，故为"折中路线"。

6. D —— 定位：全文并列收益（效率、通勤）与代价（边界、新人培养），结尾 "imperfect in ways worth studying" 表克制的平衡评价。

语言点

1. So did ... ……也是如此（倒装替代）

Sick days fell sharply. So did the expense accounts.（病假大幅减少，报销开支也是。）

说明：So + 助动词 + 主语表示"前者的情况同样适用于后者"，避免重复谓语；注意与 So he did（强调"他确实如此"）的区别。

2. if given... / when asked...（状语从句的省略）

If given the chance to return full-time, a third would refuse.（如果给机会让他们全职返岗，三分之一的人会拒绝。）

说明：从句主语与主句一致且含 be 动词时，可省去"主语 + be"，只保留分词；补全为 If they were given...。第 4 段的 asked whether... 同理。

3. leak into（比喻用法）渗入，蔓延到

Work had leaked into every room of the house.（工作渗进了家里的每一个房间。）

说明：leak 本义为液体、气体漏出，新闻评论常用其比喻义，描述工作、信息等"渗透"进本不属于它们的空间，比 enter 更形象。

读后任务

任务：用 90-110 词给公司管理层写一段英文建议：是否设立固定到岗日。要求使用一处状语从句省略结构（如 If given...）和一处 "So do/did ..." 替代结构。

参考回答

I recommend two fixed office days chosen by each team. If given a say, most employees will accept the compromise, because what they value is control, not isolation. Junior staff need the office most: casual feedback cannot be scheduled, and online it rarely happens by accident. During the fully remote period, productivity rose; so did the loneliness reports. Anchor days let us keep both gains: deep focus at home, learning in the corridor, and a company that still feels like one. Trial the policy for one quarter, then review the data honestly.

第35篇 城市化的代价（The Price of Growing Cities）

城市化带来机会，也带来住房与通勤的代价。这篇议论文权衡利弊，句首分词短语是它的标志性句法。

Every year, drawn by wages that can triple a farm income, millions of people move into cities across the developing world. Urbanisation is usually told as a success story: dense, productive, full of opportunity. And in many ways it is. But every gain has a price, and honest policy begins by naming it.

The first price is paid in housing. Having arrived faster than builders could respond, new residents crowd into informal settlements on steep slopes or floodplains, where a heavy rain can wash a home away. Governments then face an uncomfortable choice: spend heavily on services that reach these areas, or pretend the settlements are temporary and let risk accumulate. Too many choose the second, and the bill arrives later, with interest.

The second price is paid in time. Sprawling cities force long commutes, and congestion eats hours that workers might spend learning, resting or raising children. Built around cars rather than people, such cities quietly tax those who can least afford it — the ones who live far from work because housing near it is unaffordable.

Yet the ledger has another side. Cities compress schools, hospitals and employers into the same small map, and that density is exactly what makes services cheap to deliver. Per person, piping water to a tower block costs a fraction of piping it to a scattered village. Having weighed both sides, most economists still favour urbanisation — but with conditions.

The conditions are the real argument. Cities that invest early in land titles, transit and drainage turn migration into mobility; those that delay trap newcomers at the bottom. Growth, in other words, does not automatically lift people. Managed well, it does. Left alone, it simply piles opportunity and misery on the same crowded ground.

参考译文

每年，被能把务农收入翻三倍的工资所吸引，数百万人涌入发展中世界的城市。城市化通常被讲成一个成功故事：密集、高产、机会遍地。在很多方面确实如此。但每一份收益都有代价，而诚实的政策从说出代价开始。

第一笔代价付在住房上。新居民的到来快过建设者的响应，他们挤在陡坡或泛洪区上的非正式聚居区里，一场大雨就能冲走一个家。政府随后面临一个不舒服的选择：要么花大钱把公共服务延伸到这些区域，要么假装聚居区只是临时的、让风险不断累积。太多政府选了后者，而账单日后连本带利地送到。

第二笔代价付在时间上。摊大饼式扩张的城市造成漫长通勤，拥堵吞噬掉劳动者本可用于学习、休息或养育孩子的时间。围绕汽车而非人建造的城市，悄悄地向最负担不起的人征税——那些因为住不起近处、只能住得很远的人。

然而账本还有另一面。城市把学校、医院和雇主压缩在同一张小地图上，而正是这种密度让服务变得便宜。按人头计算，把水管铺向一栋高层住宅楼，成本只相当于铺向一个分散村庄的零头。在权衡双方之后，多数经济学家仍然支持城市化——但有条件。

条件才是真正的争论所在。尽早投资于土地确权、公交和排水的城市，把移民变成向上流动；拖延的城市则把新来者困在底层。换言之，增长并不会自动托举人。管理得当，它托举；放任不管，它只是把机会和苦难堆在同一片拥挤的土地上。

理解题

1. What is the first "price" of urbanisation discussed in the passage?（细节）

A. Time lost to commuting.

B. Declining farm incomes.

C. Housing pressure in informal settlements.

D. Rising costs of food.

2. According to the passage, why are public services cheaper to deliver in dense cities?（细节）

A. Per person, infrastructure such as water pipes costs only a fraction.

B. Governments give cities more money.

C. Buildings in cities need no repairs.

D. Rural residents pay higher taxes.

3. "Too many choose the second, and the bill arrives later, with interest" implies that ___.（推断）

A. governments borrow money from banks at high rates

B. residents eventually pay higher water fees

C. construction workers demand overtime pay

D. delaying services makes future problems more expensive to solve

4. Who pays the "quiet tax" of car-centred, sprawling cities?（推断）

A. Car owners who drive daily.

B. Low-income residents who live far from work because nearby housing is unaffordable.

C. City planners and engineers.

D. Tourists visiting the city.

5. The word "ledger" in Paragraph 4 most likely means ___.（词义猜测）

A. a long steel cable

B. a detailed city map

C. a record of gains and losses, used figuratively here

D. a new kind of tax

6. What is the author's final position?（作者态度/结构）

A. Urbanisation should be halted in the developing world.

B. Urbanisation benefits people only if governments invest early and manage actively.

C. Economists' support for urbanisation is always wrong.

D. Rural life is the only sustainable future.

参考答案

1. C —— 定位：第 2 段 "The first price is paid in housing" 与 "informal settlements"（第一笔代价在住房）。

2. A —— 定位：第 4 段 "piping water to a tower block costs a fraction of piping it to a scattered village"（人均管线成本极低）。

3. D —— 定位：第 2 段 "let risk accumulate" 与"连本带利"的比喻，指拖延使日后的代价更高。

4. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "tax those who can least afford it — the ones who live far from work because housing near it is unaffordable"（穷人以时间纳税）。

5. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "the ledger has another side"，承接前文 price 与 gain 的对比，指"总账、得失记录"。

6. B —— 定位：末段 "Cities that invest early ... turn migration into mobility; those that delay trap newcomers" 与 "Managed well, it does. Left alone, ..."（有条件支持）。

语言点

1. 过去分词短语作原因状语

Drawn by wages that can triple a farm income, millions of people move into cities.（被能把务农收入翻三倍的工资所吸引，数百万人涌入城市。）

说明：分词短语置于句首表示原因或背景，其逻辑主语必须与主句主语一致（people are drawn...）；若不一致，则不能用此结构。

2. Having done..., ...（完成式分词作状语，强调先后）

Having weighed both sides, most economists still favour urbanisation.（在权衡双方之后，多数经济学家仍然支持城市化。）

说明：having done 强调该动作发生在主句动作之前；第 2 段的 Having arrived faster than builders could respond 同理，比普通分词更明确时间顺序。

3. a fraction of ……的零头，远小于

Piping water to a tower block costs a fraction of piping it to a scattered village.（把水铺向高层住宅楼，成本只相当于铺向分散村庄的零头。）

说明：a fraction of + 名词或动名词表示"远小于……"，是议论文中比较成本、数量的高频表达，比 much cheaper than 更正式。

读后任务

任务：以 "Cities should invest early in services for new arrivals" 为题，用 90-110 词写一段英文议论，要求开头使用一个分词短语（如 Drawn by... / Having seen...）。

参考回答

Having seen how informal settlements grow, I argue that cities must invest early, not late. Services built together with the newcomers, rather than after them, cost a fraction of emergency repairs after floods or fires. Delay does not save money; it only lets risk accumulate, and the bill arrives later, with interest. Early investment in land titles, drainage and transit turns migration into mobility. Cities that act now will welcome the energy of new arrivals; those that wait will trap them at the bottom. The real question is not whether to spend, but when.

Few questions divide teachers more sharply than this one: is greatness born, or is it built? The practice camp points to studies of musicians and chess players, arguing that roughly ten thousand hours of deliberate training separates experts from hobbyists. The talent camp replies with twin studies, in which identical siblings raised apart still show similar abilities. Both sides believe the evidence is decisive. Neither, in my view, has grasped the real shape of the problem.

Were talent the whole story, practice would barely matter: a child born gifted would race ahead whatever she did. Clearly this is false. Any music teacher can name students with perfect pitch who gave up, and students with ordinary ears who, having practised with uncommon discipline, now play in orchestras. Ability that is never trained is like seed that is never watered.

But if practice were everything, the hours alone would guarantee mastery — and they plainly do not.
Thousands of amateurs play golf for thirty years without improving much, while a focused teenager passes them in two summers. What separates them is not time but the quality of attention during that time: deliberate practice, aimed at weaknesses, with immediate feedback.

Practice, in other words, is necessary. It is not sufficient.
If I were forced to give schools one piece of advice, I would tell them to stop asking which factor matters more and start designing for both. Talent sets the ceiling; practice decides whether you ever touch it. A society that treats ability as fixed will waste its late bloomers; one that pretends hours are everything will exhaust its prodigies. The argument is enjoyable, but the honest answer has always been: both, working together, from day one.

参考译文

很少有哪个问题像这个问题一样让教师们针锋相对：卓越是天生的，还是后天练成的？"练习派"举出对音乐家和棋手的研究，主张大约一万小时的刻意训练把专家与爱好者分开；"天赋派"则用双生子研究回应：分开抚养的同卵兄弟姐妹仍显示出相似的能力。双方都认为证据是决定性的。而在我看来，双方都没有抓住问题的真正形状。

倘若天赋就是全部故事，练习就几乎无关紧要：天生聪慧的孩子无论做什么都会遥遥领先。这显然不成立。任何音乐老师都能举出这样的例子：拥有绝对音感的学生放弃了，而耳朵平平的学生凭着少见的自律练习，如今在乐团里演奏。从不训练的能力，就像从不浇水的种子。

但如果练习就是一切，光靠时数就足以保证精通——而事实显然并非如此。成千上万的业余爱好者打了三十年高尔夫球却进步甚微，而一个专注的少年两个夏天就超过了他们。把他们区分开的不是时间，而是练习时注意力的质量：针对弱点、有即时反馈的刻意练习。换言之，练习是必要的，却不是充分的。

如果我被迫给学校一条建议，我会告诉他们：别再追问哪个因素更重要，开始为两者同时设计。天赋设定天花板；练习决定你是否够得着它。把能力当作天生固定的社会将浪费大器晚成者；假装时数就是一切的社会将耗尽它的天才少年。这场争论令人愉快，但诚实的答案从来都是：两者从第一天起就协同作用。

理解题

1. What evidence does the "talent camp" rely on?（细节）

A. Ten thousand hours of training data.

B. Records of music competitions.

C. Interviews with music teachers.

D. Twin studies of identical siblings raised apart.

2. According to the author, what distinguishes "deliberate practice" from ordinary practice?（细节）

A. Longer sessions every day.

B. Aiming at weaknesses with immediate feedback.

C. Performing in front of audiences.

D. Expensive professional coaches.

3. "Ability that is never trained is like seed that is never watered" suggests that ___.（推断）

A. gardeners make better musicians

B. natural gifts alone guarantee success

C. natural ability must be cultivated through training to develop

D. students should water plants before practising

4. Why does the author say both camps "has not grasped the real shape of the problem"?（推断）

A. Because neither side has any evidence.

B. Because the question is not either/or: talent and practice interact, so schools should design for both.

C. Because teachers are biased against studies.

D. Because the studies were all faked.

5. "Late bloomers" in the last paragraph refers to people who ___.（词义猜测）

A. stay up very late at night

B. prefer spring to other seasons

C. give up training too early

D. develop their abilities later than most

6. Which best describes the author's stance?（作者态度/结构）

A. Talent decides everything.

B. Practice decides everything.

C. Talent and practice work together: talent sets the ceiling, practice decides whether you reach it.

D. The debate is meaningless and should end.

参考答案

1. D —— 定位：第 1 段 "twin studies, in which identical siblings raised apart still show similar abilities"（双生子研究）。

2. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "deliberate practice, aimed at weaknesses, with immediate feedback"（针对弱点、即时反馈）。

3. C —— 定位：第 2 段比喻与上文"有绝对音感却放弃"的例子对照：天赋不经训练便无法发展。

4. B —— 定位：第 1 段设问与末段 "stop asking which factor matters more and start designing for both"（问题不在二选一，而在二者互动）。

5. D —— 定位：末段 "A society that treats ability as fixed will waste its late bloomers"（把能力视为固定会浪费"晚熟的人"）。

6. C —— 定位：末段 "Talent sets the ceiling; practice decides whether you ever touch it" 与 " both, working together"（协同并重的立场）。

语言点

1. Were + 主语 + ...（省略 if 的虚拟条件句倒装）

Were talent the whole story, practice would barely matter.（倘若天赋就是全部故事，练习就几乎无关紧要。）

说明：与现在事实相反的虚拟条件句可省去 if，把 were 提到句首；主句用 would / might / could + 动词原形，语气正式而有力。

2. If I were ..., I would ...（对现在的虚拟，委婉建议句式）

If I were forced to give schools one piece of advice, I would tell them to stop asking which factor matters more.（如果我必须给学校一条建议，我会告诉他们别再追问哪个因素更重要。）

说明：第一人称的虚拟同样用 were 而不用 was；这种句式常用于表达有分寸的主张，是议论文让步—立论的经典写法。

3. necessary but not sufficient 必要但不充分

Practice is necessary. It is not sufficient.（练习是必要的，却不是充分的。）

说明：necessary 与 sufficient 是分析因果关系的高频学术形容词，常见搭配 be necessary but not sufficient for sth；用两个短句分开说出，比一个长句更有节奏。

读后任务

任务：用 90-110 词表达你对"天赋还是练习"的立场，要求至少使用两处虚拟语气（如 Were... / If ... were ..., ... would ...）。

Were practice alone enough, every amateur with twenty years of golf would be a champion, and they plainly are not. Yet if talent were everything, no coach would ever accept a beginner, and every music school would select children by ear alone. My view lies between. Talent sets the ceiling; deliberate practice decides whether a person ever touches it. If I were advising a young student, I would tell her to choose a field she loves, then train with honest feedback. Neither gift nor hours will work without the other.

Covering more than sixty percent of the planet's surface, the deep ocean remains less mapped than the surface of Mars. Sunlight fades within the first two hundred metres; below that lies a world of crushing pressure, near-freezing water and total darkness. Yet this darkness is not empty. It holds volcanic vents that heat water to four hundred degrees, animals that glow like lanterns, and microbes that live on chemistry instead of light.

Until recently, exploring this realm required luck as much as science. Crewed vehicles could dive, but only for hours, and every minute of battery life was spent before it was earned. With the arrival of a new generation of autonomous robots, the mathematics has changed. These machines can descend for weeks, their sensors recording temperature, salinity and every passing creature, while human pilots watch from a ship far above.

The results have rewritten textbooks. An expedition off the fictional island of Kalder reported forty new species in a single season, its nets returning with blind shrimp, transparent fish and a worm that builds tubes from minerals. Its sonar also mapped a ridge longer than any mountain chain on land, one that no previous survey had charted in detail.

Science is only half the story, however. Companies now eye the seabed for metals used in batteries, and their machines can reach places once beyond anyone's grasp. Deep-sea researchers warn that ecosystems recovering over centuries could be stripped in weeks. Having watched shallow reefs decline, they argue, oceanographers owe the deep ocean a careful beginning, not a repeat of old mistakes.

The deep ocean has been called the largest library on Earth, one whose books we have barely opened. The new robots are finally letting us turn the pages — slowly, and, one hopes, with care.

参考译文

深海覆盖着地球表面超过百分之六十的面积，却比火星表面更缺乏测绘。阳光在最初两百米内消失；再往下，是一个压力足以压碎一切、水温接近冰点、一片漆黑的世界。然而这片黑暗并非空无。这里有把海水加热到四百度的火山喷口，有像灯笼一样发光的动物，还有靠化学反应而非阳光生存的微生物。

直到不久前，探索这一领域靠运气多过靠科学。载人潜水器可以下潜，但只能待几个小时，电池的每一分钟都在被消耗之前就已注定要花掉。随着新一代自主机器人的到来，算术变了。这些机器能连续下潜数周，它们的传感器一路记录温度、盐度和每一只路过的生物，而人类驾驶员在遥远的海面船只上注视着这一切。

成果改写了教科书。在虚构的卡尔德岛附近进行的一次考察，一个季节就报告了四十个新物种：打捞上来的网里有失明的虾、透明的鱼，还有一种用矿物给自己筑管的蠕虫。它的声呐还测绘出一条比陆地上任何山脉都长的海岭——此前没有任何一次勘测详细记录过它。

然而科学只是一半的故事。企业正盯着海底制造电池所需的金属，它们的机器能够抵达从前无人可及之处。深海研究者警告：需要数百年才能恢复的生态系统，可能在几周内被掠劫一空。浅海珊瑚礁的衰落他们都看在眼里，因此主张：海洋学家欠深海一个谨慎的开端，而不是旧错误的重演。

深海被称为地球上最大的图书馆——一座我们几乎还没有翻开书页的图书馆。新机器人终于让我们能够翻页——慢慢地，但愿，也是小心地。

理解题

1. At what depth does sunlight disappear according to the passage?（细节）

A. About 60 metres.

B. Within the first two hundred metres.

C. About 400 metres.

D. Only below 2,000 metres.

2. What can the new generation of autonomous robots do?（细节）

A. Carry human pilots to the seabed.

B. Stay on the surface and control sonar only.

C. Descend for weeks while their sensors record data.

D. Replace research ships completely.

3. "Every minute of battery life was spent before it was earned" implies that earlier crewed dives were ___.（推断）

A. relaxing holidays for the crews

B. strictly limited and costly in time

C. paid for by the government

D. fully automated

4. Why do researchers mention shallow reefs in the fourth paragraph?（推断）

A. To recommend tourism in shallow water.

B. To show that robots are unsafe.

C. To explain how mining companies train staff.

D. To warn that the deep ocean may suffer the same damage shallow reefs did.

5. In Paragraph 3, "charted" most nearly means ___.（词义猜测）

A. photographed from above

B. repaired after storms

C. drawn on a map and recorded in detail

D. sold to shipping companies

6. The "library" metaphor in the final paragraph mainly ___.（作者态度/结构）

A. praises public libraries on land

B. criticises the cost of underwater robots

C. stresses how little of the deep ocean we have explored and ends on a note of cautious hope

D. summarises the expedition's budget

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 1 段 "Sunlight fades within the first two hundred metres"（阳光在最初两百米内消失）。

2. C —— 定位：第 2 段 "These machines can descend for weeks, their sensors recording temperature, salinity and every passing creature"（下潜数周并连续记录）。

3. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "could dive, but only for hours"（只能潜数小时，说明受电池严格限制）。

4. D —— 定位：第 4 段 "Having watched shallow reefs decline ... not a repeat of old mistakes"（以浅海礁的衰落警示深海勿重蹈覆辙）。

5. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "no previous survey had charted in detail"，与 mapped、survey 呼应，指"详细测绘、记录在图"。

6. C —— 定位：末段 "books we have barely opened ... turn the pages — slowly, and, one hopes, with care"（探索极少，审慎乐观收尾）。

语言点

1. 独立主格：名词 + 现在分词

These machines can descend for weeks, their sensors recording temperature, salinity and every passing creature.（这些机器能连续下潜数周，传感器一路记录温度、盐度和每一只路过的生物。）

说明：独立主格由"名词 + 分词"构成，作伴随状语，与主句之间没有连接词，属正式书面语；去掉 their sensors 则须改写为 with their sensors recording 或一个从句。第 3 段 its nets returning with... 同理。

2. 现在分词短语作句首状语（表原因或状态）

Covering more than sixty percent of the planet's surface, the deep ocean remains less mapped than the surface of Mars.（深海覆盖地球表面超过六成，却比火星表面更缺乏测绘。）

说明：句首分词短语的逻辑主语必须与主句主语一致（the deep ocean is covering...）；若换成过去分词 Mapped by..., 则表示被动含义。

3. beyond one's grasp / owe sth a ... beginning（搭配）

Their machines can reach places once beyond anyone's grasp.（它们的机器能抵达从前无人可及之处。）

说明：beyond one's grasp 意为"超出能力所及"，反义为 within one's grasp；owe + 对象 + 名词表示"欠某人或某物一个……"，如 oceanographers owe the deep ocean a careful beginning，语气庄重。

读后任务

任务：用 80-100 词写一段英文倡议，呼吁对深海采矿实行"先考察、后许可"的原则；要求使用一处独立主格或句首分词短语。

参考回答

Guided by caution, we propose a simple rule for the deep sea: survey first, permit later. An ecosystem recovering over centuries can be stripped in weeks, and once lost, a vent community may never return. With robots mapping every ridge and sensors recording every species, we finally hold the tools to explore before we exploit. Decision-makers should treat each licence as a loan from future generations. If we would not cut down a forest we have never seen, we should not strip a seabed we have barely visited.

Walk down any high street in the fictional town of Ravenfield on a Saturday morning and you will pass three charity shops, a repair café and a queue outside a vintage clothing store that once would have embarrassed its customers. Second-hand is no longer a fallback for the hard-up. It is, increasingly, a choice — and a market worth studying.

The numbers explain part of the shift. Resale platforms in the region reported sales up forty percent in two years, while new-clothing sales stayed flat. It was the rising cost of living that pushed many families towards used furniture and refurbished phones at first. But it is style, not just saving, that keeps them there: a generation raised on photographs of crowded attics now treats a 1970s armchair as a find, not a compromise.

There is also a quieter motive. Every garment resold is a garment not manufactured, and young shoppers keep a running mental account of that arithmetic. "It is the story that sells an old coat," says Nina Falk, who runs the repair café. "A tear mended with bright thread is not damage; it is a chapter."

The economics are subtle too. Second-hand goods hold value in a way new ones do not: buy a used bicycle, ride it for a year, and you can often sell it for what you paid. Retailers have noticed. It is the guarantee of buy-back that big chains now advertise, hoping to borrow the trust that flea markets built over decades.

Rough patches remain. Counterfeits slip into online listings, and quality control varies wildly.

Still, the direction seems set. In Ravenfield, at least, the shop that repairs and resells is no longer on the edge of town. It is on the high street, in the best spot, next to the bank.

参考译文

星期六上午走在虚构小镇雷文菲尔德的任何一条主街上，你都会经过三家慈善商店、一家修理咖啡馆，以及在一家复古服装店外排起的队伍——这样的队伍放在从前会让顾客难为情。二手货不再是手头紧的人的退路。它越来越多地成为一种选择——以及一个值得研究的市场。

数字解释了这次转变的一部分。该地区的转售平台报告销售额两年内上涨 40%，而新衣销售保持平稳。起初，把许多家庭推向二手家具和翻新手机的是上涨的生活成本。但留住他们的是风格而不仅是省钱：看着塞满杂物的阁楼照片长大的一代人，如今把一把 1970 年代的扶手椅看作"淘到的好货"，而非将就。

还有一个更安静的理由。每一件被转售的衣物都是一件不再需要新造的衣物，年轻消费者在心里持续记着这笔算术。"让旧大衣卖出去的是它的故事，"经营修理咖啡馆的妮娜·福尔克说，"用亮色线补好的破洞不是损坏，是一段章节。"

经济学也很微妙。二手商品保值的方式是新品比不上的：买一辆二手自行车骑上一年，你常常能按原价再卖掉。零售商注意到了。如今大连锁店广告里的卖点正是回购保证，希望借走跳蚤市场用几十年建立的信任。

粗糙之处仍然存在。赝品混进在线商品列表，质量控制参差不齐。尽管如此，方向似乎已定。至少在雷文菲尔德，那家既修理又转卖的商店不再开在城边。它开在主街上，最好的位置，紧挨着银行。

理解题

1. What did resale platforms in the region report?（细节）

A. Sales falling despite discounts.

B. New-clothing sales rising faster than resale.

C. No change in either market.

D. Sales up forty percent in two years while new-clothing sales stayed flat.

2. Why do big retail chains now advertise buy-back schemes?（细节）

A. To fight counterfeit goods.

B. To close their smaller stores.

C. To borrow the trust that flea markets built over decades.

D. To reduce the number of online listings.

3. Treating a 1970s armchair as "a find, not a compromise" suggests that ___.（推断）

A. old furniture is always expensive

B. second-hand goods have become desirable in themselves, not just a cheap substitute

C. the young dislike modern design

D. people regret buying new furniture

4. "It is the story that sells an old coat" implies that ___.（推断）

A. coats with famous labels sell better

B. the history and character of an item add value beyond its condition

C. shop assistants talk too much

D. stories about clothes are popular online

5. "The hard-up" in Paragraph 1 most likely refers to ___.（词义猜测）

A. people who are short of money

B. hard-working shop owners

C. collectors of vintage clothes

D. customers with strong opinions

6. How does the final paragraph echo the opening?（作者态度/结构）

A. It repeats the high-street scene to show second-hand has moved from the margin to the centre.

B. It denies the trend with new data.

C. It introduces the bank as a new character.

D. It lists more prices of old furniture.

参考答案

1. D —— 定位：第 2 段 "reported sales up forty percent in two years, while new-clothing sales stayed flat"（转售涨四成，新衣持平）。

2. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "hoping to borrow the trust that flea markets built over decades"（借跳蚤市场积累的信任）。

3. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "But it is style, not just saving, that keeps them there"（风格而不仅是省钱，说明二手本身成为追求）。

4. B —— 定位：第 3 段福尔克的话与"亮色线补丁是一段章节"：物品的来历与个性构成额外价值。

5. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "no longer a fallback for the hard-up. It is, increasingly, a choice"（不再是穷人的退路，而是主动选择）。

6. A —— 定位：首段的主街场景与末段 "no longer on the edge of town. It is on the high street, in the best spot"（从边缘到中心，首尾呼应）。

语言点

1. It was ... that ...（强调句型，强调原因）

It was the rising cost of living that pushed many families towards used furniture at first.（起初，把许多家庭推向二手家具的是上涨的生活成本。）

说明：判断强调句的方法：去掉 It was ... that 后，句子仍然完整成立。本句强调的是原因；原文也可还原为 The rising cost of living pushed...。

2. It is + 名词 + that ...（强调主语，动词与原主语一致）

It is the story that sells an old coat.（让旧大衣卖出去的是它的故事。）

说明：强调主语时，that 后的动词须与被强调的原主语保持人称和数的一致（the story sells...）；强调人时可用 who，如 It is Nina who runs the repair café。

3. hold value 保值

Second-hand goods hold value in a way new ones do not.（二手商品保值的方式是新品比不上的。）

说明：hold / keep / retain one's value 都表示"不贬值"；in a way ... do not 引出方式上的对比，是现象报道常见的比较句式。

读后任务

任务：用 80-100 词介绍一件你愿意（或不愿意）购买的二手物品并说明理由；要求使用一处强调句（It is ... that/who ...）。

参考回答

There is one second-hand item I would happily buy: a used bicycle. It is the frame that matters most, and a steel frame from decades ago often outlasts this year's models. A quick check of the gears and brakes is enough; the scratches only tell the bicycle's story. I would refuse, however, to buy a second-hand phone, because its battery keeps quietly aging even when the screen looks perfect. It is trust, not price, that decides my second-hand purchases — and bicycles, unlike phones, still reward it.

Open any video app tonight and the first clip will feel chosen for you, because it was. Behind that choice sits a recommendation algorithm: a system that measures what you watch, how long you linger, what you skip, and uses those signals to rank the next thousand options. Never before in the history of media have so few signals decided what so many people see.
The engineering is genuinely impressive. Not only does the system predict taste with uncanny accuracy; it also surfaces small creators who could never afford advertising. A village cook and a physics teacher reach audiences their grandparents could not have imagined. So far, the story sounds like a triumph.

> But prediction quietly becomes prescription. Not once does the feed ask what you might need; it

参考译文

今晚打开任何一个视频应用，第一条视频都会像是专为你挑的——因为它确实是。这道选择的背后坐着一个推荐算法：一个记录你看什么、停留多久、跳过什么，并用这些信号为接下来的一千个选项排序的系统。在媒体史上，还从未有过如此少的信号决定这么多人看到什么。

这套工程确实令人赞叹。系统不仅以惊人的精度预测口味，还把永远买不起广告的小创作者推到台前。一位乡村厨师和一位物理老师，抵达了他们的祖辈无法想象的观众规模。到这里为止，故事听起来像一场胜利。

但预测悄悄变成了处方。信息流从不问一次你可能需要什么；它估算什么能留住你，而能留住你的并不总是能让你成长的。长时间的观看让平台受益，于是系统学会按克制的剂量供应愤怒、新鲜感与安慰。用户不是囚徒——但也不完全自由。只有注意到这个循环，人才能从里面跨出去。

监管者已经开始实验。某个虚构国家的"静默权"法规允许用户把信息流切换成时间顺序，早期数据显示出有趣的现象：面对一条朴素的时间线，许多人看得更少、搜索得更多。直到默认设置改变，人们才意识到排名此前在多大程度上替他们掌着舵。

这一切并不意味着该技术应当被抛弃。它意味着默认设置应当与内容本身受到同等的审视。从未有一位看不见的编辑，掌握着如此大的文化权力却只承担如此小的责任。未来十年的问题不是算法能否认识我们，而是我们是否会坚持反过来认识它们。

理解题

1. Which signals does the recommendation algorithm measure?（细节）

A. Only the videos users like.

B. Users' age and location.

C. The price of the users' phones.

D. What you watch, how long you linger, and what you skip.

2. What did early data show under the "right to silence" rule?（细节）

A. Many people watched less and searched more on a plain timeline.

B. Users watched much more than before.

C. Advertisements became longer.

D. Small creators lost their audiences.

3. "Prediction quietly becomes prescription" means that ___.（推断）

A. doctors now prescribe videos to patients

B. predictions made by algorithms are illegal

C. the feed stops merely serving your taste and starts shaping what you want

D. users can prescribe their own content freely

4. Why does the author mention the village cook and the physics teacher?（推断）

A. To mock the algorithm's failures.

B. To acknowledge the genuine benefits of the system before turning to its costs.

C. To encourage readers to become creators.

D. To prove that advertising no longer works.

5. The word "triumph" in Paragraph 2 most nearly means ___.（词义猜测）

A. a serious failure

B. a long argument

C. an official report

D. a great success

6. What is the author's final stance?（作者态度/结构）

A. Recommendation systems should be abandoned.

B. Platforms should be trusted exactly as they are.

C. The technology should stay, but its defaults deserve the same scrutiny as its content.

D. Only the content, not the settings, needs attention.

参考答案

1. D —— 定位：第 1 段 "measures what you watch, how long you linger, what you skip"（观看、停留、跳过三类信号）。

2. A —— 定位：第 4 段 "given a plain timeline, many people watch less and search more"（朴素时间线使观看减少、搜索增多）。

3. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "it estimates what will hold you, and what holds you is not always what grows you"（从迎合到塑造）。

4. B —— 定位：第 2 段先肯定算法带来的可见性，第 3 段以 "But" 转折，属先扬后抑的论证策略。

5. D —— 定位：第 2 段 "So far, the story sounds like a triumph"，承接上文对工程成就的赞叹，指"巨大的成功"。

6. C —— 定位：末段 "None of this means the technology should be abandoned. It means the default deserves the same scrutiny as the content itself"（保留技术，审视默认设置）。

语言点

1. Not only + 助动词 + 主语 …; … also …（部分倒装）

Not only does the system predict taste with uncanny accuracy; it also surfaces small creators who could never afford advertising.（系统不仅以惊人的精度预测口味，还把永远买不起广告的小创作者推到台前。）

说明：Not only 位于句首时前半句须部分倒装（does the system predict），后半句不倒装；同段的 Not once does the feed ask... 与 Never before … have so few signals decided... 属同类倒装。

2. Only + 状语 + 助动词 + 主语（倒装）

Only by noticing the loop can anyone step outside it.（只有注意到这个循环，人才能从里面跨出去。）

说明：only 修饰介词短语或状语从句并置于句首时，主句须部分倒装；注意 only 修饰主语时（Only he can...）不倒装。

3. Not until … did …（时间状语提前的倒装）

Not until the default changed did anyone realise how strongly the ranking had been steering them.（直到默认设置改变，人们才意识到排名在多大程度上替他们掌着舵。）

说明：Not until 引导的时间状语提前时，主句用 did anyone realise 倒装，而从句本身不倒装；这种句式强调"事过才知"，有很强的评论色彩。

读后任务

任务：用 90-110 词就"视频平台是否应默认提供时间顺序信息流"发表观点；要求使用一处倒装（Not only... / Never... / Only by...）。

参考回答

Never before have default settings mattered so much. In my view, every video platform should offer a chronological feed as the standard option. Not only does ranking decide what we watch; it also trains what we want, and most users never even see the switch. Critics say plain timelines are boring, but boring is sometimes what growth requires. Only by making the calm feed the default can companies prove that they respect attention rather than merely harvest it. The algorithm may know us well; the question is who gets to decide what it knows.

Every weekday morning, a small newsroom in the fictional city of Ashcombe releases exactly one story. It arrives in subscribers' inboxes at eight o'clock, it runs to roughly a thousand words, and it was reported over the previous two weeks. There is no breaking-news banner, no rolling update, no comment feed.

The outlet, which calls itself the Larkfield Dispatch, has fewer staff than most local radio stations, yet its renewal rate is the highest in the region's media survey. Its existence poses an uncomfortable question for an industry that equates speed with value: what if the news is better when it is slower?

The case for slowness begins with accuracy. When reporters are given time, they check documents, revisit sources and discard claims that collapse under scrutiny. The Dispatch's editors estimate that a third of their drafts never reach publication, because the story, on longer inspection, turns out not to be a story at all. Under daily deadlines, that same third would have been printed with corrections later, or worse, without them.

Slowness also changes what counts as news. Breaking coverage privileges the dramatic: the resignation, the crash, the surprise vote. A fortnightly cycle has room for the gradual — the decade-long erosion of a river delta, the quiet accumulation of debt in a county hospital system, the slow transfer of a fishing industry to another country. None of these can be photographed at speed; all of them, the Dispatch argues, matter more than most headlines.

Critics reply that slowness is a luxury. In an emergency, citizens need information within minutes, and a publication that files fortnightly cannot inform them. The objection is fair but misses the point. Nobody proposes that weather warnings should wait. The argument is not that fast journalism should disappear but that it should no longer define the whole profession — that the daily feed should sit beside, not instead of, the patient report.

There is, finally, a question of attention. Readers who receive one considered story a day read it differently from readers who scroll past forty fragments. Comprehension follows calm. If the industry's real product were understanding rather than urgency, the newsroom of the future might measure itself not by how fast it publishes, but by how long its readers stay with a sentence. That would be a quieter business, and possibly a more honest one.

参考译文

每个工作日的早晨，虚构城市阿什科姆的一家小编辑部只发布一篇报道。它在八点整抵达订阅者的收件箱，篇幅约一千词，采写周期是之前整整两周。没有突发新闻横幅，没有滚动更新，没有评论流。

这家自称《拉菲尔德通讯》的媒体，人手比多数地方电台还少，续订率却是该地区媒体调查中最高的。它的存在，向一个把速度等同于价值的行业提出了一个令人不适的问题：如果新闻慢一点反而更好呢？

为"慢"辩护的理由始于准确。当记者被给予时间，他们会核对文件、回访信源，并丢弃那些经不起细查的主张。《通讯》的编辑估计，他们三分之一的草稿从未走到发表那一步，因为经过更长的检视，那个故事根本算不上故事。在日报截稿压力下，同样那三分之一会被印出来——之后再更正，或者更糟，连更正都没有。

慢也改变了什么才算新闻。突发报道给予戏剧性事件优先地位：辞职、事故、意外投票。两周一个周期则有空间容纳渐变——一条河的三角洲十年间的侵蚀，一个县级医院系统债务的悄然累积，一个渔业向另一个国家的缓慢转移。这些都无法被快速"拍下"；而《通讯》主张，它们比多数头条更重要。

批评者回答说，慢是奢侈品。紧急情况下，公民需要几分钟之内获得信息，而两周一发稿的刊物满足不了他们。这一反对是公允的，但没有打中要害。没有人主张天气警报应当等待。论点不是快新闻应当消失，而是它不应再定义整个行业——每日信息流应当与耐心的深度报道并存，而非取而代之。

最后还有一个注意力的问题。每天收到一篇深思过的报道的读者，与划过四十个碎片的读者，阅读方式并不相同。理解跟随平静。如果行业的真正产品是理解而非紧迫感，未来的编辑部衡量自己的标准，也许不是发文有多快，而是读者与一句话相处多久。那会是一门更安静的生意，也可能是一门更诚实的生意。

理解题

1. What is unusual about the way the Larkfield Dispatch operates?（细节）

A. It publishes several short stories every morning.

B. It releases one story per weekday, reported over the previous two weeks.

C. It only republishes stories that have already appeared elsewhere.

D. It updates its website continuously throughout the day.

2. What can be inferred from the editors' estimate that a third of their drafts never reach publication?（推断）

A. The editors are too slow to finish their work.

B. Readers of the Dispatch prefer shorter stories.

C. Under daily deadlines, some of these drafts would have been printed anyway.

D. The Dispatch receives more story ideas than it can handle.

3. The author mentions "the slow transfer of a fishing industry to another country" mainly to show that ___.（推断）

A. environmental topics are the Dispatch's favourite subject

B. gradual developments can matter although breaking coverage cannot capture them

C. the region's fishing industry has already collapsed

D. photographs are unimportant in slow journalism

4. In Paragraph 4, "Breaking coverage privileges the dramatic: the resignation, the crash, the surprise vote", the verb "privileges" is closest in meaning to ___.（词义猜测）

A. gives priority or advantage to

B. grants a special legal right to

C. treats with gentle humour

D. describes in minute detail

5. How does the author deal with the objection that "slowness is a luxury"?（论证结构）

A. By refusing to mention any criticism of slow news.

B. By accepting the objection completely and abandoning the claim.

C. By conceding it is fair in emergencies but limiting the claim to coexistence rather than replacement.

D. By arguing that emergencies never require fast information.

6. Which best describes the author's attitude towards slow news?（作者立场）

A. Enthusiastic advocacy without any reservation.

B. Cautious support that acknowledges its limits.

C. Complete indifference to the debate.

D. Firm opposition to the Dispatch's model.

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 1-2 段 "releases exactly one story... reported over the previous two weeks"（每个工作日只发一篇，采写两周）。

2. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "Under daily deadlines, that same third would have been printed with corrections later, or worse, without them"（日报截稿下照样刊出，暗示速度以准确为代价）。

3. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "None of these can be photographed at speed"（渐变议题无法被快速拍下，突发模式覆盖不到，但很重要）。

4. A —— 定位：第 4 段，冒号后列举辞职、事故、意外投票等戏剧性事件，可推知 privileges 意为"给予优先地位"。

5. C —— 定位：第 5 段 "The objection is fair but misses the point" 与 "sit beside, not instead of"（先承认公允，再以"并存而非取代"收窄主张）。

6. B —— 定位：第 5 段 "Nobody proposes that weather warnings should wait"（为对立面留地步）与第 6 段 "possibly a more honest one"（possibly 表克制的推断），属有保留的支持。

语言点

1. equate A with B（把 A 与 B 等同起来）

The passage criticizes an industry that equates speed with value.（文章批评了一个把速度等同于价值的行业。）

说明：equate 与 with 固定搭配，多用于批评某种简化等同；其名词化形式 the equation of A with B 是评论体的常见变体。

2. not A but B（不是 A 而是 B）

The argument is not that fast journalism should disappear but that it should no longer define the whole profession.（论点不是快新闻应当消失，而是它不应再定义整个行业。）

说明：not...but 连接两个平行的 that 从句，把"否认什么"与"主张什么"压进同一句，是提出克制替代方案的标配句式。

3. If...were..., ...would...（were 型虚拟条件句）

If the industry's real product were understanding rather than urgency, the newsroom would measure itself differently.（如果行业的真正产品是理解而非紧迫感，编辑部衡量自己的方式就会不同。）

说明：were 型虚拟表示与现状相反的假设，正式评论常以 That would be... 收束推论，如本篇末句 That would be a quieter business。

读后任务

任务：仿照第 5 段"让步—反驳"的结构，用约 120 词写一段英文短评，回应以下观点：Slow news is a luxury for people who already have time. 要求：至少使用一次 not A but B 结构和一个虚拟条件句。

参考回答

I understand why the objection sounds persuasive: time is unevenly distributed, and a fortnightly journal can feel like an inheritance rather than a service. But the argument mistakes the format for the audience. A slow outlet does not ask readers to wait; it asks the newsroom to. If the Dispatch published daily, its stories would not reach you faster — they would simply be thinner. What busy readers need is not more frequency but better filtering, and slowness is one way of buying it. The real luxury, I would argue, is the belief that speed costs nothing. The hours spent scrolling past forty fragments are hours too; they are merely spent badly.

Attention was once described as a spotlight: a narrow beam that the mind directed at one object at a time. That metaphor, inherited from the psychologist Harriet Voss's laboratory studies of the 1970s, now looks charmingly incomplete.

In the fictional town of Calder Bay, researchers at the Ashgrove Institute for Cognitive Health have spent four years observing how office workers distribute their attention across screens, conversations and interruptions. Their findings, published last spring, suggest that the spotlight has been replaced by something more like a spray: many faint beams, none of them steady.

The Institute's volunteers wore devices that logged every switch between tasks. The average worker, the data showed, changed focus every eleven minutes, and needed roughly twenty-five to return to the original task's full depth. Since the twenty-five rarely followed the eleven, most afternoons were spent in a state the researchers call "continuous partial engagement" — present everywhere, settled nowhere. Even in meetings nominally devoted to listening, the devices recorded a second screen open in four cases out of five.

What makes this finding uncomfortable is the discovery that interruption is not merely endured but invited. When a difficult paragraph refused to resolve, when a spreadsheet cell would not balance, participants reached for the nearest shallow task with visible relief. Difficulty, not novelty, appeared to drive the flight. The switching, in other words, was not imposed by machines alone; it was a collaboration between the device and the avoidance.

Some psychologists draw a hopeful conclusion from the same data. If the trigger is difficulty rather than dopamine alone, then attention may be trainable in exactly the way a muscle is: not by willpower announcements but by reducing the cost of staying. Calder Bay's school pilot, which placed a ten-minute "depth timer" beside every writing task, reported a doubling of uninterrupted reading spans within a single term.

Whether such results survive outside a pilot is another matter. But the direction of the research is clear. Attention, long treated as a fixed character trait, is being re-described as an environment — something designed, degraded and, with effort, redesignable. The question the twenty-first century has yet to answer is not who will be distracted, but who will accept the job of designer.

参考译文

注意力曾被称为聚光灯：一束窄光，心灵一次将其对准一个对象。这个隐喻得自心理学家哈丽特·沃斯二十世纪七十年代的实验室研究，如今看来已魅力有余而准确不足。

在虚构小镇考尔德贝，阿什格罗夫认知健康研究所的研究员花了四年时间观察办公族如何把注意力分配到屏幕、交谈与打断之间。他们去年春天发表的发现表明，聚光灯已被一种更像喷雾的东西取代：许多微弱的光束，没有一束稳定。

研究所的志愿者佩戴了记录每一次任务切换的设备。数据显示，普通工作者平均每十一分钟改变一次焦点，而回到原任务的全部深度约需二十五分钟。既然二十五很少跟得上十一，多数下午便消磨

在研究者所称的"连续部分投入"状态里——处处在场，无处安顿。即便在名义上用于倾听的会议中，设备也记录到五例中有四例开着第二块屏幕。

这一发现令人不适之处在于：打断不只是被忍受，更是被邀请。当一段难文迟迟无法理顺、当一张表格的数字迟迟不能配平，参与者会带着可见的宽慰伸手抓住最近的一项浅层任务。驱动逃离的似乎是困难，而非新奇。换言之，切换并非仅由机器强加；它是设备与回避之间的合谋。

一些心理学家从同一批数据中得出令人振作的结论。如果触发因素是困难而非多巴胺本身，那么注意力或许可以像肌肉一样训练：不靠意志力宣言，而靠降低"停留"的成本。考尔德贝的学校试点在每项写作任务旁放置一个十分钟的"深度计时器"，据报一个学期内不间断阅读的时长翻了一倍。

这类结果能否走出试点是另一回事。但研究的方向是清楚的。注意力长期被视为一种固定的性格特质，如今正被重新描述为一种环境——某种被设计、被损耗、也可以费力重新设计的东西。二十一世纪尚未回答的问题，不是谁会被分心，而是谁将接受设计师这份工作。

理解题

1. According to the Ashgrove Institute's data, what is the rhythm of task-switching?（细节）

A. Focus changed every eleven minutes, and returning to full depth took about twenty-five.

B. Focus changed every twenty-five minutes, and recovery took eleven.

C. Focus changed roughly every four hours.

D. Focus never changed during meetings.

2. Why do the researchers prefer "continuous partial engagement" to a simpler term like "distraction"?（推断）

A. Because the volunteers stopped working altogether.

B. Because workers were simultaneously present in many shallow tasks rather than fully absent from work.

C. Because the devices failed to record anything useful.

D. Because meetings were the only source of interruption.

3. What does "a collaboration between the device and the avoidance" imply?（推断）

A. Machines alone are to blame for distraction.

B. Distraction happens only when employers permit it.

C. People actively seek relief from difficulty, so they co-produce the switching.

D. Avoiding hard tasks is always irrational.

4. In Paragraph 4, participants reached "for the nearest shallow task with visible relief". The word "relief" suggests that the difficult task felt ___.（词义猜测）

A. thrilling

B. burdensome and unwelcome

C. profitable

D. inevitable

5. What role does the Calder Bay school pilot play in the argument?（论证结构）

A. It disproves the Institute's laboratory findings.

B. It shows that children are more distractible than adults.

C. It provides trial evidence that attention responds to environmental change, supporting the "redesign" thesis.

D. It removes the need for any further research.

6. How confident is the author that attention can be redesigned?（作者立场）

A. Fully certain that every pilot will scale up everywhere.

B. Convinced that the research is unreliable.

C. Certain that attention is a fixed character trait.

D. Open but qualified: the direction is promising, the evidence still pilot-sized.

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 3 段 "changed focus every eleven minutes, and needed roughly twenty-five to return to the original task's full depth"（11 分钟一切换，25 分钟回深度）。

2. B —— 定位：第 3 段 "present everywhere, settled nowhere"（处处在场、无处安顿，说明是"部分投入"而非完全分心）。

3. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "Difficulty, not novelty, appeared to drive the flight"（人因困难主动逃向浅层任务，与设备合谋）。

4. B —— 定位：第 4 段，relief（宽慰）反衬困难任务令人不适，逃离带有解脱感。

5. C —— 定位：第 5 段，试点把论点从诊断推进到干预，为"注意力可训练、环境可再设计"提供证据。

6. D —— 定位：第 6 段 "Whether such results survive outside a pilot is another matter"（留有余地）与结尾 "who will accept the job of designer"（肯定方向）。

语言点

1. not merely A but B（不只是 A，更是 B）

Interruption is not merely endured but invited.（打断不只是被忍受，更是被邀请。）

说明：merely 是 not only 的正式变体；but 后省略与前半平行的动词 is，被动到主动的转换正是本句的张力所在。

2. be treated as... / be re-described as...（被视为…／被重新描述为…）

Attention, long treated as a fixed character trait, is being re-described as an environment.（注意力长期被视为固定的性格特质，如今正被重新描述为一种环境。）

说明：过去分词插入语加现在进行时被动式，是学术普及文体标记"范式转移"的高频框架；re-describe 比 redefine 更强调描述层的改动。

3. in exactly the way + 从句（正像…的方式）

Attention may be trainable in exactly the way a muscle is.（注意力可能完全像肌肉一样是可以训练的。）

说明：in the way (that) 引导方式从句；句末 a muscle is 后省略 trainable，避免重复，是正式语域可接受且比 just as 更紧凑的写法。

读后任务

任务：用约 120 词描述你自己的"注意力环境"，并提出一项具体改造；要求使用一次 be treated as / be re-described as 框架和一次 not merely...but 结构。

参考回答

My attention environment is designed by defaults I never chose: the phone face-up on the desk, the inbox open behind every window, the eleven-minute rhythm the researchers describe. For years this was treated as a personal failing and re-described, each January, as a matter of willpower. Both descriptions missed the point. The cheapest redesign is not an app but a barrier: I now charge the phone in the hallway and move one recurring task — writing — to the first hour of the morning, before any screen has been consulted. The change is not merely practical but diagnostic: when a difficult paragraph no longer has a shallow exit nearby, I discover how often the urge to flee was never about the paragraph at all.

Ask people why they work and most will begin with money; ask them what they would lose if the money arrived without the work, and the answers grow hesitant. That hesitation is the subject of a study conducted at the University of Northmere, which followed four hundred employees of a fictional Redmarley engineering works from the year before its closure to three years after. The researchers expected hardship; what they had not expected was the shape of it.

Income loss, once unemployment benefits were counted, explained less than a fifth of the decline in reported well-being. What explained far more was the disappearance of structure: the alarm that had a reason, the timetable that organized a week, the colleagues who noticed an absence. Men and women who had complained for decades about early mornings reported, after two years of unbroken free time, a strange longing for the morning shift.

Social theorists have long distinguished between employment and its quieter products — status, rhythm, identity, the daily proof of being needed. What the Northmere study adds is a sense of proportion. The meaning of work, it suggests, is not a luxury of the privileged; it operates most strongly precisely among those with the least bargaining power, for whom the workplace is often the main arena of public life.

The finding complicates two popular positions at once. Against the view that work is mere toil to be minimised, it shows what collapses when toil vanishes. Against the view that any job is a gift, it shows that meaningless work corrodes as surely as none at all: employees who moved into the region's new warehouse jobs reported higher incomes and lower self-respect.

If a society decided that it owed people not just income but a use, its institutions would look different. Training would be judged by where it led; public works would be planned around demand rather than around accounting cycles; retirement itself might be renegotiated around contribution rather than around age.

Whether that decision is possible — whether a use can be arranged for everyone without inventing work for its own sake — is the question the next decade will have to answer. The residents of Redmarley, still queuing at the labour exchange, have already asked it in the only form available to them: by showing up, month after month, for jobs that no longer exist.

参考译文

问人们为什么工作，多数人从钱说起；问他们如果钱照发而工作消失，自己会失去什么，回答便开始迟疑。这份迟疑正是北梅尔大学一项研究的主题：研究追踪了虚构小镇雷德马利一家工程厂的四百名员工，从工厂关闭前一年到关闭后三年。研究者预期到困苦；他们没有预期到的是困苦的形状。

在计入失业津贴之后，收入损失只能解释幸福感降幅中不到五分之一的部分。解释力强得多的是结构的消失：那个重新有了理由的闹钟，那张安排了一周的作息表，那些会注意到你缺席的同事。抱怨了几十年早起的人们，在两年不间断的自由时间之后，报告了对早班的奇怪渴望。

社会理论家早就区分了雇佣与其更安静的产物——地位、节奏、身份，以及"被需要"的日常证明。北梅尔研究的贡献是一种比例感。它提示：工作的意义并非特权者的奢侈品；恰恰在议价能力最弱的人群中，它作用最强，因为对他们而言，工作场所往往是公共生活的主要舞台。

这一发现同时让两种流行立场变得复杂。针对"工作只是应被尽量削减的苦役"，它展示了苦役消失后崩塌的是什么；针对"任何工作都是馈赠"，它展示了无意义的工作与无工作同样确定地侵蚀人：转入本地区新仓储岗位的前员工，报告了更高的收入与更低的自我尊重。

如果一个社会认定自己欠人们的不仅是收入，还有一份用处，它的制度将呈现另一种面貌。培训将以"通向何处"来评判；公共工程将围绕需求而非账目周期来规划；退休本身也可能围绕贡献而非年龄来重新协商。

这个决定是否可能——能否在不凭空制造无谓工作的前提下为每个人安排一份用处——是下一个十年必须回答的问题。仍在就业服务站排队的雷德马利居民，已经用他们唯一可用的形式把问题问了出来：一个月又一个月，为那些已不存在的工作准时到场。

理解题

1. What proportion of the decline in well-being did income loss explain?（细节）

A. More than half.

B. About a third.

C. Less than a fifth.

D. Nearly all of it.

2. The "strange longing for the morning shift" reported by former workers suggests that ___.（推断）

A. they secretly preferred manual labour to leisure

B. the loss of structure and belonging mattered more than they had admitted while employed

C. they wanted to return to lower pay

D. unemployment benefits were too generous

3. The contrast between former factory workers and those in new warehouse jobs shows that ___.（推断）

A. higher income always raises self-respect

B. factories are better workplaces than warehouses

C. income and a sense of worth can move in opposite directions when work is meaningless

D. the region's economy recovered quickly after the closure

4. In Paragraph 4, "meaningless work corrodes as surely as none at all", the verb "corrode" is closest to ___.（词义猜测）

A. to reward gradually

B. to wear away or destroy gradually

C. to discuss openly

D. to preserve completely

5. The study is said to "complicate two popular positions at once". These two positions are ___.（论证结构）

A. that work is mere toil to be minimized, and that any job is a gift

B. that income is everything, and that money does not matter

C. that factories should close, and that they should stay open

D. that unemployment is a choice, and that it is a misfortune

6. Is the author claiming that work is inherently good?（作者立场）

A. Yes; all employment dignifies people.

B. No; the author values the quieter products of work but admits meaningless work harms as much as no work.

C. Yes, but only for the privileged.

D. No; the author believes work should be abolished.

参考答案

1. C —— 定位：第 2 段 "explained less than a fifth of the decline in reported well-being"（不足五分之一）。

2. B —— 定位：第 2 段，抱怨早起多年的人反而渴望早班，说明失去的是结构与被注意，而非闲暇本身。

3. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "reported higher incomes and lower self-respect"（收入升、自尊降，二者反向）。

4. B —— 定位：第 4 段，corrode 本义"腐蚀"，与 as surely as none at all 并列，强调缓慢而确定的损害。

5. A —— 定位：第 4 段 "Against the view that work is mere toil... Against the view that any job is a gift..."（两个 Against 句点名两种立场）。

6. B —— 定位：第 3 段区分就业与其"更安静的产物"，第 4 段承认无意义工作同样侵蚀人，第 5-6 段落在"社会是否欠人们一个用处"的开放问题上。

语言点

1. explain + 比例（数据评论句式）

Income loss, once unemployment benefits were counted, explained less than a fifth of the decline in reported well-being.（在计入失业津贴后，收入损失只能解释幸福感降幅中不到五分之一。

说明：explain 在数据评论中表示"解释（某现象的多大比例）"，近义搭配是 account for；once counted 是"once + 过去分词"的省略状语，相当于 once they were counted。

2. Against the view that..., ...（针对…的观点）

Against the view that any job is a gift, it shows that meaningless work corrodes as surely as none at all.（针对"任何工作都是馈赠"的看法，它展示了无意义的工作与无工作同样确定地侵蚀人。）

说明：Against 短语前置引出被反驳的立场，是评论体组织反驳的骨架；两个 Against 句并列时形成对仗，是本段的组织手段。

3. as surely as（与…同样确定地）

Meaningless work corrodes as surely as none at all.（无意义的工作之伤人与无工作同样确定。）

说明：as + 副词 + as 比较结构；比较从句省略谓语（as no work corrodes），保留 surely 使两个分句语义严格平行，句末 at all 加强全否定。

读后任务

任务：用约 120 词回答：If a basic income covered your rent, would you still want a job? 要求：至少使用两个名词化短语（如 the loss of structure, the proof of being needed）和一个 Against the view that... 句式。

参考回答

Probably yes — though the honest answer depends on what I mean by job. Covered for rent, I might refuse employment I despise, and that refusal seems exactly what the Northmere study would predict for someone choosing between corroding work and none. What I would not want to lose is the quieter cargo a job carries: the rhythm of a week, the proof of being needed, the small public self an occupation permits. Against the view that income settles the matter, the Redmarley data suggest people notice the disappearance of structure faster than the arrival of money. A society that replaced wages without replacing use would discover, belatedly, that it had abolished the alarm clock but kept the insomnia.

Whether the language a person speaks leaves a measurable mark on how that person thinks is one of the oldest controversies in the study of mind. The extreme positions are well worn. At one end stands the claim that vocabulary is destiny: a community without a word for a distinction cannot entertain the distinction. At the other stands the assertion that thought is language-blind, that all minds run on the same logic dressed in different words. Between these poles, a quieter body of experimental evidence has been accumulating for a generation.

In a series of studies at the fictional Velder Institute, researchers compared speakers of languages that assign grammatical gender to nouns with speakers of languages that do not. Participants were asked to describe, each in a single word, a key, a bridge and the sun. Speakers of gendered languages produced systematically different adjectives: nouns learned as feminine drew descriptions of elegance and warmth, while nouns learned as masculine drew words of force and danger. The effect survived translation tasks, memory tests and even the naming of unfamiliar objects — a sign that the influence operates below the level of deliberate choice.

Critics point out, correctly, that association is not causation. A culture that calls the sun feminine may separately teach its children to speak of warmth, so language may be the mirror of habit rather than its engine. The Velder team's answer was to move from description to intervention. Teaching adult beginners a gendered language for six months, they recorded shifts in object ratings that tracked the grammar rather than the textbooks' cultural notes. The direction of the arrow, they argue, runs at least partly from grammar into thought.

The defensible conclusion is modest. Language neither imprisons thought nor leaves it untouched. It behaves like a current in a river: a swimmer can cross against it, but the crossing costs effort, and most of the time most swimmers drift.

What a language makes easy to say, its speakers end up saying often; what is said often comes, in time, to feel natural, and then to feel necessary. A quarter of the learners in the intervention study, notably, described the shift as a change in the objects rather than in themselves. The shaping, on this evidence, is real — and so is the freedom that remains inside it.

参考译文

一个人所说的语言是否给其思维方式留下可测量的印记，是心智研究中最古老的争议之一。两个极端立场早已被磨得发亮。一端是"词汇即命运"的主张：一个社区若没有表达某种区分的词，就无法在心中容纳这种区分。另一端则是"思维不辨语言"的断言：所有心智运行于同一套逻辑，只是穿着不同的词句。在这两极之间，一代人的时间里，一项更安静的实验证据一直在积累。

在虚构的维尔德研究所的一系列研究中，研究者比较了名词分语法性别的语言的使用者与不作这种区分的语言的使用者。参与者被要求各用一个词来描述一把钥匙、一座桥和太阳。

性别语言的使用者产生了系统性差异的形容词：被作为阴性习得的名词引出优雅与温暖，被作为阳性习得的名词引出力量与危险。这一效应在翻译任务、记忆测试乃至给陌生物体命名的任务中都保持住了——这说明其影响在刻意选择的层面之下运作。

批评者正确地指出，关联不是因果。一个把太阳称作阴性的文化，可能另有一套教导孩子谈论温暖的方式，因此语言也许只是习惯的镜子，而非习惯的引擎。维尔德团队的回应是从描述走向干预。他们教成年初学者一门性别语言六个月，记录到物体评分的偏移追踪的是语法，而非课本里的文化注释。他们主张，箭头的方向至少有一部分是从语法指向思维的。

站得住脚的结论是克制的。语言既不囚禁思维，也不对它毫无影响。它像河中的水流：游泳者可以逆流横渡，但渡河费力，而且多数时候多数人随波而行。

一种语言让人容易说出口的，其使用者就会说得频繁；说得频繁的，假以时日便显得自然，继而显得必要。值得注意的是，干预研究中四分之一的学习者把这种转变描述为"物体变了"，而非"我变了"。以此为据，这种塑造是真实的——而留存于其内的自由同样真实。

理解题

1. In the Velder studies, what systematic difference appeared between the two groups of speakers?（细节）

A. Gendered-language speakers produced adjectives that tracked the grammatical gender they had learned.

B. Non-gendered-language speakers refused to describe the objects.

C. Gendered-language speakers were much slower in translation tasks.

D. Both groups gave identical descriptions.

2. The author writes that critics point out "correctly, that association is not causation". Why does the author grant this?（推断）

A. To end the debate immediately.

B. Because culture and language are entangled, so honesty requires conceding the limits of purely descriptive evidence.

C. Because the studies were never published.

D. Because grammar has no influence whatsoever.

3. What did the six-month intervention add that the earlier descriptive studies could not provide?（推断）

A. Proof that language has no effect on thought.

B. A new vocabulary list for beginners.

C. Evidence about the direction of influence, since the shifts tracked the grammar rather than the textbooks' cultural notes.

D. Proof that children learn languages faster than adults.

4. In Paragraph 1, "a community without a word for a distinction cannot entertain the distinction", the verb "entertain" most nearly means ___.（词义猜测）

A. amuse an audience

B. consider or hold in mind

C. invite guests

D. reject outright

5. The river-current simile in Paragraphs 5-6 positions the author ___.（论证结构）

A. with the claim that vocabulary is destiny

B. with the assertion that thought is language-blind

C. outside the debate entirely

D. between the extremes: language shapes default costs, yet effortful crossing remains possible

6. The author calls the conclusion "modest" because it ___.（作者立场）

A. denies that language influences thought at all

B. claims that language completely imprisons thought

C. rejects both extremes, claiming influence on what is easy to say while preserving freedom

D. relies on a single anecdote

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 3 段 "nouns learned as feminine drew descriptions of elegance and warmth, while nouns learned as masculine drew words of force and danger"（形容词随习得的语法性系统偏移）。

2. B —— 定位：第 4 段，文化与语言在现实中难以切开，承认这一点使论证诚实；但这只是对描述性证据的保留，并不能终结争论。

3. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "shifts in object ratings that tracked the grammar rather than the textbooks' cultural notes"（偏移追踪语法而非文化注释，为"箭头方向"提供因果证据）。

4. B —— 定位：第 1 段，entertain 在此处为书面义"在心中设想、容纳"，而非"娱乐"。

5. D —— 定位：第 5-6 段，逆流可行（反对决定论）但费力、多数人随流（反对无关论），语言塑造默认成本而非禁绝可能。

6. C —— 定位：第 5-6 段 "neither imprisons thought nor leaves it untouched"（各打两极五十大板），只主张语言改变"容易说出口的东西"。

语言点

1. Association is not causation.（相关不等于因果）

Critics point out, correctly, that association is not causation.（批评者正确地指出，关联不等于因果。）

说明：X is not Y 的名词对名词句式把方法论压缩成格言，学术写作高频；更技术化的变体是 correlation does not imply causation。

2. At one end stands...; at the other stands...（一端是…；另一端是…）

At one end stands the claim that vocabulary is destiny; at the other stands the assertion that thought is language-blind.（一端是"词汇即命运"的主张；另一端是"思维不辨语言"的断言。）

说明：地点状语前置触发完全倒装（stands + 主语），两个对立命题并置开篇，是学术评论"摆谱"的经典写法；claim 与 assertion 换词避免重复。

3. neither A nor B（既非 A 亦非 B）

Language neither imprisons thought nor leaves it untouched.（语言既不囚禁思维，也不对它毫无影响。）

说明：neither...nor 连接两个平行谓语并共用宾语 thought；比 not...or 更正式，适合表达拒绝两个极端的中间立场。

读后任务

任务：从你所学的外语或方言中举一个"语言塑造默认思维"的例子，用约 120 词写成短文；要求使用一次 Association is not causation 式的让步和一次 neither...nor 结构。

参考回答

My first foreign language marked verbs for certainty — a particle that told the listener whether I had seen the event myself or merely heard of it. Translating into English, I kept feeling that a floorboard had been removed: statements I could make confidently in one language required, in the other, an unearned air of authority. A sceptic would reply that association is not causation — perhaps my culture, not my grammar, taught the caution. That may be so, yet the habit sits in the verb endings, not in the proverbs. Learning the language neither rewired my mind nor left it untouched; it simply raised the cost of speaking carelessly, and costs, repeated daily, harden into character.

There is a paradox at the heart of urban life that every generation rediscovers: the cities built to bring people together are also the places where loneliness is most vividly reported. The district of Sankt Verene — a fictional borough used here for illustration — has three times the national average of shared courtyards, and last winter its health authority registered loneliness as a formal category of complaint for the first time.

One explanation blames density itself: among millions of strangers, indifference becomes rational.

But density is a poor suspect. Villages can be suffocatingly lonely; apartment blocks can hum with neighbourliness. The difference, urbanists increasingly argue, lies not in how many people
a place contains but in what its spaces make people do.

A courtyard with benches and a shared herb bed generates small, repeated, low-stakes encounters; a lobby with a turnstile generates nothing but passage. Loneliness, in this account, is less a failure of numbers than a failure of design. What corridors never produce, benches can: the casual, interruptible, repeatable contact from which acquaintance, and eventually belonging, are assembled.

The market has noticed. Estate agents in Verene now advertise "social infrastructure" — libraries kept open late, tool-lending desks, rooms bookable for shared dinners — and developers who install such features report that their buildings rent faster. There is something uneasy in the translation: the remedy for isolation is being sold as an amenity, priced like a gym membership. A civic good obtainable only by subscription may simply relocate exclusivity rather than cure it.

Yet the direction of travel seems right, and a less commercial version is being tested.
Verene's council has begun leasing its ground floors — the dead strip of shutters beneath the apartments
— to anyone promising a use that involves strangers meeting: a mending circle, a language table, a choir with no auditions. The rents are nominal; the requirement is that the doors stay open.

Whether such experiments survive their first difficult winter is always the question. But the principle they embody deserves to outlast them: that loneliness is not a private misfortune to be endured alone but a structural fact, produced by decisions about doors, benches and leases > and therefore open, in principle, to being decided differently.

参考译文

城市生活的心脏处有一个悖论，每一代人都会重新发现：为聚集而建的城市，恰恰是孤独被报告得最鲜明的地方。虚构城区圣韦雷内（此处仅作示例）的共享庭院是全国平均的三倍，而去年冬天，其卫生部门首次把孤独登记为正式的投诉类别。

一种解释归罪于密度本身：在数以百万计的陌生人中间，冷漠成为理性选择。但密度是个糟糕的嫌疑对象。村庄可以窒息般孤独，公寓楼也可以洋溢着睦邻之谊。城市研究者日益主张，差别不在于一个地方容纳多少人，而在于它的空间让人们做什么。

带长椅与共享香草园的庭院制造微小、重复、低风险的相遇；装着旋转闸门的门厅只制造通行。在这种解释下，孤独与其说是数量的失败，不如说是设计的失败。走廊永远造不出的东西，长椅造得出来：那种随意、可打断、可重复的接触——熟识、乃至归属感，都是由它装配起来的。

市场注意到了。韦雷内的房产中介如今推销"社交基础设施"——延时开放的图书馆、工具借用台、可预订共享晚餐的房间——而安装了这类设施的开发商报告说，楼租得更快了。这种翻译里有些令人不安的东西：孤独的解药正被当作便利设施出售，定价如同健身会员。一种只有订阅才能获得的公民善品，也许只是把排他性搬了个地方，而非治愈了它。

然而方向似乎是对的，一个不那么商业化的版本正在试点。韦雷内议会开始把底层门面——公寓楼下一排排关着卷帘门的死地带——租给任何承诺"让陌生人相遇"的用途：一个缝补圈，一张语言桌，一支不设试音的合唱队。租金只是象征性的；条件是门保持敞开。

这类实验能否熬过第一个难熬的冬天，永远都是问题。但它们体现的原则值得比它们本身更长久：孤独不是应当独自忍受的私人不幸，而是一种结构性事实，由关于门、长椅与租约的决定制造——因此，在原则上，它可以被另行决定。

理解题

1. What has Verene's council begun doing with its ground floors?（细节）

A. Selling them to commercial developers.

B. Leasing them cheaply to uses that bring strangers together, on condition the doors stay open.

C. Closing them for safety reasons.

D. Converting them into private gyms.

2. The author finds "something uneasy" in the market's version of social infrastructure because ___.（推断）

A. libraries are too expensive to run

B. developers build too slowly

C. a civic good sold like a gym membership may reproduce exclusivity instead of curing isolation

D. tenants dislike tool-lending desks

3. Calling loneliness "a structural fact" implies that ___.（推断）

A. lonely people are responsible for their own condition

B. loneliness is natural and unchangeable

C. only governments ever feel lonely

D. loneliness arises from design decisions and can therefore be decided differently

4. In Paragraph 5, "The rents are nominal", the word "nominal" means ___.（词义猜测）

A. existing in name only; token, very small

B. extremely high

C. strictly commercial

D. forbidden by law

5. Paragraph 4 (the market's response) mainly functions to ___.（论证结构）

A. prove that the market has already solved loneliness

B. acknowledge that the problem is recognised while exposing the risk of commercialisation, preparing the public alternative in Paragraph 5

C. contradict the diagnosis made in Paragraphs 2-3

D. bring the discussion to a close

6. Where does the author stand on the market's entry into the business of loneliness?（作者立场）

A. Uncritically enthusiastic.

B. Strongly opposed to any private involvement.

C. Supportive of the direction but critical of subscription-based exclusivity.

D. Completely indifferent.

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 5 段 "leasing its ground floors... to anyone promising a use that involves strangers meeting... the requirement is that the doors stay open"（象征性租金租给"让陌生人相遇"的用途，条件是门敞开）。

2. C —— 定位：第 4 段 "A civic good obtainable only by subscription may simply relocate exclusivity rather than cure it"（订阅制善品只是转移排他性）。

3. D —— 定位：第 6 段 "produced by decisions about doors, benches and leases — and therefore open, in principle, to being decided differently"（结构性事实由决定制造，故可另行决定）。

4. A —— 定位：第 5 段，与"让陌生人相遇"的非商业条件并列，nominal 指象征性的极低租金。

5. B —— 定位：第 4-5 段，市场回应证明问题已被承认（方向正确），同时揭示商业化风险，为第 5 段公共替代方案铺垫对照。

6. C —— 定位：第 5 段 "Yet the direction of travel seems right"（肯定方向）与第 4 段对订阅制排他性的批评（保留态度）。

语言点

1. less A than B（与其说是 A，不如说是 B）

Loneliness is less a failure of numbers than a failure of design.（孤独与其说是数量的失败，不如说是设计的失败。）

说明：less + 名词短语 + than + 名词短语，对两个名词化短语作定性比较，是评论体改写因果判断的利器；注意比较项保持名词平行。

2. sold as..., priced like...（被当作…出售，定价如同…）

The remedy for isolation is being sold as an amenity, priced like a gym membership.（孤独的解药正被当作便利设施出售，定价如同健身会员。）

说明：两个过去分词短语并列后置修饰名词，用商品化隐喻完成批判；这是"名词化 + 分词链"的典型评论节奏。

3. be open to + 动名词（在原则上可被…）

Loneliness is therefore open, in principle, to being decided differently.（因此孤独在原则上可以被另行决定。）

说明：be open to 中的 to 是介词，后接动名词（此处为被动式 being decided）；in principle 作插入语，让限定与主张在同一句内完成。

读后任务

任务：为你居住的街道或楼栋设计一项"反孤独改造"，用约 120 词写一份英文提案；要求使用一次 less A than B 结构和一个名词化主语（如 the cost of..., the absence of...）。

Proposal: open the ground-floor shutter of our block to a weekend tool library. The problem here is not the absence of neighbours but the absence of reasons to meet them; the corridor produces passage, never encounter. The cost of the scheme is modest — one room, two shelves, a rota of three households. The design principle is borrowed from Verene: a shared space works when it generates small, repeated, low-stakes tasks, and borrowed tools are exactly that. This is less a charity project than an infrastructure project. If the experiment survives its first winter, the block will have gained what no rent contract lists: a place where being seen is ordinary again.

Ten years ago the fictional region of Caldeny introduced a rule that its own officials expected to fail quietly: no school, however celebrated, could admit more than a fixed share of its intake from families with university-educated parents. The measure, aimed at the selective schools that dominated the region's league tables, was described in the local press as an attack on excellence. A decade later, the results invite a more careful description.

The policy did redistribute. Selective schools, forced to widen their intake, saw early test averages fall — then recover within three years, a pattern that held across nearly every cohort. Meanwhile the comprehensive schools, which had been losing their strongest applicants, stabilized: teachers stopped leaving at the old rate, and results rose for the first time in a decade. Overall attainment across the region climbed modestly, and the gap between the richest and poorest quarters narrowed by about a third.

Two lessons emerge from the Caldeny data, and neither is the one partisans on either side expected.

The first is that "excellence" in selective systems is partly an accounting artefact: a school measured by its intake's prior performance can look brilliant while adding rather little. Once the intake changed, the value added — the learning a school actually produces — turned out to vary far less between institutions than the league tables had implied.

The second lesson is more uncomfortable for reformers. Mixed intakes helped the weakest students most and hurt nobody much, but they worked slowly, and their costs fell on the schools least equipped to argue their own case. Equity, the decade suggests, is not primarily a matter of grand declarations; it is a matter of who bears the administrative weight of change, and for how long.

Whether Caldeny's model could survive transfer to a larger, less administratively competent region is doubtful — its architects concede as much, pointing to the small cohorts and the unusually stable teaching force that made the experiment possible.

But the experiment does settle one argument. The trade-off between fairness and standards, invoked so confidently for so long, may often be not a law of nature but a choice between two ways of counting — and a choice, unlike a law, can be reconsidered.

参考译文

十年前，虚构的卡尔登尼地区推行了一项连自己的官员都预期会悄无声息地失败的规则：任何学校，无论多有名，从父母受过大学教育的家庭中招收的学生不得超过固定比例。这项针对主宰本地排名表的选拔型学校的措施，被当地媒体称作"对卓越的攻击"。十年之后，这些结果值得一个更仔细的描述。

政策确实起了再分配作用。被迫拓宽生源的选拔型学校，早期测试均分出现下滑——随后在三年内恢复，这一模式在几乎每一届学生身上都成立。与此同时，一直在流失最优秀生源的综合学校稳定了下来：教师不再以原来的速度流失，成绩十年来首次上升。全地区的总体学业水平温和攀升，最富

与最贫四分之一人群之间的差距缩小了约三分之一。

卡尔登尼的数据给出两课，没有一课是任何一方的预期。第一课：选拔体系中的"卓越"部分是会计学假象。一所按生源既有成绩来衡量自己的学校，可以在几乎不添加什么的情况下显得辉煌。生源一旦改变，"增值"——学校真正产出的学习——在机构之间的差异，远比排名表所暗示的小。

第二课对改革者来说更不舒服。混合生源对最弱的学生帮助最大，也几乎没有伤害任何人，但它起效缓慢，而且其成本落在了最没有能力为自己辩护的学校身上。这十年提示我们：公平首先不是宏大宣言的问题；它是一个"由谁承担变革的行政重量、承担多久"的问题。

卡尔登尼模式能否移植到更大、行政能力更弱的地区，是存疑的——其设计者也承认这一点，并指出正是小规模届群与异常稳定的教师队伍使这场实验成为可能。

但这项实验确实终结了一场争论。被长久而自信地援引的"公平与标准之间的取舍"，也许常常不是自然法则，而是两种计数方式之间的选择——而选择不同于法则，是可以重新考虑的。

理解题

1. What happened to the selective schools' early test averages after the rule took effect?（细节）

A. They fell permanently.

B. They fell, then recovered within three years.

C. They rose immediately.

D. They stayed exactly the same.

2. The second lesson is "more uncomfortable for reformers" because ___.（推断）

A. the reform failed entirely

B. its benefits came slowly and its costs fell on schools least able to argue their own case

C. selective schools refused to obey the rule

D. parents rejected the policy outright

3. "An accounting artefact" suggests that the previous "excellence" of selective schools was largely ___.（推断）

A. produced by their outstanding teaching

B. invented by local journalists

C. the result of extra government funding

D. a reflection of their intake's prior performance

4. In Paragraph 3, "the value added — the learning a school actually produces", the term "value added" refers to ___.（词义猜测）

A. the rise in property prices near a good school

B. the extra fees a school collects

C. the learning gain a school produces relative to its intake's starting point

D. the total exam scores of the best students

5. The final paragraph reframes the fairness-versus-standards debate as ___.（论证结构）

A. a law of nature that cannot be changed

B. a matter of parental preference

C. often a choice between two ways of counting

D. a problem that only large regions face

6. The author's attitude towards exporting the Caldeny model is ___.（作者立场）

A. fully confident that it will work anywhere

B. doubtful, since its architects concede the model depended on favourable conditions

C. hostile to all education reform

D. eager to legislate it nationally next year

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "saw early test averages fall — then recover within three years, a pattern that held across nearly every cohort"（先降后三年内恢复）。

2. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "they worked slowly, and their costs fell on the schools least equipped to argue their own case"（见效慢、代价落在最无力申诉的学校）。

3. D —— 定位：第 3 段 "a school measured by its intake's prior performance can look brilliant while adding rather little"（辉煌来自生源底子而非学校产出）。

4. C —— 定位：第 3 段，破折号后作者已给出定义：学校在生源起点之上真正产出的学习增量。

5. C —— 定位：第 6 段 "may often be not a law of nature but a choice between two ways of counting"（重构为两种计数方式的选择）。

6. B —— 定位：第 5 段 "is doubtful — its architects concede as much"（设计者承认依赖有利条件，故作者有保留）。

语言点

1. it is a matter of...（关键在于…）

Equity is not primarily a matter of grand declarations; it is a matter of who bears the administrative weight of change, and for how long.（公平首先不是宏大宣言的问题；它是谁承担变革的行政重量、承担多久的问题。）

说明：a matter of + wh- 从句把宏大议题落到具体变量上；追问式并列 and for how long 是评论提神的技巧。

2. 强调式 do（did + 动词原形）

The policy did redistribute.（政策确实起了再分配作用。）

说明：在给出结果前用 did 承认最低限度的事实，为随后的限定与让步铺路；强调式 do 只用于一般现在时与一般过去时的肯定句。

3. invoked so confidently for so long（被如此长久而自信地援引）

The trade-off, invoked so confidently for so long, may often be not a law of nature but a choice between two ways of counting.（这组被长久自信援引的取舍，也许常常不是自然法则，而是两种计数方式之间的选择。）

说明：过去分词短语后置修饰名词，相当于 which has been invoked...；so...for so long 构成双重时间强调；not A but B 收尾把抽象争论具体化。

读后任务

任务：假设你是卡尔登尼教育局的顾问，就"是否把名额限制推广到大学录取"用约 120 词写一份英文意见书；要求使用一次 it is a matter of... 和一次强调式 do。

参考回答

Recommendation: proceed, but slowly and with published accounts. The Caldeny decade shows that intake caps did redistribute opportunity without permanently lowering standards; the panic predicted in our press never arrived. Yet the region's success rested on conditions a university system cannot assume: small cohorts, stable schools and a single measuring table. Scaling up, it is a matter not of courage but of bookkeeping — who records value added, who compensates the schools that absorb difficulty, and for how long the public is shown honest numbers. I therefore advise a five-year pilot in two provinces, with the league tables suspended during the trial. Reform that refuses to count itself fairly will be reformed by rumour instead.

The conference hall in Porto Vela — a fictional port city borrowed for this scene — has the acoustics of a cathedral and the atmosphere of a fish market. Forty delegations are haggling over a single clause: the one that would bind wealthy states to fund adaptation before disaster strikes, rather than after. The session was scheduled to end at six. It is now past one in the morning, and the interpreters have begun to sound like philosophers.

From the gallery, the negotiation looks less like a debate than a slow construction site. Delegations do not argue so much as lay bricks: a comma here, a bracket there, each mark a decision about who pays and who waits. The bracket, I came to see, is the negotiation's true unit of currency. A bracketed phrase — held open because no one agrees — is a debt, and debts compound.

Had the funding clause been settled at the last summit, as its sponsors proposed, three of this year's drought compacts would already have disbursed money, and two provinces would not now be litigating over who owes what. Every delegate in the hall can do this arithmetic; perhaps that is why the clause has been postponed so many times, at so many summits, by so many hands.

The veterans carry the ledger lightly. One of them, a woman who has attended every session since the fictional Halden Summit of 2012, told me that progress is measured not in years but in brackets removed. She offered no optimism, and none seemed required. If the clause had failed tonight, she said, the process would simply have continued elsewhere; what matters is that the record shows what each state refused.

By four in the morning the clause passes, unbracketed for the first time in its history. The hall applauds without conviction, the way people applaud a delayed train's arrival. Walking out through the empty security tent, I found myself doing the sums a reporter is not supposed to do: if this pattern holds, a binding finance mechanism will exist by the end of the decade, and by then the coastline outside this hall will have retreated another thirty metres.

The negotiators know this better than anyone. That they keep negotiating anyway is neither heroism nor futility; it is the job. Whether the job is enough is a question the sea — indifferent to procedure — will answer on its own schedule.

参考译文

波尔托维拉——为这一幕借用的虚构港口城市——的会议大厅，有着大教堂的声学与鱼市场的气氛。四十个代表团正围绕单独一个条款讨价还价：那条将约束富裕国家在灾害来临之前而非之后为气候适应出资的条款。会议原定六点结束。此刻已是凌晨一点多，口译员的措辞开始听起来像哲学家。

从旁听席望去，谈判与其说像辩论，不如说像一座缓慢施工的工地。代表团与其说在争论，不如说在砌砖：这里一个逗号，那里一个括号，每个符号都是一次关于谁付钱、谁等待的决定。我逐渐明白，括号才是谈判真正的货币单位。一个被括起的短语——因无人同意而保持开放——是一笔债务，

而债务会利滚利。

若资金条款如其推动者所愿在上届峰会便已敲定，今年的三份旱灾协议此刻应已拨款，两个省也不会正在为谁欠什么而对簿公堂。厅内每一位代表都会做这道算术；也许正因为如此，这个条款才被如此多届峰会、如此多双手一次次推迟。

资深代表们轻描淡写地背负着这本账。其中一位，自虚构的"2012 年哈尔登峰会"以来从未缺席的女性代表告诉我，进步不以年计，而以被移除的括号计。她不提供乐观，似乎也不需要乐观。她说，如果条款今晚失败，进程只会在别处继续；要紧的是，记录会显示每个国家拒绝了什么。

凌晨四点，条款获得通过，历史上第一次没有被括起。全场鼓掌，却缺乏信念，像人们鼓掌欢迎一趟晚点列车的进站。走出空荡的安检棚时，我发现自己正在做记者本不该做的算术：如果这一模式延续下去，一个有约束力的资金机制将在十年内存在，而到那时，这座大厅外的海岸线将又后退三十米。

谈判者们比任何人都清楚这一点。他们仍在谈判这件事，既非英勇，也非徒劳；这就是工作本身。这份工作够不够，是一个海洋——它对程序毫无兴趣——会按自己的日程来回答的问题。

理解题

1. What would the clause under negotiation bind wealthy states to do?（细节）

A. Fund adaptation before disasters strike, rather than after.

B. Cut all emissions immediately and completely.

C. Pay for the conference hall itself.

D. Leave the alliance if the deadline is missed.

2. The bracket is called "the negotiation's true unit of currency" because ___.（推断）

A. it is printed on official conference money

B. bracketed wording suspends obligations, so it works like a debt that compounds over time

C. delegates collect brackets as souvenirs

D. brackets decide who chairs the next session

3. The applause "without conviction" reveals that the delegates ___.（推断）

A. were proud of a complete victory

B. simply wanted to go home early

C. saw the outcome as a belated, partial step — applauding the procedure rather than a triumph

D. disagreed with the interpreters' choices

4. In Paragraph 3, "three of this year's drought compacts would already have disbursed money", the verb "disburse" most nearly means ___.（词义猜测）

A. save

B. borrow

C. pay out

D. refuse

5. The author ends with the retreating coastline in order to ___.（论证结构）

A. celebrate the passing of the clause

B. criticise the work of the interpreters

C. describe the city's modern architecture

D. set the procedural success against the physical timescale of climate change, turning victory into an open question

6. The author views the negotiators with ___.（作者立场）

A. mockery for their slowness

B. uncritical hero worship

C. total despair about the process

D. respect for their persistence while refusing to pretend the process is sufficient

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "bind wealthy states to fund adaptation before disaster strikes, rather than after"（灾前而非灾后出资）。

2. B —— 定位：第 2 段 "A bracketed phrase... is a debt, and debts compound"（括起即悬置义务，如债务般累积）。

3. C —— 定位：第 5 段 "the way people applaud a delayed train's arrival"（掌声致意程序而非胜利，成果迟到且缩水）。

4. C —— 定位：第 3 段，与"两个省正在诉讼谁欠什么"呼应，disburse 意为"支付、拨付"。

5. D —— 定位：第 5-6 段，条款通过与海岸线后退并置，把程序性成功放回物理时间尺度，引出"这份工作够不够"的开放问题。

6. D —— 定位：第 6 段 "neither heroism nor futility; it is the job"（既非英勇亦非徒劳，是职业本身），敬其人而不讳其限。

语言点

1. Had + 主语 + 过去分词, ... would...（省略 if 的倒装条件句；过去假设—现在结果的混合条件句）

Had the funding clause been settled at the last summit, three compacts would already have disbursed money, and two provinces would not now be litigating.（若资金条款在上届峰会已敲定，三份协议此刻应已拨款，两省也不会正在打官司。）

说明：把 had 提到句首并省略 if，是第三型虚拟条件的正式倒装；后半句拖入现在进行（would not now be litigating），构成"过去条件—现在结果"的混合条件句，一笔写出迟到的代价。

2. less like A than B（与其说像 A，不如说像 B）

The negotiation looks less like a debate than a slow construction site.（这场谈判与其说像辩论，不如说像一座缓慢施工的工地。）

说明：less like + 名词 + than + 名词，比较的是隐喻而非程度；常与 look / sound / feel 搭配，是侧记文体的感官判断句。

3. neither A nor B; it is C（三段式命名）

That they keep negotiating anyway is neither heroism nor futility; it is the job.（他们仍在谈判这件事既非英勇也非徒劳；这就是工作本身。）

说明：主语从句 That... 作主语；先用 neither...nor 排除两种廉价解读，再用 it is C 给出第三种命名，是侧记结尾"拒绝煽情"的经典收束。

读后任务

任务：以侧记笔法用约 120 词记录一次你亲历或观察的漫长协商（家庭、班级、社团、工作场合皆可）；要求使用一个 Had... 倒装条件句和一次 less like A than B 结构。

参考回答

Had our tenants' meeting ended at nine, as scheduled, I would have reported a quarrel. It ended at half past midnight, and I am still deciding what to call it. The subject was small — who pays for the broken stair light — but the room behaved less like a meeting than a slow auction of grievances, each side pricing old debts in new ones. What finally settled it was not the money but the record: one neighbour wrote the figure on the back of the notice, and everyone signed. Standing in the corridor afterwards, I understood the Porto Vela delegates a little. Clauses are how strangers say, without affection, that they intend to keep living together.

The river was up that spring, and the ferry ran late. I came down the clay road with a cardboard box under my arm, and the box was heavier than it needed to be, or maybe my arms were tired.
The old man was loosening the cable on the far side. He did not wave. He saw me and brought the ferry across, and the diesel knocked and the hull took the water flat and sure.
"You're the last one," he said. "I lock her up at noon. The bridge opens in June."
"I heard," I said.
"It's a good bridge." He said it the way you say a thing you have said many times so you will not say something else.
I stepped aboard. The deck was wet and the boards had swollen and the gaps between them were dark.
In the middle of the ferry there was a bench with a plank across it, and I set the box on the plank and sat down. The current pulled us downstream a little before the engine caught it, and then we went across in a line so straight it might have been drawn.
"You want to hold that box?" the old man said.
"She's all right."
"Water's high. If she ships any she ships over the bow and it runs to the middle. That's the trouble with a high river. Everything runs to the middle."
"She's all right," I said.
He nodded and watched the far bank. His hands were on the wheel and his wrists were thin inside his jacket, and he turned the wheel only a little. There was no wake. On the far side the clay road went up into the willows, and the willows were in new leaf, and behind them you could see the concrete piers of the bridge standing in the water with the cranes over them.

"How long did you run her?" I said.

"Forty-one years. My father ran her before me. He ran her with poles, before the motor." He lifted the box off the plank, easy, the way you lift a thing you understand. "This your mother?"

"Yes," I said.

"Where you taking her?"

"Up past the church. The hill field, where the plums are. She liked the plums."

"It's a good field," he said. "Dry, most of the year. You won't dig hard."

We did not talk after that. The engine knocked. The water went by, brown and quick and full of the country it had come from. Once a kingfisher went down the bank ahead of us, low and blue and gone. I looked at the box. The cardboard had gone soft at the corners from my hands.

At the far bank he held her against the current while I stepped off with the box, and then he stood beside the wheel and looked at me and did not look at me at the same time.

"Bridge opens in June," he said. "After that you'd have to drive around."

"I know it."

"It saves time," he said. "That's what they say."

"It does," I said. "It saves time."

I went up the clay road into the willows. The ground was soft and my shoes took the print of it.

Behind me I heard the engine back water and turn, and then the knock of it going away down the river, and I did not look back, and the hill field was ahead of me, and the plums were in bloom.

参考译文

那年春天河水大涨，渡船误了班次。我夹着一只纸箱沿土路下到河边，箱子比它应有的分量沉，也许只是我的手臂累了。对岸，老人正松着缆绳。他没有挥手。他看见我，把渡船撑了过来：柴油机咚咚作响，船身平平地、稳稳地吃住水面。

“你是最后一个，”他说，“晌午我就把她锁上。桥六月通车。”

“听说了。”我说。

“是座好桥。”他说这话的口气，像人在反复说一句熟话，为的是不必说出另一句。

我上了船。甲板是湿的，木板泡胀了，板缝黑沉沉的。船当中有一条长凳，凳上横着一块木板；我把纸箱搁在木板上，坐了下来。水流先把我们往下带了一截，机器才咬住它，随后我们便端端地渡过去，那条线直得像是画出来的。

“要我来扶那只箱子？”老人说。

“没事。”

“水大。要上水，是从船头漫进来，一直淌到当中。水大就是这个麻烦，什么都往当中淌。”

“没事，”我说。

他点点头，望着对岸。两只手搭在舵轮上，手腕在袖子里显得很细，只把轮子轻轻转一点。船后没有尾流。对岸的土路升进柳林，柳树正抽新叶；再往后，看得见大桥的水泥墩立在水里，起重机架在上面。

“你撑了多久？”我说。

“四十一年。我父亲在我前头撑。有马达之前，他用篙。”他把箱子从木板上端起来，很轻，像端一件他懂得的东西。“这是你母亲？”

“是。”我说。

“送哪儿去？”

“教堂再往上，坡上的地里，李树那儿。她喜欢李子。”

“那是块好地，”他说，“一年里大半是干的，挖起来不费劲。”

那以后我们就没再说话。机器咚咚地响。水从旁边过去，黄褐色的，急急的，满载着它从上游带来的乡土。有一回一只翠鸟贴着岸在我们前头飞，低低的，蓝的，一闪就没了。我看着那只箱子。箱角被我的两手攥得发软。

到了对岸，他顶着水流稳住船，让我抱着箱子跳上岸；随后他站在舵轮旁看我，又像看又不像看。

“桥六月通车，”他说，“往后你就得绕路了。”

“我知道。”

“省时间，”他说，“他们是这么说的。”

“是省时间，”我说，“是省时间。”

我走上土路，进了柳林。地是软的，鞋底印下了它的纹路。身后响起机器倒转、调头的动静，接着那咚咚声顺着河远去。我没有回头。坡上的地在前面等我，李花正开着。

理解题

1. How long has the ferryman worked the river, and how did his father run the ferry before him?（细节）

A. Thirty-one years; his father used the motor from the start.

B. Forty-one years; his father ran it with poles before the motor came.

C. Forty-one years; his father built the bridge.

D. Nineteen years; his father locked the ferry at noon.

2. The narrator refuses twice to let the ferryman hold the box. What does this refusal most suggest?（推断）

A. He distrusts the ferryman's care with luggage.

B. The box contains nothing of value.

C. Carrying it himself is the last act of care he can perform, and he will not share it.

D. He is in a hurry to catch a train.

3. The final sentence "the plums were in bloom" mainly works to ___.（推断）

A. prove that the hill field is a good commercial orchard

B. show that the narrator has arrived too late in the year

C. suggest that the ferryman will plant plums there

D. place the burial inside the season's renewal, letting the landscape finish what the sentences refuse to say

4. The phrase "It saves time" returns three times. Its final effect is best described as ___.（词义/修辞）

A. an ironic understatement in which the language of efficiency carries the weight of loss

B. sincere praise of the new bridge

C. a factual report of the bridge's engineering

D. a complaint about the ferry's speed

5. Which feature best characterizes the prose style of the story?（风格）

A. Short declarative sentences joined by "and," with emotion displaced into objects and actions.

B. Long periodic sentences loaded with adjectives of emotion.

C. Interior monologue that analyses the narrator's grief directly.

D. Ornate dialogue rich in figurative language.

6. The story's real subject is best understood as ___.（主旨）

A. the engineering superiority of bridges over ferries

B. the ferryman's retirement ceremony

C. a farewell across generations, with the crossing standing between an old life and a new one

D. the narrator's plan to sell the hill field

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 6 段 "Forty-one years. My father ran her before me. He ran her with poles, before the motor."

2. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "I set the box on the plank and sat down" 与两次 "She's all right"：抱着骨灰不肯假手于人，是最后也是仅存的照料，克制使他不肯松动。

3. D —— 定位：末段 "the hill field was ahead of me, and the plums were in bloom"，呼应第 6 段 "She liked the plums"，以景结情，把死亡安放进季节的循环。

4. A —— 定位：首段对话 "It's a good bridge"、倒数第 2 段 "It saves time... That's what they say" 与末段对话：同一句官方话语三现，最平淡的措辞承载最大的失落。

5. A —— 定位：通篇短陈述句，连词几乎只用 and（He did not wave. He saw me and brought the ferry across...），无心理描写，情感全在物象之下。

6. C —— 定位：桥取代渡船（The bridge opens in June）与儿子送母亲上山双线并行；"渡口"既是渡河之处，也是生死、新旧之间的过渡地带。

语言点

1. 动作链＋并列连词 and（文学性搭配：以动作承担情感）

He saw me and brought the ferry across, and the diesel knocked and the hull took the water flat and sure.（他看见我，把渡船撑了过来：柴油机咚咚作响，船身平平地、稳稳地吃住水面。）

说明：and 串起纯动作与具体声响，情绪全部押在动词与名词上，是极简派"展示而非陈述"的核心句法，把解释权交给读者。

2. the way you...（句型：以类比点破言外之意）

He said it the way you say a thing you have said many times so you will not say something else.（他说这话的口气，像人在反复说一句熟话，为的是不必说出另一句。）

说明：the way 引导方式状语，一层写说话方式，一层写"省略"本身；全篇唯一一次"自注"，是理解冰山笔法的钥匙。

3. 重复＋轻描淡写（修辞：understatement 的挽歌化）

"It saves time," he said. "That's what they say."（"省时间，"他说，"他们是这么说的。"）

说明：同一短语三次重复，字面义逐次磨损、情感量逐次加重；They say 引入他者话语制造距离，结尾的肯定句已近乎挽歌而无一字言情。

读后任务

任务：仿写"冰山式告别"：用 80-120 词写一个英文送别场景（车站、码头、机场或搬家均可）。要求：全部短句；连词只用 and 与 so；让一个短语重复至少两次；全篇不得出现任何直接命名情绪的词（如 sad、grief、miss）。

The truck came at seven. We loaded it in the rain, and the rain was the kind that cannot decide. My mother stood in the door with her coat over her nightdress. "You'll call from the first town," she said. "I'll call," I said. "The first town," she said. "The first one." My father put one more box in the cab, though the cab was full, and then stood back and looked at the truck the way you look at a thing that is leaving. We went down the hill, and the road was wet and black,and I did not use the mirror, and the town stayed behind us in the rain.

第48篇 雨屋（The Rain House）

本篇为抒情繁复派散文：意象密集、长句盘旋，把雨写成"会说话的房客"；读点在核心隐喻的建立与回收，以及与第 47 篇极简句法的互为镜像。

Every house has its weather, and the rain house had rain the way other houses have clocks: it told the hours, it set the moods, it measured out the patience of the people inside. My grandmother's house stood on a slope above a valley that the clouds used as a corridor, and the rain arrived there not as weather but as an occupant, with its own chair by the window and its own place at the table.
To say it rained there is to say almost nothing. Rain has a thousand grammars, and the house spoke them all. On the roof it was a rumor, a low continuous murmur that seemed to come from inside the walls, as if the shingles were whispering to the joists. In the gutters it became eloquent, a syllable repeated and repeated until meaning wore through: drip, and drip, and the long gurgling sentence of the downpipe. On the big leaves of the garden it was percussive, a drum with a skin of green; on the tin bucket left by the well it was pure timpani, enormous, ceremonial, as if the sky kept an orchestra in reserve and no one to conduct it but the wind.
I learned to hear the rain before I learned to hear music. The house taught me. It was built of timber and plaster and it was never entirely dry, and this was not a failure of the house but its character: the damp bloomed on the north wall in pale maps, the doors swelled in winter and would not close, and the smell of wet stone rose from the cellar like a tide with nowhere to go. My grandmother kept a fire going from October to April, and the fire and the rain talked to each other all night, one in the language of crackling and one in the language of drumming, and between those two voices I did my sleeping and my dreaming.
There was a window above the kitchen table where the condensation gathered in rivers, and my grandmother let me draw on it with a fingertip, and my finger wrote small warm galleries in the cold glass that the rain on the other side immediately began to erase. Nothing I wrote there lasted longer than a kettle of tea. It was my first understanding that some kinds of writing are made to vanish, and that they are not therefore worthless; that a drawing on breath-fogged glass is a diary of the moment itself, dated, signed, and lost.
Years later, in cities that sealed themselves against weather like jars, I found that I missed the rain the way you miss a language you once spoke. Glass that never fogged. Streets that drank > the storm and gave back nothing. It was all very efficient, and it said nothing, and in that silence I understood what the rain house had been teaching all along: that weather is not what > happens to a life but one of the ways a life is said; that a house can be an instrument, and the years can play it; and that when the downpour finally let up and the eaves went on dripping > — slower, more deliberate, like someone finishing a sentence after everyone else has stopped listening — that was the voice I have been trying to write in ever since.

参考译文

每座房子都有自己的天气。雨屋有雨，就像别人家有钟：它报时辰，定心绪，丈量屋里人的耐心。外婆的房子立在一道坡上，坡下的山谷是云走的走廊。雨到那里不是做客，是住家——窗边有它专坐的椅子，桌上有它专设的位子。

说那里下雨，等于什么也没说。雨有一千种语法，而那座房子把它们全说遍了。落在屋顶上，雨是一阵传闻般的低语，低低的、不断头的絮语，仿佛从墙里发出来，像屋瓦在同托梁咬耳朵。到了檐槽里，它变得雄辩起来，一个音节反反复复，直到把意思磨穿：滴，滴，还有落水管里那一长串汩汩的句子。落在大叶子的菜园里，它是敲击乐，一面蒙着绿皮的鼓；落在井边那只铁皮桶上，它是纯粹的定音鼓，盛大，庄严，仿佛天上养着一支乐队，只是没有指挥，只好请风来执棒。

我先学会听雨，后学会听音乐。是房子教的我。它是木料和灰泥盖的，从来干不透，而这不是房子的毛病，是它的性格：潮气在北墙上开出淡色的地图；冬天门泡胀了关不拢；湿石头的气味从地窖里升上来，像一场无处可去的潮汐。外婆的火从十月一直生到四月，夜里火和雨彼此说话，一个用噼啪的语言，一个用敲打的语言；就在这两个声音之间，我睡觉，我做梦。

饭桌上方有一扇窗，水汽在那里聚成一条条小河。外婆由我用指尖在上面画画，我的手指在冷玻璃上写出一道道温热的小巷，而玻璃另一面的雨立刻动手抹掉它们。我写下的东西，没有一样活得过一壶茶。那是我头一次懂得：有一种文字生来就是为了消失的，而它并不因此就轻贱；呵气成雾的玻璃上的一幅画，就是那一瞬本身的日记，有日期，有署名，随即失落。

多年以后，在那些把自己封得像罐头、与天气绝缘的城市里，我发现自己想念雨，像想念一门你曾经会说的语言。永远不蒙雾的玻璃。喝干风暴又分文不还的街道。一切都高效极了，也一言不发；正是在那片沉默里，我懂得了雨屋一路在教我的事：天气不是发生在生活身上的事，而是把生活说出来的一种方式；房子可以是一件乐器，由岁月来演奏；而当大雨终于收势、屋檐还在滴水的时候——滴得越来越慢，越来越郑重，像众人都已散场之后，仍把最后一句话说完的人——那声音，就是我此后一直试图用笔去写出的声音。

理解题

1. What did the damp do to the north wall, and what happened to the doors in winter?（细节）

A. It dried the plaster; the doors locked themselves.

B. It cracked the window glass; the doors sang in the wind.

C. It bloomed in pale maps; the doors swelled and would not close.

D. It painted the wall green; the doors shrank away from their frames.

2. The drawing on the fogged window is called "a diary of the moment itself". What value judgment follows from this?（推断）

A. Some writing's worth lies in the act and the instant, not in survival.

B. Ephemeral writing is worthless compared with printed books.

C. The grandmother should have kept a proper diary instead.

D. Children should not be allowed to touch windows.

3. "Glass that never fogged" and streets that "gave back nothing" suggest that modern efficiency has ___.（推断）

A. improved the climate of cities

B. made windows cheaper and cleaner

C. ended society's dependence on language

D. silenced a sensory conversation the author once lived inside

4. "Rain has a thousand grammars, and the house spoke them all" is chiefly ___.（词义/修辞）

A. a literal claim about regional dialects

B. an extended metaphor that organizes the paragraph's catalogue of rain-sounds into a language

C. a complaint about the school curriculum

D. a pun on foreign-language study

5. Compared with the clipped sentences of a minimalist story, this essay's syntax is ___.（风格）

A. mostly questions addressed directly to the reader

B. a series of unconnected fragments

C. deliberately flat and adjective-free

D. built of long, layered sentences whose images accumulate and echo

6. The closing claim that weather is "one of the ways a life is said" gathers the essay into the idea that ___.（主旨）

A. a house and its climate can be an instrument on which a life is played and voiced

B. weather forecasts ought to be written as poetry

C. rainy regions produce better writers than dry ones

D. the author regrets ever leaving the valley

参考答案

1. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "the damp bloomed on the north wall in pale maps, the doors swelled in winter and would not close"。

2. A —— 定位：第 4 段 "some kinds of writing are made to vanish, and that they are not therefore worthless"：价值在"在场"与"过程"本身，玻璃上的画是"那一瞬本身的日记"。

3. D —— 定位：末段 "cities that sealed themselves against weather like jars... I missed the rain the way you miss a language you once spoke"：与天气隔绝即失去一门会说话的感官语言。

4. B —— 定位：第 2 段，"语法"总纲之下分派屋顶的低语、檐槽的音节、树叶的鼓点，把雨声系统为一门语言。

5. D —— 定位：第 2 段 "On the roof... In the gutters... On the big leaves..."，多重从句嵌套、排比推进，与第 47 篇的短句并置互为镜像。

6. A —— 定位：末段 "a house can be an instrument, and the years can play it" 与屋檐余滴如"散场后说完的最后一句话"，天气即言说，房子即乐器。

语言点

1. 总纲式隐喻（修辞：用一个隐喻统摄全段）

Rain has a thousand grammars, and the house spoke them all.（雨有一千种语法，而那座房子把它们全说遍了。）

说明：先立一个可扩展的核心隐喻，随后每一句都是它的变位——屋顶的低语、檐槽的音节、树叶的鼓点皆由"语法"分派，是抒情散文建立意象系统的标准开法。

2. 由词到句的递进并列（句型：听觉的语法化）

drip, and drip, and the long gurgling sentence of the downpipe（滴，滴，还有落水管里那一长串汩汩的句子）

说明：三项并列由词（drip）而句（sentence），把声音逐级升格为语言；节奏由短而长，本身模拟雨声的累积，形式即内容。

3. 以喻收束（修辞：意象回环）

like someone finishing a sentence after everyone else has stopped listening（像众人都已散场之后，仍把最后一句话说完的人）

说明：明喻把"雨＝言说"的母题押回开篇的语法隐喻，首尾合龙；散文的环形结构在此完成，余味由未尽的"句子"延续。

读后任务

任务：意象仿写：以"风"（或雪、雾）为主角写 100-130 词英文段落。要求：先给它一个身份（房客、乐师、债主……）；再写它在两三种表面上的不同"语言"；结尾让意象落回一个具体的人。

Wind kept our village like a landlord. On the wires it was a low complaint, the hum of a tenant with a grievance; in the wheat it turned businesslike, thousands of small hands passing something down the rows; against the shutters it was a fist, patient, all night. My grandfather said the wind came to check on things, and he kept a ladder against the south wall so it would find nothing loose. In April it carried the smell of the river up our street like news, and every door in the village opened, and for a moment we all stood in our doorways, listening to the same message.

第49篇 阁楼里的打字机（The Typewriter in the Attic）

本篇为第一人称回忆随笔：现在时框架与历史现在时交错，制造"时间坍缩"的剪辑感；读点在时态穿梭的结构功能与"物件即门"的象征经营。

The attic stairs are narrower than I remember, which is not possible, because stairs do not shrink;
it is I who have widened. I climb with a torch in one hand and hold my breath at the last step, the way you do in a house that is no longer yours, as if the past were a sleeping animal that your breathing might wake.
There it is. The typewriter sits on the old school desk under the round window, where it always was, where it always will be. Black, square-shouldered, patient. The dust lies on it like a clean shirt laid out for an occasion that never came. When I lift the cover, the smell arrives first: machine oil and old rubber and, beneath that, faintly, my father's study, the pipe smoke and the carbon paper of my childhood.
It is 1976. My father is at the desk with his sleeves rolled up, the collar open, typing invoices for the hardware business with two fingers that hit the keys like weather, hard to predict, hard to ignore. The carriage flies to the right with a bang and the little bell rings and he flings the lever back without looking up. I am six, and I am allowed to sit on the floor and hand him carbon paper, sheet by sheet, black side up, an apprentice in the guild of grown-ups.
The platen turns. The hammers rise and fall. Words accumulate on the page the way silt accumulates in a river, and I believe, with the whole of my six-year-old heart, that this is how money is made: one letter at a time, loudly.

He let me type one evening a week. The rule was that I could type anything, provided I also typed it correctly, and there was no correcting, because there was no eraser for a struck key; there was only the small tin of correction paper, and my father's hand over mine, and his voice saying what he said about everything: do it again, slower.
It is 1976 for a moment, and then it is now, and I am standing in a cold attic holding a ribbon that has dried to the color of ash. I roll a fresh page — where did the paper come from? There is paper; there is always paper in this house — and I type, badly, with two fingers, and the bell rings, and for four words the years do not exist. The bell is the same bell. That is the thing I came to find out, and now I know.
I leave the machine open to the dust and the dark, which feels less like abandonment than like an appointment. Some objects are not keepsakes; they are doors. You do not carry them out of the attic. You leave them exactly where they are, on the far side of a narrow stair, so that next time you will know exactly how wide your life once was, and how narrow the way back, and that the way back opens all the same, one slow keystroke at a time.

参考译文

阁楼的楼梯比记忆里窄，这不可能，楼梯不会缩，是我这个人长宽了。我一手拿着手电，在最后一级上屏住呼吸——在一座已不属于你的房子里，人都会这样，仿佛过去是一头睡着的兽，你的呼吸会把它惊醒。

它就在那儿。打字机坐在圆窗下的旧课桌上，在它一直在的地方，在它永远会在的地方。黑的，方肩膀，有耐心。灰尘覆在机上，像一件为一场从未到来的日子熨好的干净衬衫。我掀开机罩，气味先到：机油，旧橡胶，再往下淡淡一层，是父亲的书房，是我童年的烟斗味和复写纸味。

那是 1976 年。父亲坐在桌前，袖子挽到肘上，领口敞着，用两根手指给五金生意打发票；那两根手指砸起键来像天气，难以预料，也无法不理会。滑动架哐一声飞回右边，小铃一响，他头也不抬就把拉杆甩回去。我六岁，获准坐在地板上，一张一张给他递复写纸，黑面朝上——一个大人行会里的小学徒。滚筒转，击锤起落，字在纸上积起来，像泥沙在河里积起来；我以一颗六岁孩子的整颗心相信，钱就是这样挣的：一个字母一个字母，吵吵闹闹。

每周有一个晚上他让我打。规矩是：什么都可以打，但必须打得对；没有改错这回事，因为打错的键擦不掉——只有那一小罐改错纸，只有父亲的手覆在我的手背上，只有他那句他对万事万物都说的话：再来一遍，慢一点。

有那么一会儿，它是 1976 年；然后它又回到此刻。我站在冷冷的阁楼里，手里托着一卷早已干成灰色的色带。我卷进一张新纸——纸是哪来的？这房子里永远有纸——用两根手指笨拙地打，铃响了；就在那四个词之间，岁月不存在。铃还是那只铃。这就是我来要弄明白的事，现在我明白了。

我让机器敞着口留给灰尘和黑暗，这感觉不像是遗弃，倒像是订下了一个约。有些物件不是纪念品，是门。你不必把它们搬下阁楼。你把它们原样留在窄梯那一头的原地，好叫下一回来的你知道：你的一生曾经有多宽，回去的路有多窄，而回去的路照样敞开着——一次缓慢的击键，又一次缓慢的击键。

理解题

1. What was the rule for the narrator's weekly typing evening?（细节）

A. Only invoices could be typed, never letters.

B. Anything could be typed, provided it was typed correctly, since errors could not be erased.

C. Typing was allowed only when the father was out of the house.

D. The ribbon had to be changed before every session.

2. "Some objects are not keepsakes; they are doors." The distinction drawn is that keepsakes ___, while doors ___.（推断）

A. are expensive; are cheap

B. are displayed proudly; are hidden in shame

C. are always broken; are always repaired

D. are carried away and sealed in memory; stay in place so one can pass through them again

3. The shift from "It is 1976" to "and then it is now" produces what effect?（推断）

A. It collapses the years into a single moment, so memory arrives as a present-tense event rather than a report.

B. It confuses the reader about which century the narrator lives in.

C. It signals that the whole visit has been a dream.

D. It marks a change of narrator from child to adult.

4. "An apprentice in the guild of grown-ups" works chiefly through ___.（词义/修辞）

A. alliteration that mimics the sound of typing

B. understatement that shrinks the father's trade

C. mock-solemn diction that treats a child's errands as a trade served a term

D. oxymoron that joins childhood to retirement

5. The memoir's tense architecture is notable because ___.（风格）

A. it narrates everything in the past tense for emotional distance

B. it frames the visit in the present, drops into the historic present for 1976, and returns, so that tense itself performs the time-travel

C. it avoids all verbs of perception to stay objective

D. it uses the future tense to promise a return

6. The closing image — the way back opens "one slow keystroke at a time" — defines remembering as ___.（主旨）

A. possessing the past and putting it on display

B. a mechanical repair of an obsolete machine

C. a duty owed to one's parents

D. a slow, repeatable practice of re-entering, not a possession

参考答案

1. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "I could type anything, provided I also typed it correctly, and there was no correcting... do it again, slower"。

2. D —— 定位：末段 "Some objects are not keepsakes; they are doors. You do not carry them out of the attic. You leave them exactly where they are"：纪念品随人带走而封存，门留在原地供人再次穿过。

3. A —— 定位：第 5 段 "It is 1976 for a moment, and then it is now... for four words the years do not exist"：历史现在时把记忆拉成"正在发生"，切换处即时间坍缩。

4. C —— 定位：第 3 段，apprentice 与 guild 属行会语域，把递复写纸的差事庄谐并置地写成"入行"，写尽观察式童年。

5. B —— 定位：首末两段现在时框架（is, climb, leave）夹第 3-4 段历史现在时（is, rings, turns），第 5 段完成回切；时态结构即主题的形式化。

6. D —— 定位：末段 "the way back opens all the same, one slow keystroke at a time"，既呼应父亲的 "slower"，也把怀旧提升为方法论：记忆靠练习抵达，而非占有。

语言点

1. 承载缺席的明喻（修辞：以实写虚）

The dust lies on it like a clean shirt laid out for an occasion that never came.（灰尘覆在机上，像一件为一场从未到来的日子熨好的干净衬衫。）

说明：用一件可触摸的衣物质感写"落空"，避免直接抒情；occasion 一词庄重，与 never came 相撞，产生克制的哀矜。

2. 历史现在时＋剪辑句（句型：时态即蒙太奇）

It is 1976. My father is at the desk with his sleeves rolled up, typing invoices with two fingers.（那是 1976 年。父亲坐在桌前，袖子挽到肘上，用两根手指打着一叠叠发票。）

说明：以极短的独立句 It is 1976 完成时空切换，用现在时镜头替代"我想起"一类过渡；回忆随笔由此获得纪录片式的现场感。

3. 否定—肯定的警句结构（句型：not X; they are Y）

Some objects are not keepsakes; they are doors.（有些物件不是纪念品，而是门。）

说明：分号对仗，先破后立，把全文哲理压进一次"重新定义"；这类句子宜置于段尾充当承重墙，而非堆在段中作装饰。

读后任务

任务：时态穿梭仿写：写一件旧物，100-140 词。结构要求：现在时开场（1-2 句）；用 It is [年份]. 切入过去（3-5 句）；再切回现在（1-2 句）；末句必须落在物象上，不得发议论。

参考范文

The sewing machine sits where the light from the landing window stops, which is why nobody has moved it in thirty years. It is 1991. My mother is letting down a hem for a dress that will be mine next winter, and the wheel turns under her hand the way a potter's wheel turns, and the room smells of chalk and warm electricity. She bites the thread and holds the dress against my shoulders and says nothing, which is how she says most things. It is 1991 until it is not. The wheel is still. The chalk line waits on the fabric like a road waiting for a traveller, and I fold the dress the way she folded it, badly.

第50篇 评《渡口》（A Review of The Ferry Crossing）

本篇为评论体范文，评论对象即本册第 47 篇《渡口》，形成同带互文：语域正式、名词化密集，读点在书评"立敌—破敌—以喻收评"的论证步伐，以及评论语域与小说语域的落差。

```
The Ferry Crossing opens with a river and closes with a road, and between those two geographies it accomplishes something that many longer fictions never attempt: it makes silence legible. The story is brief — a crossing of some minutes — and almost nothing in it would survive a synopsis. A man boards a ferry with a box containing his mother's ashes; the ferryman, who has worked the river for forty-one years, makes the crossing; a bridge, soon to open, will make both the boat and the conversation unnecessary. That is all. That is, precisely, the point.
```

> The prose proceeds by subtraction. Sentences are short, declarative, coordinated by that plainest > of conjunctions, and: the diesel "knocked," the hull "took the water flat and sure," the current "pulled us downstream a little before the engine caught it." The diction is concrete to > the point of refusal — clay, plank, willow, pier — and it declines the vocabulary of grief altogether. Nowhere does the narrator name what he carries; the box remains a box, and the mother becomes "your mother?" only when the ferryman supplies the word. Grief is everywhere present and never announced, which is the oldest and most demanding discipline in the tradition > of reticence the story evidently inherits.
>
> What redeems this severity from mere manner is rhythm. The story's repetitions — "It's a good bridge"; "It saves time"; "She's all right" — function less as dialogue than as a kind of metric constant, the way a worker's calluses record his trade. Each time the phrase returns it > carries a different weight on the same syllables, and by the final exchange ("It does," I said.
> "It saves time.") the affirmation has become an elegy, though no word in it has changed. This is formal control of a high order: emotion displaced into cadence, meaning stored in the joints > between sentences rather than in any single one of them.
> Two risks attend such a method, and the story largely avoids both. The first is preciousness — the > minimalism that performs its own austerity and asks to be admired for it. The second is vagueness, an iceberg so deep that the reader is asked to do the author's dredging. The Ferry Crossing steers between them because its particulars are exact and its silences are local rather than global: we are never told what to feel about the mother, but we are told, unmistakably, what the plums meant to her, and the dry hill field is a more sufficient epitaph > than any elegy would be.
> If the story invites one reservation, it is that the method leaves the reader almost no handle for > re-entry: a second reading yields less than a first, because the iceberg, once located, does not move. But this is a complaint about the form, not about the execution. The story earns its reticence. It is a small narrative with a large draught — a work in which a last ferry, a first > bridge, and a cardboard box are allowed to carry, without complaint, the entire weight of a farewell. The reader leaves it the way the narrator leaves the boat: without looking back, and > entirely changed by not looking.

参考译文

《渡口》以一条河开场，以一条路收束；而在这两处地理之间，它完成了一件许多更长的虚构从未尝试的事：它让沉默变得可以辨认。故事很短——一次几分钟的摆渡——其中几乎没有一件事能在梗概里活下来。一个人带着一只装着母亲骨灰的盒子登上渡船；渡工在这条河上撑了四十一年，摆完了这一渡；一座即将通车的桥，将使船与这场对话都归于多余。仅此而已。而这恰恰正是要点。

行文以减法推进。句子短促，一律陈述，由那个最朴素的连词 and 串联：柴油机"咚咚地响"，船身"平平地、稳稳地吃住了水"，水流"先把我们往下带了一截，机器才咬住它"。措辞具体到近乎拒斥——黏土、木板、柳树、桥墩——并且干脆回避悲伤的整套词汇。叙述者自始至终没有说出他抱着的是什么；盒子仍只是盒子，母亲也只在渡工递出那个词的瞬间才成为"你母亲？"。悲伤无处不在，却从不被宣告——这是本篇显然承袭的那个缄默传统里最古老、也最苛刻的戒律。

使这份严省不致沦为姿态的，是节奏。篇中的重复——"是座好桥"；"省时间"；"没事"——与其说是对白，不如说是一种节拍常数，如工人的老茧记录其手艺。同一短语每回来一次，同样的音节便多

驮一分重量；到最后一轮对答（"是省时间，"我说，"是省时间。"），肯定句已化作挽歌，而其中没有一个字被改动。这是极高级的形式控制：情感移位于抑扬，意义封存于句与句之间的关节，而不存放在任何单独一句之中。

这样的方法自带两种风险，而本篇大体都躲开了。其一是矫饰——把极简当表演，要人为这份清苦鼓掌。其二是含糊——冰山沉得太深，等于要读者替作者疏浚。《渡口》能从两者之间驶过，靠的是细节的精确与沉默的"局部性"：作品从未指示我们该为那位母亲感到什么，却毫不含糊地告诉我们李子对她意味着什么；而那块干燥的坡地，作为墓志铭，比任何挽歌都更够用。

若说本篇留有一处保留意见，便是这种方法几乎不给读者留下二次进入的把手：重读的收获不及初读，因为冰山一经定位便不再移动。但这是针对文体的抱怨，而非针对执行的抱怨。《渡口》配得上它的缄默。这是一篇吃水很深的小叙事——一次末班渡船、一座初生的大桥、一只纸箱，被允许不诉一声苦地驮起一场告别的全部重量。读者离开它，如同叙述者离开渡船：没有回头，却因这"不回头"而被整个改变。

理解题

1. Which evidence does the review cite for the claim that "the prose proceeds by subtraction"?（细节）

A. Short declarative sentences coordinated by "and," with diction drawn from clay, plank, willow and pier.

B. Long sentences loaded with abstract nouns of mourning.

C. Frequent similes comparing the river to grief.

D. Dialogue written in formal standard English.

2. To say meaning is "stored in the joints between sentences rather than in any single one of them" implies that ___.（推断）

A. the individual sentences of the story carry no meaning at all

B. the ferryman's grammar is defective

C. the story's repetitions carry an accumulating weight that no single utterance holds alone

D. the story would be improved by longer sentences

3. The two risks the review names — preciousness and vagueness — are avoided, it argues, because ___.（推断）

A. the story explains its own symbolism in a final paragraph

B. the story's particulars are exact and its silences are local rather than global

C. the story abandons minimalism halfway through

D. the ferryman speaks in complete sentences

4. "An iceberg so deep that the reader is asked to do the author's dredging" is ___.（词义/修辞）

A. a literal description of the river in winter

B. praise of the story's perfect clarity

C. a quotation from the story itself

D. a metaphorical criticism of writing that offloads interpretation onto the reader

5. The review's register differs from the story's chiefly in its ___.（风格）

A. nominalized abstractions and long periodic sentences, set against the story's short verb-driven declaratives

B. use of slang and contractions

C. constant second-person address to the reader

D. studied absence of any evaluation

6. The review's overall verdict is that the story's reticence ___.（主旨）

A. is a defect that a longer version would cure

B. proves that the volume around it is uneven

C. is earned: its formal restraint is the very vessel that carries the farewell

D. imitates fashionable minimalism for its own sake

参考答案

1. A —— 定位：第 2 段 "Sentences are short, declarative, coordinated by... and... clay, plank, willow, pier"，评论直接援引小说原句为证。

2. C —— 定位：第 3 段 "Each time the phrase returns it carries a different weight on the same syllables... the affirmation has become an elegy"：重复是结构承重，情感在回环中累加。

3. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "its particulars are exact and its silences are local rather than global"，并以李子与坡地为证。

4. D —— 定位：第 4 段，冰山喻承"冰山理论"而来：沉得太深即把阐释工作转嫁给读者，批评以含混冒充深刻的写作。

5. A —— 定位：第 2 段 "The prose proceeds by subtraction" 等名词化论断，与所引小说短句 "He did not wave" 形成两种语域的对照。

6. C —— 定位：末段 "The story earns its reticence... a small narrative with a large draught"：先让步（文体之限）再回收（非执行之失），结论是克制的克制本身即盛放告别的容器。

语言点

1. 名词化评述（语域：评论体的减法）

The prose proceeds by subtraction.（行文以减法推进。）

说明：by ＋抽象名词把一整套技巧判断压进一个介词短语，是正式评论语域的标志；与小说的动词句对读，可直观感受语域落差。

2. 立敌—破敌一句式（句型：Two risks attend..., and...）

Two risks attend such a method, and the story largely avoids both.（这样的方法自带两种风险，而本篇大体都躲开了。）

说明：先立风险再判规避，一句之内完成"设靶—命中"；书评借此避免单向颂扬，建立评价的可信度。

3. 以喻收评（修辞：意象一致）

It is a small narrative with a large draught.（这是一篇吃水很深的小叙事。）

说明：draught（吃水）承袭前文 iceberg 意象，让总评落在同一意象系统内，首尾贯通；评论文体的收束宜"以喻代判"，胜于罗列形容词。

读后任务

任务：评论微写作：从第 47 篇中任选一处形式手段（短语的重复、对悲伤词汇的整体回避、或对白中的距离感），写 100-130 词的英文正式评析。要求：至少一个名词化结构与一处隐喻；结尾给出明确判断。

参考范文

The story's most consequential decision is lexical: it refuses the entire vocabulary of mourning. Nowhere is grief named; it is inferred, from the weight of a cardboard box and from the precision of the question "This your mother?". This refusal functions as a pressure system. Because no sentence is permitted to announce sorrow, the sorrow migrates into particulars — the softening corners of the box, the dry hill field — where it acquires a permanence that direct statement would deny it. The method is not evasion but concentration: feeling compressed until it becomes factual. That the compression never cracks is the story's quietest achievement.

第51篇 论慢（On Slowness）

本篇为思想随笔：反讽与悖论密集，警句收束段落；读点在论辩节奏——先立敌、再破敌、终以意象代替结论，以及"矛盾修辞"如何变成论证工具。

Hurry is the only vice our age advertises as a virtue. We no longer say, "I am careless because I am rushed"; we say, "I am important because I am rushed," and we say it the way dukes once displayed their coats of arms. Punctuality has been demoted; urgency has been crowned. The calendar is a battlefield, the inbox a weather system of perpetual storms, and the highest compliment we can now pay a life is that it is full — by which we mean packed, by which we mean unexamined.

And yet — let the heresy be spoken — nothing essential was ever done fast. Speed, our good and useful servant, turns out to be a catastrophic master. It is magnificent for delivering the mail and useless for writing the letter; it will carry your voice across an ocean in a second, but it cannot put a single honest sentence into it. Whatever deserves the name of work ferments. The bread rises in its own time. An argument matures overnight the way wine does, in darkness, unattended, without our assistance and against our instructions.

Consider the strange arithmetic of the matter. Slowing down, we are told, is waste; yet every craftsman knows that haste is the most expensive material on earth, because everything it touches must afterwards be done again. The slow route is called inefficient; but the fast route that misses the destination is a parabola of pure waste, elegantly executed. We praise the quick decision, and then we spend years paying for it — which means we never made a decision at all, merely a donation to chance.

The great irony is that slowness, properly understood, is not the opposite of efficiency but its secret form. What is efficiency, after all, if not the art of doing the right thing — and seeing what the right thing is has always been a slow business. Deliberation is not a delay in the work; it is the work. The pond that is stared at long enough finally gives up its fish. Thought incubates; it does not commute.

There is also this, rarely mentioned in the literature of hustle: slowness is the only speed at which pleasure is available. The fast eater does not taste; the fast reader does not read but ingests, a nutritional act, digesting plots and never sentences. To read slowly is to let a sentence finish happening to you. Music itself is a conspiracy of slowness: a note must be allowed to die before the next one can be born, and whoever finds that delay tedious has misunderstood the medium. Even our metaphors betray the truth we officially deny — we say time flies, and then we say time heals, as if flight and cure were the same gesture.

None of this argues for idleness, which is only hurry with nowhere to go. The distinction matters.

> Idleness is a vacant hour; slowness is a full one, attended to. The saunterer and the idler may > occupy the same bench and remain opposites: one is fleeing time, the other is keeping it company.
> So let the century have its speed; it has things to deliver, and someone must sign for them. But > let the slow keep their sovereignty over the one territory speed cannot enter: the present, which arrives at a walking pace, and only for those who are walking.

参考译文

匆忙是我们这个时代唯一被当作美德来兜售的恶习。我们不再说"我因为赶，所以潦草"；我们说"我因为重要，所以赶"，说得像当年的公爵炫耀他们的族徽。守时被贬了职，紧迫被加了冕。日历是战场，收件箱是一片风暴永不停歇的气候系统；而我们如今能给一种人生的最高褒奖，是它很"满"——我们的意思是塞满了，我们的意思是从未细看过。

然而——容我把这句异端说出来——凡是根本的事，从来不曾快成过。速度，我们这位有用而听话的仆人，原来是一位灾难性的主人。送信，它出类拔萃；写信，它一筹莫展。它能把你的声音一秒钟送过大洋，却无法往那声音里放进一句诚实的话。凡配得上"工作"之名的东西都要发酵。面包按它自己的钟点起来。一个论点一夜之间成熟，如同酒在暗中成熟，无人照看，不要我们帮忙，而且违背我们的意愿。

想想这里面的怪算术。人家告诉我们，慢下来就是浪费；可是每个工匠都知道，匆忙才是世上最昂贵的材料，因为它碰过的一切，事后都得重做一遍。慢的那条路被斥为低效；但快而错过目的地的路，是一条纯粹浪费的抛物线，只是执行得漂亮。我们赞美果决，然后花好几年为它付账——这意味着我们根本不曾做出决定，只是向运气捐了一笔款。

最大的讽刺在于：慢，若理解得当，并非效率的反面，而是效率的秘密形态。效率究竟是什么？无非是把对的事情做对的艺术——而看出什么是对的事，从来就是一门慢工夫。深思熟虑不是工作的延误，它就是工作。池塘被盯得足够久，终于交出它的鱼。思想是孵出来的，不是通勤赶出来的。

还有一层，在"奋斗文学"里绝少被提起：慢是唯一还能享受快乐的那个速度。吃得快的人尝不到味；读得快的人不是在读而是吞咽——一种摄取营养的行为，消化了情节，从消化不了句子。慢慢地读，是让一个句子在你身上把它的过程走完。音乐本身就是一场"慢"的密谋：一个音符必须被允许死去，下一个音符才生得出来；谁嫌这迟误沉闷，谁就没有听懂这门艺术。连我们的比喻也在出卖我们官方否认的真相——我们说时间飞驰，接着又说时间治愈，仿佛疾飞与痊愈竟是同一个动作。

这一切都不是在为游手好闲辩护，游手好闲不过是无处可去的匆忙。这个分别要紧。懒散是一只空着的钟点，慢是一只满着的、被照看着的钟点。漫步者与游手好闲者可以坐同一条长凳，却仍是相反的人：一个在逃离时间，一个在陪伴时间。

就让这个世纪去跑它的速度吧，它有东西要送，总得有人签收。但请把慢留下，让它继续握着对那片速度无法进入的疆土的主权：当下——它以步行的速度抵达，并且只抵达那些正在步行的人。

理解题

1. How does the opening characterize hurry's status in our age?（细节）

A. As a private shame that people carefully hide.

B. As a forgotten habit of an earlier generation.

C. As a virtue that almost no one practises any more.

D. As the only vice our age advertises as a virtue, displayed like dukes' coats of arms.

2. The author separates idleness from slowness because ___.（推断）

A. idleness is in fact more productive than slowness

B. without the distinction, slowness would be confused with vacant inattention and lose its case; slowness is a full hour attended to

C. the two are identical in every respect but the name

D. slow people, unlike idle ones, never rest at all

3. The bread and wine examples serve mainly to ___.（推断）

A. praise the superiority of traditional bakeries

B. prove that the author dislikes wine

C. give a homely material analogy for the claim that what matters matures untended and cannot be hurried

D. suggest that readers should take up cooking

4. "Haste is the most expensive material on earth" is best read as ___.（词义/修辞）

A. a paradox: whatever haste touches must be done again, so it costs more than any material

B. a literal claim about the market price of timber

C. a metaphor praising careful builders

D. a joke with no argumentative weight

5. The essay's epigrams — one-line judgments closing several paragraphs — function to ___.（风格）

A. soften the argument with humour and nothing more

B. replace all evidence and examples

C. imitate the headlines of daily journalism

D. give the argument percussion, landing each paragraph on a memorable compression of its case

6. The essay's final position is that slowness is ___.（主旨）

A. the opposite of efficiency, to be scheduled sparingly

B. efficiency's secret form, holding sovereignty over the present, which arrives only at a walking pace

C. a luxury suitable only for the retired

D. a moral duty imposed by religion

参考答案

1. D —— 定位：第 1 段 "Hurry is the only vice our age advertises as a virtue... the way dukes once displayed their coats of arms"。

2. B —— 定位：第 6 段 "None of this argues for idleness, which is only hurry with nowhere to go... Idleness is a vacant hour; slowness is a full one, attended to"：守住概念边界，慢才不致被混同于懒散。

3. C —— 定位：第 2 段 "Whatever deserves the name of work ferments. The bread rises in its own time. An argument matures overnight the way wine does"，以发酵为"成熟需要不被打扰的时间"提供物质类比。

4. A —— 定位：第 3 段 "because everything it touches must afterwards be done again"：最快的东西恰恰最贵，悖论成立全凭后半句的解释。

5. D —— 定位：各段末句（Deliberation is not a delay in the work; it is the work. / Thought incubates; it does not commute.）——每段以可摘引的压缩判断落地，形成"论证—收锋"的节拍。

6. B —— 定位：第 4 段 "not the opposite of efficiency but its secret form" 与末段 " sovereignty... the present, which arrives at a walking pace"。

语言点

1. vice/virtue 对撞（修辞：悖论开场＋反讽）

Hurry is the only vice our age advertises as a virtue.（匆忙是我们这个时代唯一被当作美德来宣扬的恶习。）

说明：vice 与 virtue 在一句内对撞，反讽地"定义论敌"；杂文以悖论夺取开篇注意力，并预设全文的批判立场。

2. 分号对照定义（句型：antithesis）

Idleness is a vacant hour; slowness is a full one, attended to.（懒散是一只空着的钟点；慢是一只满着的、被照看着的钟点。）

说明：分号平行＋vacant/full 的反义轴完成概念切分；分词补语 attended to 补上一笔"人的在场"，定义因而有温度而不干瘪。

3. 以意象代结论（修辞：随笔式收束）

the present, which arrives at a walking pace, and only for those who are walking（当下——它以步行的速度抵达，并且只抵达那些正在步行的人）

说明：非限制性定语从句延迟语义落点，arrive 与 walk 构成双关；结尾不总结而呈现画面，把论点转写为意象，是随笔"以景结辨"的收法。

读后任务

任务：警句仿写：以 On Hurry（论快）为题写 100-130 词英文杂文段。要求：一处反讽；一处悖论式定义；一个日常例证；以一句警句收尾。

参考范文

Hurry, we are assured, is respect for other people's time; in practice it is the confident theft of our own. We answer a message in eleven seconds and spend a week undoing the answer. We walk fast through parks, which is to say: we rent the scenery by the minute. And yet hurry has its honest uses — in fires, in floods, at the last call for boarding — which is precisely the point: it is an emergency instrument, and we have installed it as a lifestyle. The result is a civilization that can deliver anything instantly except itself. To be in a hurry all the time is to be an ambulance with nowhere to go.

第52篇 另一种母语（Another Mother Tongue）

全书压卷的文学随笔：以"第二副骨架"立喻，回望语言学习的全程，并与第 47 篇的"渡口"互文收束；读点在核心意象的经营、定义句的力量与首尾呼应。

They ask, sometimes, at parties or in the polite conversations of trains, whether I dream in English yet, and I have learned to give the small true answer, which is: sometimes, and never quite. The question assumes a border crossing, one dramatic moment at which a language is finished and another begins, as if the first were a coat you take off at the door of the new country. That is not how it happened to me, and I suspect it is not how it happens to anyone. A second language is not a coat. It is a second skeleton, and it grows.
I began, as everyone begins, in error. For months I said "actually" when I meant "currently," and gave directions to strangers with the confidence of a man who has never lived in any city. I put my prepositions where no preposition had gone before. But errors are not the enemy of a language; they are its folk art, the graffiti of arrival. Every learner's wrong sentence is a small flag planted on a coast that will later be inland.

> What nobody tells you is that the new language does not replace the old one; it edits it. Once I > had English, I began to hear my mother tongue for the first time — its temperature, its borrowed words, the particular tenderness with which it handles grief. And once I had kept my mother tongue, English stopped being a subject and became a room: a place where I could be a slightly different person, one who apologizes more easily, though whether I now mean it more or > less is impossible to say; one who is funnier, because humor lives in stress and timing, and both were new to me.
> I remember the first joke I understood without translation — a small dry thing about luggage at an > airport — and the strange grief of laughing a half-second late, and then, months later, the larger joy of laughing on time. Fluency, I came to believe, is not speed. It is laughing on time. It is hearing the sentence finish inside you at the same moment it finishes in the air.
>
> People say "mother tongue" as if a language had only one mother. Mine had two, and they were nothing alike, and I am their argument and their settlement. The first made me; the second revised me, gently, the way an editor who loves a book cuts it. English taught me that a sentence can be exact without being complete. My first language taught me that silence, in the > right company, is a form of speech. Each keeps the other honest.
> Now, when I write, the two languages sit in the next room like old sisters who long ago divided a > house between them — this one the kitchen, that one the study — and every sentence I make is the hall where they meet. I do not quite dream in English. I dream at the threshold, where the light of one room falls into the other, and that in-between is not a deficiency to be outgrown.
>
> It is my native country.
>
> If this book has been about anything, it is this: that a language learned is not a bridge you cross > once. It is the crossing itself, and the water, and the far bank where you arrive still carrying your first name in your first mouth — and you set it down only when you choose to, and > pick it up whenever you need to remember who is speaking.

参考译文

有时，在聚会上，或在火车上客气的攀谈里，有人问我是不是已经用英语做梦了，而我学会了给出那个小小的真实答案：有时候，又从不完全。这个问题假定了一次性的越境，假定有一个戏剧性的时刻，一门语言就此完工，另一门就此开工，仿佛头一门是一件外套，你在新国家的门口把它脱下来。事情在我身上不是这样发生的，我疑心它在谁身上都不是这样发生的。第二语言不是外套。它是第二副骨架，而且它是长出来的。

我和所有人一样，从错误开始。有几个月，我想说"目前"，嘴上却说"实际上"；我给陌生人指路，那自信，像一个从没在任何城市住过的人。我把介词放到了介词从没去过的地方。但错误不是一门语言的敌人，错误是它的民间艺术，是"抵达"的涂鸦。学习者写错的每一个句子，都是插在海岸上的一面小旗——那片海岸，日后会成为内陆。

没有人告诉你的是：新语言并不顶替旧语言，它对旧语言加以编辑。有了英语之后，我才头一次听见我的母语——它的温度，它借来的词，它处置悲伤时那种特别的温柔。而守住了母语之后，英语也不再是一门课程，它成了一间屋子：一个我可以做稍微不同的另一个人的地方——一个更容易道歉的人，至于如今是更当真还是更不当真，已无从说起；一个更滑稽的人，因为幽默住在重音和时机里，而重音和时机，对我都是新来的。

我记得我头一次不加翻译就听懂的笑话——一个关于机场行李的小笑话，干巴巴的——以及晚笑半秒钟的那种奇异的悲伤，以及几个月之后更大的欢喜：笑得正是时候。流利，我终于相信，不是速度。流利是笑得正是时候。是听见句子在你体内收尾的那一瞬，恰与它在空气里收尾的一瞬重合。

人们说"母语"，仿佛一门语言只有一位母亲。我的语言有两位母亲，她们毫无相似之处，而我就是她们之间的争端，也是她们的和解。第一位造出我；第二位修订我，温柔地，像一位爱这部书的编辑删削它。英语教我：一个句子可以精确而不完整。我的母语教我：在对的同伴面前，沉默也是一种言语。两者彼此使对方诚实。

如今我写作的时候，两种语言坐在隔壁，像早已把一座房子分好的老姐妹——这间是厨房，那间是书房——而我写下的每一个句子，都是它们相遇的门厅。我并不全然用英语做梦。我在门槛上做梦，一间屋子的光落进另一间；而这个"之间"，不是一个会随年龄长过去的缺陷。它是我的故乡。

如果这本书自始至终在讲一件事，那就是这件事：学会一门语言，不是一次就跨过去的桥。它就是那场摆渡本身，是那道水，是对岸——你在那里上岸，嘴里还衔着你最初的、用母语说出的名字；你只在愿意的时候才把它放下，而你随时可以把它重新拾起，好记起此刻说话的是谁。

理解题

1. What is the author's standing answer to whether they dream in English?（细节）

A. Always, ever since childhood.

B. Never, in any language at all.

C. Sometimes, and never quite.

D. Only when travelling through airports.

2. "A second language is not a coat. It is a second skeleton" rejects the idea that ___.（推断）

A. a new language is a removable outer layer that replaces the old one, insisting instead that it grows into and with the self

B. skeletons are irrelevant to language study

C. coats should always be worn indoors

D. languages can only be learned in childhood

3. The contrast between "laughing a half-second late" and "laughing on time" defines fluency as ___.（推断）

A. flawless grammar and a large vocabulary

B. the speed of silent translation

C. the ability to tell jokes well

D. a bodily sync with the language, in which stress and timing have become one's own

4. "Every sentence I make is the hall where they meet" extends which governing metaphor?（词义/修辞）

A. Languages as warring armies.

B. The two languages as old sisters who have divided a house and meet in a shared hallway.

C. Language learning as a property market.

D. Writing as a set of architectural blueprints.

5. As the volume's closing piece, the essay binds the whole book together chiefly by ___.（风格）

A. listing the earlier texts one by one

B. recycling the vocabulary lists of previous bands

C. returning to the image of the crossing, echoing the band's ferry story, so that learning a language becomes the book's final metaphor

D. ending abruptly without any imagery

6. Calling the in-between "my native country" claims that ___.（主旨）

A. the space between languages is not a lack but a home — the place where a self made of two languages lives

B. bilingual gaps are a deficiency to be outgrown

C. one must eventually choose a single mother tongue

D. dreams alone decide who we are

参考答案

1. C —— 定位：第 1 段 "the small true answer, which is: sometimes, and never quite"。

2. A —— 定位：第 1 段 "as if the first were a coat you take off at the door of the new country... It is a second skeleton, and it grows"：骨架长在身上、与旧我共构，驳"替换论"。

3. D —— 定位：第 4 段 "Fluency... is not speed. It is laughing on time. It is hearing the sentence finish inside you at the same moment it finishes in the air"：幽默依赖重音与时机，笑得准时即语言已长进身体。

4. B —— 定位：第 6 段 "like old sisters who long ago divided a house between them — this one the kitchen, that one the study — and every sentence I make is the hall where they meet"。

5. C —— 定位：末段 "a language learned is not a bridge you cross once. It is the crossing itself, and the water, and the far bank"，与第 47 篇的河、船、对岸互文，全书以"渡"始、以"渡"终。

6. A —— 定位：第 6 段 "that in-between is not a deficiency to be outgrown. It is my native country"：门槛上"一间屋子的光落进另一间"，间隙即创造与自我理解发生之地。

语言点

1. 先破后立的宣言句（句型：not X. It is Y.）

A second language is not a coat. It is a second skeleton, and it grows.（第二语言不是外套。它是第二副骨架，而且它是长出来的。）

说明：短句成段＋破立结构，为全文立起核心意象；比喻还做了一次升级（外套→骨架），压卷篇正需要这种"奠基式"句法。

2. 以小事定义抽象（修辞：定义的降维）

Fluency is not speed. It is laughing on time.（流利不是速度。流利是笑得正是时候。）

说明：把流利从考试语域移进生活语域，用一桩小事完成定义；系表结构的重复赋予定义以格言的分量，比任何形容词都更可信。

3. 身体隐喻＋全书互文（修辞：以收束呼应开篇）

you arrive still carrying your first name in your first mouth（你在对岸上岸，嘴里还衔着你最初的、用母语说出的名字）

说明：first name 与 first mouth 的双 first 平行，把"姓名"还原为"最初的发声"；far bank 暗接第 47 篇渡口意象，以互文完成整套分册的闭环。

读后任务

任务：压卷产出（二选一）：a) 以 A Word That Took Years 为题写 100-140 词英文随笔片段，写一个你学了很久才真正"拥有"的词；b) 用约 80 词英文为整套阅读分册（L1-L6）写一段卷末跋语（colophon）。

参考范文（选 a）

Take took me years. Not the verb — the verb was easy, third grade, take take took. I mean own in the other sense: the day "take your time" stopped being a phrase I decoded and became a thing people did to me, kindly, in shops, in a language that had gone quiet around me. A word arrives the way weather arrives: long forecast, sudden fact. Now I keep it in the room where I keep the words I have actually lived — queue, meanwhile, anyway — words with small doors in them. I said it once to a nervous stranger, take your time, and watched her shoulders come down, and understood that I had been given the word only so that, one day, I could hand it on.
